'PRINCESS ALICE' GAY AT 50 MARK

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Alice Roosevelt Longworth, once the most dashing debutante this country has ever known, will be 50 years old Monday, Lincoln's 125th birthday. It has been years since she celebrated her birthday, but all signs today pointed to a jolly party of those who remember when Alice, always the talk of the town, was the fad of the whole country. Now, frankly and buoyantly 50, Mrs. Longworth has been laughingly replying to all who mention her birthday: "Plenty of kick in the old horse yet!"

Since 48, she has turned authors, learned to typewrite; gone to marketing her comments on the capital scene in a magazine. She didn't say Calvin Coolidge was weaned on a pickle—she merely heard the remark and repeated it. She was not author of a quip that her distant cousin, Franklin, was one-third mullah and two-thirds elephant. She heard that one and didn't repeat it—didn't even think it was funny.

COMPLETE HAZARD REDUCTION WORK

Completion of the fire hazard reduction work along the Butte Falls-Lake of the Woods road from the national forest boundary to the foot of mosquito grade, was announced Saturday by Supervisor Karl L. Janouch of the Rogue River national forest.

This work was done by the South Fork of Rogue River CCC camp and Mr. Janouch stated that it represents a splendid accomplishment by these boys. Seven miles of roadside was cleared by a crew of approximately 50 men in slightly more than a month.

The portion of the road passes through logged-off lands on which there is a heavy accumulation of rotten logs and other inflammable debris. Due to the heavy travel during the summer months, this has been considered one of the worst fire hazards in the vicinity.

All inflammable material for a distance of 50 feet on each side of the road has been burned, and all snags within 150 feet of the road have been felled. Mr. Janouch stated that the work had proceeded much more rapidly than had been expected. While excellent burning weather was a factor in the accomplishment of the work, he pointed out that the principal factor was the interest and hard work of the CCC boys of the South Fork camp.

Forest rangers, CCC camp superintendents, and members of the Rogue River national forest supervisor's staff, met Friday to discuss problems and procedures in handling CCC camp work. The morning session was devoted primarily to a discussion with Captain Charles H. Barnwell Jr., CCC district commander, and Lieutenant Robert H. Soule, adjutant, of the correlation of activities between the army and the forest service.

The group held a luncheon at the Medford hotel, at which 18 were present. Planning and administration of the forest service work projects were discussed in the afternoon.

COURTS ACT UPON CHURCH BATTLING AND LOUD NOISES

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 10.—(AP)—A justice court jury at Huntington Park last night convicted the Rev. C. E. Herald, pastor of the Pentecostal Church of God there, on a charge of maintaining a nuisance by conducting noisy services at the church.

Persons living near the church complained their sleep and peace of mind was disturbed, that the congregation made "loud and unusual noises" in its fervor at lengthy services held six nights a week and three times on Sunday.

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Scorching reprimands to opposing factions in a church controversy were delivered by two judges today in two court hearings which grew out of a free-for-all fight at the doors of the Evangelical Congregational Brethren German church here Sunday.

After declaring from the bench that he did not hesitate to say that "this is one of the most disgraceful spectacles that has been given to the public in any court," Presiding Circuit Judge Hewitt denied a motion of eight members of one faction that the pastor, the Rev. Conrad J. Wagner, be required to remove a padlock from the church doors.

SMITH RIVER IS SWEEPED BY FIRE

SMITH RIVER, Cal., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Loss estimated by owners at about $50,000, was caused yesterday when fire swept through one block of the town of Smith River, near the Oregon-California line.

A store, post office, an inn, confectionery, barber shop and three cabins in a park were destroyed by the fire which for a time threatened the entire business district.

Present City and Smith River departments finally got the blaze under control late yesterday. A defective flue in a store was believed to have caused the fire.

Sargent was held in jail by city police pending the outcome of Pike's injuries. No charges were filed against either man.

DR. FISHER TALKS ON NRA HALTED

PORTLAND, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Advised from Washington, D. C., to discontinue his work, Dr. Frederick Vining Fisher, national NRA speaker and field representative, was visiting friends here today after his schedule of speeches in the state of Washington had been cancelled.

NRA headquarters in Washington, D. C., announced that the NRA had "terminated" Dr. Fisher's services. Fisher denied here that he had resigned. He observed that "Washington is evidently displeased with what happened at Eugene."

