

SPRING-LIKE DAYS OF JANUARY NEAR OLD RECORD HERE

Monthly meteorological notes for January, as compiled by W. J. Hutchinson, local meteorologist, show exceptionally mild winter weather prevailed throughout January. Cloudiness predominated with only occasional short intervals of clearing skies. Light rains were almost a daily occurrence. Valley fogs were frequent, especially in the morning hours.

During the past 23 years there have been but two Januaries with higher mean temperatures. The mean of 41.4 degrees for January, 1934, was exceeded only in 1912 and 1914. Daily mean temperatures for the month show only moderate variations from day to day. The highest temperature for January was 58 degrees on the 26th. A minimum of 26 degrees on the 8th was the lowest and is a record high minimum temperature for January.

Ample precipitation fell during the month although slightly less than normal. A total of 2.70 inches fell, being deficient of normal by 0.98 inches. Variable amounts of precipitation were recorded on 25 days, mostly falling as light showers but occasionally as moderately heavy rains. The greatest 24-hour rainfall occurred on the 13th and 14th, and measured 1.18 inches. Traces of snowfall were recorded on the 19th and 24th. Due to the continued and increasing seasonal deficiency in preceding months the more abundant moisture of January did much to improve soil conditions. At the close of January seasonal precipitation totaled 6.16 inches and as compared with the normal for a corresponding period was deficient 4.07 inches.

The frequency of fog was somewhat in excess of that usually experienced in January. Past records indicate an average expectancy of 9 days with fog in the Medford area while a total of 16 days is shown for this January. As a result, air-traffic at times was seriously impeded.

Surface winds were light, totaling a monthly movement of 2,040 miles and averaging 4.0 miles per hour. Prevailing winds were northwest. The highest velocity for the month registered 21 miles per hour on the 19th.

STEEL MOVING TO BAY BRIDGE JOB

With construction crews rushing work on the San Francisco-Oakland bridge foundations, steel for the gigantic structure has started to move across the country by rail from Pittsburgh according to word received at local Southern Pacific freight department offices.

The total shipment by rail will be the largest of its kind ever routed on a transcontinental journey, it was stated. Originating at mills in Pittsburgh, Chicago and Gary, the steel will reach Oakland over Southern Pacific's lines.

Approximately 1000 cars will be utilized to transport the bridge material, the total amounting to more than 40,000 tons.

Zulema Ceremonial Lovely Tuesday Event

An outstanding event of the month in lodge circles was the ceremonial held in Ashland yesterday by Zulema temple, Daughters of the Nile, with Mrs. Maybelle Boone, supreme queen, and Mrs. Ethelwyn Shepherd of Portland, supreme chaplain, as honor guests.

The Masonic hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion in the Oriental spirit with draperies, rugs, lamps and an abundance of flowers carrying out the traditional richness of the eastern empire. One large basket of blossoms was the gift of Hillah temple of the Shrine, Puywilla were also used effectively about the rooms.

During the ceremonial the supreme queen and the supreme chaplain gave their addresses to the members of the temple.

The ceremonial was followed by a banquet in the Masonic dining room, to which the husbands and escorts of members were invited. Covers were laid for 100 at the long table, which was decorated in spring blossoms, arranged in long, low receptacles, with sprays of amylax furnishing the greenery. Daffodils and marigolds predominated in the flower arrangements.

Following the banquet the installation of officers for 1934 was held with Mrs. Boone acting as installing officer, assisted by the supreme chaplain and Mrs. W. H. McNair of Ashland, the installing marshal.

Mrs. T. P. Franco of Ashland was installed as queen to succeed Mrs. O. C. Boggs of Medford.

Dancing completed the evening's program.

Today the past queens of the temple are entertaining at luncheon at the home of Mrs. Charles T. Eversney on the North Pacific highway for the pleasure of Mrs. Boone and Mrs. Shepherd. Following their official visit in southern Oregon, the two will continue to Sacramento, Cal.

