

BURSSELL DELAYS DECISION ON RACE FOR LEGISLATURE

Victor Bursell of Central Point, farmer, and for 12 years a member of the county court as a commissioner, said yesterday: "I am not ready to talk about running for the legislature, but I will not be a candidate for county judge."

Commissioner R. E. Nealon is also reported as having his eye on the legislature, but is mum on the subject. He dodges all queries relating to politics, and his future plans.

Candidates have until April 3 to file with the county clerk. Only one has made a declaration to date—Robert E. Bell, courthouse janitor, who seeks the Democratic nomination for sheriff. Candidates are not expected to bloom profusely much before the middle of March.

SCARLET FEVER AT KERBY CAMP

With one case of scarlet fever reported in the Kerby CCC camp at Selma, the company was placed under a working quarantine today, following inspection by Major James R. Bibighaus, district physician.

As a result of the quarantine, work projects which would cause the men to come in contact with people not in the camp, have been temporarily discontinued.

NO HARD LIQUOR AT WHITE HOUSE SAYS FIRST LADY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(AP)—A statement that no distilled liquor will at any time be served in the White House, but that "there will be no fixed rules as to the serving of wine," was issued today by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

When wines are served, Mrs. Roosevelt said, they will be simple wines, "preference being given to American wines."

Mrs. Roosevelt's complete statement follows: "By the 15th of February, it will become legal in the District of Columbia to serve wine. No distilled liquor will at any time be served in the White House. There will be no fixed rule as to the serving of wine but when served there will be, of course, simple wines, preference being given to American wines."

Mrs. Roosevelt, giving out her statement in the White House at a press conference, commented there would be no problem this year about serving wines at state dinners, since repeal does not go into effect in the district until February 15. The White House social program then will have been completed.

"The decision of Mrs. Roosevelt not to serve distilled liquors in the White House, despite their legal status," said a statement by Deets Pickett of the Methodist board of temperance, prohibition and public morals, "is most gratifying, as it indicates an appreciation of the serious social problem arising from their general use."

"I am very sorry that the example of abstinence apparently is not to be set at the White House," was the view of Dr. E. C. Dinwiddie of the national temperance bureau, in an interview.

Evangelist Archer brought a deep sense of responsibility upon his audience at the Free Methodist church last night, as he spoke on the subject: "The Home of the United of Society."

Fathers and mothers were brought fact to face with many questions pertaining to family life and its relationship to the "Great Family of God."

"I would rather see one family brought to Christ during this meeting, and establish the family altar, and adhere to righteous living, than to have scores take on a profession of religion," declared the evangelist.

He speaks tonight on the subject: "Can the Living Communitate With the Dead?" This is a remarkable subject and a multitude should hear the clear, concise manner in which Rev. Archer handles his subject matter from the pulpit.

A break in the recent rainy spell, followed by bright, warm sunshiny days without fog, is bringing on early spring grass. Violets have been picked around here.

POPULATION SHIFT AMONG F. R. PLANS TO BETTER NATION

Dollar Devaluing Proposed As word of these various developments or future plans came from the federal departments and agencies concerned, the administration also prepared for a swift devaluation of the dollar and the setting of a $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund, both authorized in a bill due to reach President Roosevelt this afternoon.

Harry L. Hopkins, acting in his capacity as president of the federal surplus relief corporation, named Lawrence Westbrook, Texas civil works and relief administrator, to head the long range movement for shifting the unemployed from communities where industry has stagnated into other sections where they could have more hope for a job.

"We have large numbers of families getting relief whose economic future is so discouraging that it seems entirely improbable that they will ever be accommodated in industry again," explained Hopkins.

Some Areas Worked Out They are in communities where industry has been worked out, such as in steel centers to some extent, copper and in some farming country where land is so poor that no one could make a living on it.

Hopkins named Detroit as one city under consideration for a partial shifting of its unemployed. Some of the men moved, he said, would be given work inside the national forest. Others, he added, could be put in communities where new industries are moving.

The government might have to "transport and possibly underwrite" the people concerned for a while, Hopkins said. A start on the plan will be made in connection with the purchase of sub-marginal lands, for which the public works administration has allotted $23,000,000. Possibility was seen that Mr. Roosevelt might see fit to use some of the $930,000,000 requested emergency fund for similar purposes.

Urge Dairy, Cattle Aid The dairy and cattle plans were outlined by Secretary Wallace. Both groups voiced support of the pending Jones bill to make cattle a basic commodity and appropriate $200,000,000 to help cattlemen. Wallace intimated an additional $100,000,000 might go to cattlemen under the plan.

The dairy program would be instituted immediately with $100,000,000 from the treasury to supplement $150,000,000 expected from processing taxes on butterfat.
