'OFF-THE-FACE' DESIGN POPULAR IN SPRING HATS

TRAIN WRECKED BY MAN WITH GRUDGE AGAINST RAILROAD

VANCOUVER, Wash., Feb. 5.—(AP)—Calm in the face of probable prosecution for murder, manslaughter or attempting to wreck a mail train, Frank Hoyt, 34, was in jail here today after having admitted, police said, he caused the wreck of a freight train at Wishram, Wash., on August 13, 1933, which killed two men, injured 10 others and caused $500,000 damage.

After Hoyt had signed his confession that he caused the wreck Sunday, Deputy Prosecutor Claude C. Snider said any one or all of the three charges would be placed against him, either here or in Killecat county, where the wreck occurred.

Hoyt made his startling revelation under examination from C. E. Sullivan, special agent for the Spokane, Portland and Seattle railroad, who arrested him Saturday for an attempt to wreck a fast passenger train a mile east of Vancouver Friday.

Confronted by accounts of the Wishram wreck, Hoyt calmly rolled a homemade cigarette and announced he had caused it "because I was mad at the company for putting me off a passenger train and anyhow I like to see a wreck," Sullivan reported.

Hoyt was discharged from the army barracks here more than a year ago with an extremely low intelligence rating.

According to his signed confession, he was ordered off a passenger train at Wishram on the morning of August 13, 1933.

"So I started down the track after the train," he said, "picking up a piece of iron as I walked. About nine miles down the track, I picked out a sharp curve and loosened the bolts at a rail joint and the spikes in half a dozen sets.

The three mill owners say they have contract cutting, that will keep them busy until next winter. The mild winter will permit the mills to start earlier than usual. Employment will be furnished between 50 and 75 men. The mild weather will also permit early operations on the Diamond Lake road. Von der Hellen and Pierson have the contract for this work, started last year.

The federal dust control work is also expected to start earlier and with larger crews, in the Butte Falls-Prospect district.

No decision has been reached upon the re-opening of the Owen-Oregon plant in this city as yet.

These payments accrued on approved state bonus applications received prior to July 21, 1933 when the bonus act was repealed. No sums were available for payment at that time.

Governor Julius L. Meier, Major General George A. White and Walter S. Fisher of Roseburg are the majority members of the commission already on record as favoring the payment, which will be brought up for official action at a meeting of the commission on Wednesday, February 14.

"These are valid obligations of the state of Oregon and must be paid eventually," Governor Meier said today.

MRS. CAREY GATHERS STRANGE SPECIMENS

Mrs. Mary O. Carey of Eden Precinct, who has been Mail Tribune correspondent for many years, returned today from a sojourn at Cave City on the Redwood Highway, where she was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Hussey and Mr. Hussey's parents, and where she did considerable prospecting for gold. Mrs. Carey brought back some interesting gold ore which she will have assayed.

She also brought a bunch of strange looking flowers, variously known as snake heads and pitcher plants, presenting some to the Mail Tribune and also to the Chamber of Commerce. These plants are of a deep rich reddish-yellow color and because of their peculiar shape catch venturesome insects, which are drowned in the plant's liquid.

A number of houses have been erected for employees.

The three mill owners say they have contract cutting, that will keep them busy until next winter. The mild winter will permit the mills to start earlier than usual. Is this danger present in YOUR HOME?

EYESTRAIN is a very real danger. Few of us realize that we pay dearly for every hour we strain our eyes. The tragedy is that we seldom know that we are misusing our eyes. Attempting to read, work, or study in poor or glaring light is the cause of most eyestrain. Often the penalty for eyestrain is not paid until later years. Then it is too late. Impaired vision in most cases cannot be corrected.

GOOD LIGHT PROTECTS YOUR SIGHT

The National Society for the Prevention of Blindness has this to say about the relation between good light and good sight:

"No one will deny that poor vision... whether it be due to insufficient light or to uncorrected eye defects... is one of the principal factors in causing fatigue, not only of the eyes but of the entire body. Eyestrain continued over considerable periods of time results in permanent impairment of vision. The vision of the best eyes in the world would become defective where there is glare or insufficient illumination."

WHAT IS GOOD LIGHTING

Good lighting is called RESTFUL LIGHT. It permits the eyes to open naturally... at rest... without squinting, scowling or frowning... the cause of many wrinkles.

The basic fundamental of RESTFUL LIGHT is the elimination of sharp contrasts; that is, bright, glaring lights and deep shadows. With RESTFUL LIGHT, every part of the room is well lighted as well as your book or work before you. When the right amount of light is properly distributed eyestrain is avoided. Look to good lighting if you would keep the precious heritage of good eyesight.

HOW TO GET RESTFUL LIGHT

It is often difficult for the average person to achieve RESTFUL LIGHT unaided. To help you, we maintain a Home Lighting Service. The sole purpose of this service is to help you get the most benefit from every penny you spend for electricity. Why not phone for a free inspection today?
