TERRAPLANES AND HUDSONS WILL BE SHOWN BY EAKIN

The new 1934 Terraplanes and Hudsons have arrived in Medford and will be on display tomorrow at Eakin Motor company in this firm's attractive new showrooms at 103 South Riverside. The announcement of the initial showing was made today by Clyde Eakin, veteran automobile dealer of this city who recently has assumed the representation for the Hudson and Terraplane line of cars in this territory.

This new line of cars, which are said to be the finest in the history of this company, may now be seen by the public.

Larger and more luxurious bodies of ultra modern type are mounted on chassis designed on the basic principle of unit-engineering which characterized the Terraplane for 1933. It is this principle which was responsible for the unprecedented record of performance and ruggedness established by this car. The Terraplane Six is made on a wheelbase of 112 in. and 116-in. The Hudson Eight is made in two wheelbase lengths, 116-in. and 123-in.

The exceptional smoothness for which Hudson-built engines have been famous since the introduction of the Super-Six is even further accentuated this year. The six-cylinder Terraplane which takes the place of last year's model will have a larger motor, the displacement being increased from 193 to 212 cubic inches due to an increase in the bore of the engine from 2-15-16 in. to 3 in. and the stroke from 4 1/4 in. to 5 in., making the dimensions now 4 in. by 5 in. bore and stroke.

Many new features are offered by the Hudson and Terraplane this season, including independent front springing of the "Axiflex" type and smart roomy stream-line bodies.

Rialto's Star

George Bancroft, after an absence of almost two years, returns to the pictures in "Blood Money," starting a three day run at the Rialto theatre today.

The story exposes the machinations whereby crooks are sprung, unscrupulous politicians are railroaded into office—and out of it, and mayors are made and unmade at a nod from the ball bond racketeer.

In Medford Today—J. G. Hinton, representing the Northwest Police Journal, which is published in Seattle, Wash., is spending today in Medford, calling on officers located here.

Here Wednesday

The strange life of the Eskimo, and his even stranger moral code that permits of exchanging of wives, are only a small part of "Eskimo," coming to the Craterian theatre tomorrow.

The most adventurous of all film expeditions to the Arctic was undertaken by a company headed by Col. W. S. Van Dyke, to record in photography and sound the many thrills with which the frozen north abounds.

Among breath-taking spectacles obtained by the expedition are scenes of caribou herds on stampede, walrus hunts with natives raking their lives in small boats, whaling expeditions; the terrific roaring and crashing of millions of tons of ice, and other thrills of the Far North.

Around these many exciting events, a story of the Eskimo and his life has been woven, with the cast composed entirely of natives.

Mrs. Reames Better—Mrs. Charles Reames was today reported in an improved condition at the Sacred Heart hospital, where Saturday she underwent a major operation.

NEW AIR MAIL LAW WILL BE DRAFTED TO BAR SUBSIDIES

made here, two north and two south, on June 15, 1931 the line was extended from Los Angeles as the southern most point, to San Diego, making the service from Seattle to San Diego, which was the route used until the army started operation of the mail carrying.

Pacific Air Transport established offices here with Seely Hall as field superintendent in 1926. Later the company was taken in by the United Air Lines, and with Hall's transfer from Medford, he was succeeded here by Phil Sharp. W. L. Campbell is at the present time local field superintendent for the United Air Lines, which is continuing regular stops here for passenger service.

Post office figures show that the first year the mail route was conducted out of Medford there were 3713 pounds and 7 ounces of mail sent from here. For the calendar year ending December 31, 1933, there were 13,918 pounds and 13 ounces mailed from Medford.
