

RAW MATERIAL TO MAKE UP OREGON FOOTBALL SQUAD

Callison Losing Major Portion of Stellar Backfield—Hughes Among Stars to Get Diplomas This Year

By GAIL FOWLER (United Press Staff Correspondent)
 PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 20.—(AP)—Green, as the traditional school jersey will be the University of Oregon's 1934 football team, a survey of the coast conference co-champions showed today.

Gone will be three-fourths of that stellar backfield when Coach Frank Callison calls the boys to arms for spring training in April. Gone, too, will be two ends, two guards, a center and a tackle.

Only Bob Parks, quarterback, returns to the backfield. Graduated are mighty Mike Mikulak, fullback, the cut-back artist, Leighton Gee, and Mark Temple, signal caller, half-backs.

Hughes to Graduate.

In the line, black-haired Bud Pozzo and Chuck Wishard leave two ungraded ends posts. Erwin "Burr" Nilsson, mountainous tackle, Rex Cuppoletti, who played in the East-West Shrine game, and Howard Clark, guards, and Bernie Hughes, outstanding center, also get diplomas.

Ralph Terjeson, two-year letterman, is expected to be the 1934 quarterback. Parks will call signals from left half. Other veterans returning are "Stew" Milligan, George Pennington, Clarence Nye, Murray Van Vleet, the elusive 145-pounder and Frank Michak.

Mighty Mikulak Lost.

Callison will have a hard time replacing that pillar of defensive strength at fullback—Mikulak. It is expected Fred Kennedy of northern Idaho, who was impressive in Panhandle high school football and in Oregon Front play four years ago, will return to school. He's a 200-pounder, more proficient, however, at ball packing than at defensive play.

Captain Butch Morse returns at end. Aiding him will be Bud Jones and Alan Wilson, brother of Billy Wilson, sensational Gonzaga end for three years.

Alex "Hippo" Eagle, Gardner Frye, straddle guard, and several reserves are candidates for tackles.

Roy "Roey" Gagnon is a fixture at one guard job. But McCredie of Portland heads the list of reserves angling for the other position.

Two Seek Hughes' Job.

John Farrar of San Francisco and Gene Pury, former guard, will fight it out for Hughes' old job at center. The pivot post received a jolt when Chuck Swanson, Hughes' alternate for two years, also was graduated.

Center, halfback and fullback are the slots which will receive most attention in spring training. Callison of last year's reserves is still to be determined.

But it hardly seems likely Callison can uncover another set of Mikulaks, Gees, Temples, Cuppolettis, Hughes and gridiron gladiators of that stamp.

FAST GRAPPLER TO FACE WOLFE

Las Wolfe, popular Texas grappler who specializes in the rolling seasons will face a formidable opponent here Thursday when he tangles with Billy Newman, Denver grip and grunt artist in the main event on Mack Lillard's card. Newman has a great reputation through the Rocky mountain territory for his speed and science.

Frank Clemens, another favorite of local fans will return for Thursday night's show, meeting George Barnes of Nebraska in a 45-minute semi-final affair. Barnes, like Newman, will be a stranger in these parts.

Lillard is still looking for a suitable opponent for Steve Anderson, local fireman, scheduled to perform in a curtain-raiser.

OREGON DEFEATS VANDALS, 33-30

MOSCOW, Idaho, Feb. 20.—(AP)—Close on the heels of their bitter state rivals, Oregon State, the University of Oregon five trounced the Idaho Vandals here last night, 33 to 30, in a rough game. Oregon led at the half 22 to 14.

W. Jones, center, was high scorer with 12 points. Idaho sank 12 foul shots out of 18 attempts.

A win over Idaho again tonight will send them into a second place tie in the northern division standings with the Beavers, both having won seven and lost seven.

CHINESE FETE DAWN OF LUNAR NEW YEAR

February 14 is Valentine's day on the American calendar but to the older generations of American Chinese this year it is the first day of the New Year. In the top picture costumed men are conducting the Ceremony of the Lion. Custom prescribes that all personal obligations must be paid by sunset on the last day of the old year and the New Year greeted free of debt. (Associated Press Photos)

EAGLES SMOKER SLATED TONIGHT

(Contributed.)