The next regular meeting of Zulema temple will be held in Grants Pass Saturday, February 10, with luncheon at the Redwoods Hotel. Mrs. Franco will preside as queen for the first time at this meeting.

Canon Heirloom Pillow Top Now In Lincoln Club

The Lincoln club, which holds its annual banquet here on February 12 is the recipient of an unusually interesting and valuable gift from Mrs. Margaret Taylor Canon, who passed away suddenly following an attack of pneumonia the first of the week.

Mrs. Canon was born in Ripon, Wis., the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Taylor, the latter one of the founders of the Republican party in that city. The party was formed February 28, 1854 at a meeting attended by Mrs. Canon's father and fifty-five other citizens in that section of Wisconsin.

The gift is a sofa pillow cover, made by Mrs. Canon herself, depicting the birthplace of the Republican party, a portion of Green Lake and the Bartlett cottage, famous landmarks of her home town. Naturally the article was much prized in the Canon family, and it was at Mrs. Canon's request that it was given to the local organization, formed to commemorate the principles and memory of Abraham Lincoln, and the party of which he was the first president.

Mrs. Canon, like her husband, former Mayor W. H. Canon, was always a staunch and loyal Democrat, but was never narrow in her partisanship, and always honored and revered the principles and character of the Great Emancipator.

She felt, and the family felt, that the place for such an heirloom, so bound up with the early history of the Republican party, is at the headquarters of an organization formed to cherish and perpetuate the principles and ideals of that party's great leader, and its first president.

This soft pillow cover will be on display at the Lincoln banquet, in the Medford hotel Monday evening.

Hens will reduce their production of eggs and finally cease laying entirely unless they are supplied with fresh water.

SLIT SKIRTS SEEN IN SPRING REVIEW OF PARIS FASHION

By ADELAIDE KERR (Associated Press Staff Writer.)

PARIS, Feb. 7.—(AP)—Slit skirts, revealing the mannequin's leg up to the knee, made their debut in spring styles at a fashion showing today.

Sapphire blue, almond green, salmon rose, black and purple satins and crepes were designed on a very slender silhouette and molded to the figure with trained skirts slashed once in the front or back clear to the knee.

They were fashioned with triangular back tabs standing straight out from the back of the hips or over the shoulder blades. Since the new line did not permit the wearing of a coat, evening gowns were generally accompanied by short jackets of the same fabric or contrasting material, with papoose hood collars.

Day frocks, adopting "youthful clothes" as slogan, were designed in a less exaggerated silhouette of slender lines, but less closely moulded to the figure.

These were designed with semi-high necks, long sleeves and skirts,

CORN SYRUP HEIRESS SETS OUT ON CAREER AS CINEMA CHORINE

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 7.—(UP)—

Winnie Flint, Chicago "corn syrup" heiress, was found today working in the chorus of a film musical comedy.

Miss Flint, daughter of Amos P. Flint, head of a corn product company, came here four months ago with her husband, Gil Berry, one-time all-American football player at the University of Chicago.

Berry's success in winning film roles resulted in Miss Flint seeking a career on her account, he said. The young socialite applied for a

Sensational New Spun bread...

Read how this matchless method improves your finest foods...

FLUHRER'S New Spun Bread is the talk of the town. No bread has ever caught the public fancy as has this newest product from the Cascade Wonderland's finest Bakery.

PERHAPS if you haven't tried it you've wondered about it. Spun Bread is made by an entirely different and new process. Two strands of SPECIAL dough are intertwined in the pan. This intertwining or spinning results in a texture not found in the ordinary loaf of bread. The illustration on right shows the difference.

BUT even more important than this is the decidedly improved flavor of this new type bread. Because of this spinning process we are able to use a much softer type of dough, one which has been more thoroughly aged, one which has had the gluten more thoroughly mellowed, a dough which gives the finished loaf of bread the full flavor of the wheat berry.

PLAIN SLICE vs SPUN SLICE

Different Texture

Note the difference in texture of plain bread and Spun Bread. Diagonal air cells in Spun Bread prevent free circulation of drying air through the slices.