It was at Eugene that three clergymen took exception to what they described as Dr. Fisher's "rabble-rousing technique," and his reputed likening of the NRA movement to the religion of Christ.

'SONG OF SONGS' OPENING AT ROXY

Probably the most important inanimate actor ever cast for a motion picture is the life-size statue of Marlene Dietrich, which plays fully as important a role in "The Song of Songs," now playing at the Roxy, as though it were one of the principal actors of the cast.

Miss Dietrich, an orphan, lives with a cruel, slatternly aunt in a drab, ugly apartment. Across the street is the studio of a handsome sculptor. They fall in love. The sculptor makes a beautiful statue of her. An ogre-like Baron falls in love with the statue. His desire to possess the original, his ultimate marriage to Miss Dietrich, and the heartache and tragedy that follow before she eventually finds lasting happiness—all are caused by the statue.

Henry VIII On Craterian Screen

Henry, merry monarch of old England, comes to life again in the person of Charles Laughton in "The Private Life of Henry VIII" at the Craterian theatre for three days, starting today.

The amorous adventures of a king who won the title of the Bluebeard of kings because of his six wives, are depicted humorously in the film. The story opens with the execution of Anne Boleyn at the Tower of London, with Anne commenting that "the best of them's the worst."

On the same program is a Betty Boop cartoon, Screen Souvenirs, Hollywood on Parade and the Movie-tone new reel.

"Emperor Jones" at Rialto

"Emperor Jones," starring Paul Robeson, famous negro baritone, and with Dudley Digges heading the supporting cast, plays at the Rialto theatre today and tomorrow. As Brutus Jones, Robeson is shown first as a Pullman porter, whose love of bright lights leads him to Harlem, New York's famous black belt. Here he mixes wine, women and song in copious quantities, and becomes a "big shot" gambler. In an argument over the attractions of a dusky lady, Jones kills a man and is sent to the chain gang. Making his escape, he ships as a stoker on a freighter and, when the boat nears a small island, jumps overboard and swims ashore. By playing upon the superstitious fears of the blacks who inhabit the island, Jones has himself made king of the tribe and rules with an iron hand. Negro spirituals and modern Harlem jazz, sung to the rhythm of tapping feet, are combined in the picture in a realistic and natural manner.

'VOLTAIRE' OPENS AT STUDIO TODAY

"Voltaire" starring George Arliss, opens at the Studio theatre today. Produced with a magnificence never before equaled in an Arliss picture, "Voltaire" marks the high water mark of the star's career, out-ranking in importance all previous screen offerings he has made.

The story of "Voltaire" is based on a single dramatic incident in Voltaire's career during the reign of King Louis XV of France. Voltaire has been called the father of the French Revolution and the incident upon which the picture is founded was actually one of the contributing causes to the greatest governmental upheaval of the age.

Paul Muni Success In First Comedy

A new Paul Muni was revealed yesterday on the screen of the Holly theatre, when this star's latest production, "Hi, Nellie!" had its first showing there.

Not only a new Paul Muni—but an astonishing one. This forceful dramatic star, whose former pictures, such as "I Am a Fugitive from a Chain Gang" and "Scarface," have been screen sensations in the realm of the serious and the tragic, has at last turned to comedy. And what a comedian he is. The same dynamic and powerful qualities are there. But the light, droll touch which Paul Muni brings to the humor of "Hi, Nellie!" establishes him securely as one of the most versatile stars of either stage or screen.

As a matter of fact, "Hi, Nellie!" is not comedy alone. This fast-moving film possesses a tight, well-knit dramatic story, as well as scores of laughs.

Now playing at the Holly until Tuesday night.

VICTIM of a GREAT WRONG

THE CHILD who is subjected to eyestrain caused by poor lighting at home is a victim of a very great wrong.

During the first seven or eight years, a child's eyes are in a state of development. If they are overstrained during this formative period... an impairment of vision is likely to result that will handicap the child throughout life.

Nearsightedness, squinting, undue fatigue, bad posture, are often due to eyestrain in childhood. And poor light is one of the most common causes of eyestrain.

If you have children in your home, guard their eyes by providing good lighting.