Over the top again for a good time. The F. O. E. is having a big smoker for the Eagles and their families tonight.

A big card is planned in both boxing and wrestling. There will be free beer for those who wish it.

Main event of the evening will be for 30 minutes or two falls out of three, between Ray Frisbie, exponent of the neck hold, and the "Terrible Sweden" Anderson who uses the "dodger hold" to perfection.

A four three-minute round bout between Ray Hale and the mysterious marvel of Ashland is carded, also several other matches.

First event of the evening will be a "six fall out of ten" grid, battle between Verge the Red, ice slinging Frenchman of Medford, Ice and Storage Company and "Curley the Snocoose-eating Lumber Jack," of O. O. Lumber company. They are both out for beer and no holds are barred except those that hurt.

Mack Lillard has been after these boys for a long time but they reversed their battle for the Eagles smoker, so Eagles be there Tuesday night at 8 o'clock.

"Queen Christina" Closes Tonight

As the Queen who was, first of all, a woman, Greta Garbo has the finest role of her career in "Queen Christina," which closes at the Holly theatre tonight. This seventeenth century monarch disdains the finery of femininity for the more mannish garb of her military rank and harassed her palace advisers through her unconventional interludes.

John Gilbert, who is cast as a Spanish nobleman, performs like the star that he has been in the past.

MEN BETTER AS BEAUTICIANS, IS EXPERTS' VIEW

Blacksmith and Plumber, Among Others, Reported Successful at Primping—Hair Needs Strong Wrists

PHILADELPHIA.—(UP)—Men are generally more successful as beauty operators than are women or girls, and the hairdressing business needs more of them, in the considered opinion of two leading beauty schools here.

They cited the case of a blacksmith who deserted his forge for curling irons and has been quite successful, and also the instance of a former professional football player who had become a master plumber and then left that trade to run a beauty shop.

C. J. Ostrander, director of one of the schools, said:

"We have much greater demand for male operators than we have for female," he said. "Every high-class beauty parlor likes to have at least one male operator. It adds prestige to the parlor and a good male operator is always more proficient at hairdressing than almost any woman can be."

"There is a physical reason for it. To be a really good hairdresser, one must have unusually strong wrists. The men, consequently, are better equipped than women."

"All of the world's greatest artists have been men. Hairdressing really is an art in itself. A good creative hairdresser usually is able to produce a more attractive and individualistic coiffure than is a woman."

"Then, too, there is something about the psychology of the case. The average woman, whether she will admit it or not, would rather have a man working on her coiffure than a woman. And the bigger, brawnier, redder-blooded the individual, the more popular he is certain to be among the patrons."

L. Louis, director of another prominent school, expressed similar sentiments.

"No man who is capable of becoming a good operator should be backward about going into this business. An average operator can make $35 to $50 a week, exclusive of his tips. And a really good, creative artist type of hairdresser can make from $150 to $250 weekly."

"We aren't accepting any enrollments of men just now," he added. "Probably won't until we find out whether the new state law regulating beauty parlors means just what it says, or until it is amended. As it is now, a man, to be able to pass the state examination for licensing as a beauty operator, must take the complete course in the business. That includes not only the vitally important phases of hairdressing, in all its utterly needless and unused art of manuring, muscle massage and so forth."

Roseburg Man Was Knighted By Late King

ROSEBURG, Feb. 20.—(AP)—News of the death of King Albert of Belgium is of more than ordinary interest to Judson Keizer, Roseburg resident, who was knighted by the king at the time of the latter's visit to the United States in 1920.

Mr. Keizer was in the service of the U. S. Marine corps in London in 1916, attached to the Belgium army as an observer for the American government which was working out plans for entrance into the World war. Following the war, Mr. Keizer was in Washington, D. C. at the time of King Albert's visit and was placed in charge of the honor guard furnished by President Wilson and served as personal body guard to the king, who conferred upon Mr. Keizer an honorary degree of knighthood.