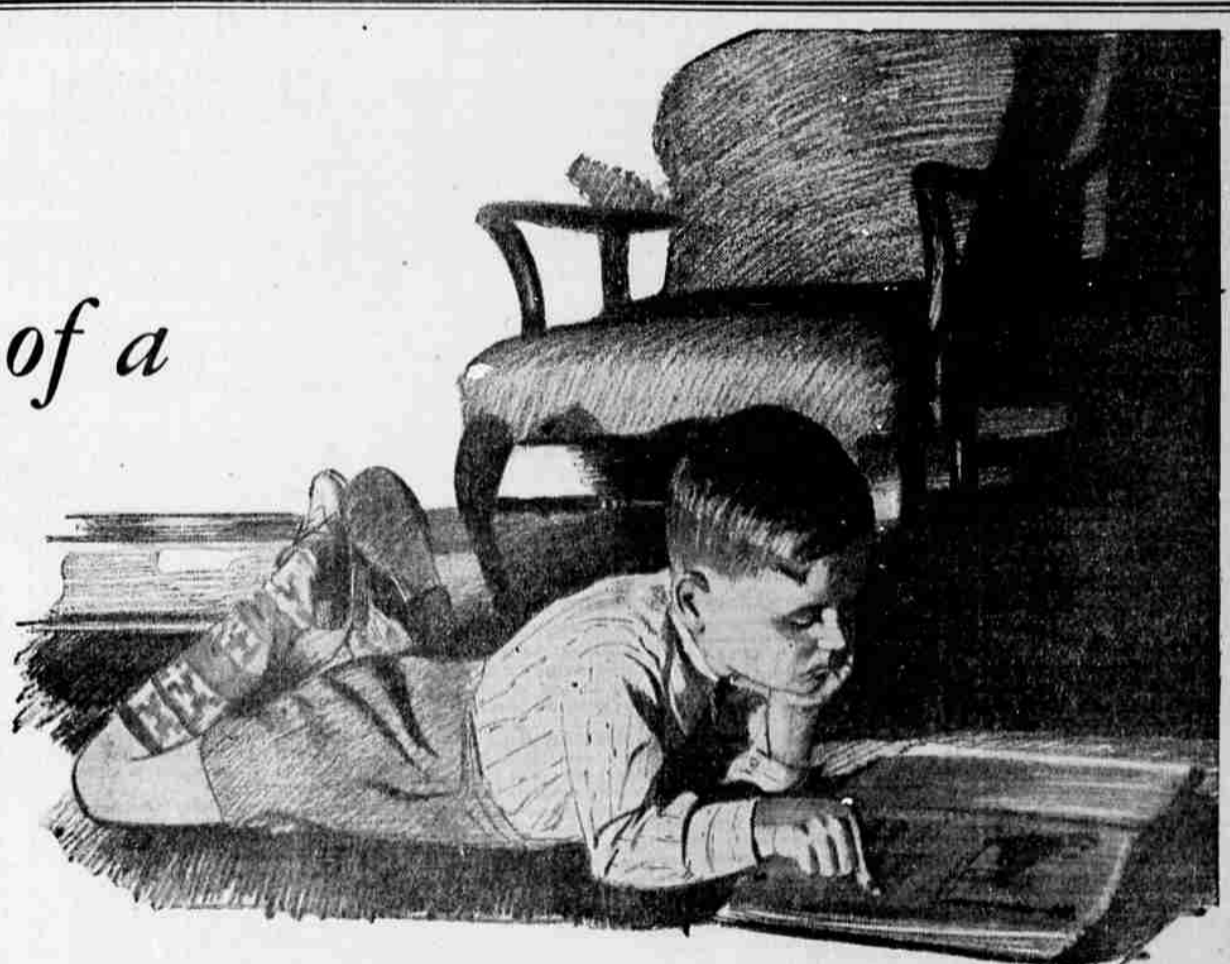

WHAT IS GOOD LIGHTING

Good lighting is called RESTFUL LIGHT. It permits the eyes to open naturally... at rest... without squinting, scowling or frowning... the cause of many wrinkles.

The basic fundamental of RESTFUL LIGHT is the elimination of sharp contrasts; that is, bright, glaring lights and deep shadows. With RESTFUL LIGHT, every part of the room is well lighted as well as your book or work before you. When the right amount of light is properly distributed eyestrain is avoided. Look to good lighting if you would keep the precious heritage of good eyesight.

HOW TO GET RESTFUL LIGHT

It is often difficult for the average person to achieve RESTFUL LIGHT unaided. To help you, we maintain a Home Lighting Service. The sole purpose of this service is to help you get the most benefit from every penny you spend for electricity. Why not phone for a free inspection today?
