

MODERN LIFE NOT CAUSE OF CANCER DECLARES DOCTOR

Oregon U. Medical School Pathologist Says Apparent Growth Due to Better Diagnosis and Knowledge

PORTLAND, Feb. 22.—(AP)—There will be no recovery in the current depression on quack nostrums. So Dr. Frank R. Menne, pathologist of the University of Oregon medical school, told members of the Pacific Coast Surgical association here today as the group met for a series of clinical sessions and lectures, and for demonstrations of the newest of the scalpel's art in special operations.

Contrary to popular opinion, Dr. Menne said, increase in cancer can be traced only indirectly to a civilization whose newer ways have been blamed generally for the prevalence of the malady.

Rather, he said, the improvement of diagnosis and the growing movement of the public to consult physicians rather than to use quack cures, has given cancer what he described as largely a "book" increase.

"While there have been slight increases," he said, "in not only cancer, heart disease, and a small percentage of Bright's disease, the world probably is in its safest period in history with relation to cancer."

Dr. Menne said that some of the old cancer "cures" not only have no beneficial effect but in some instances caused the disease they were reputed to cure.

The newest discoveries of medicine and surgery occupied the physicians in today's session, the first of a four-day conference. Among the most interesting lectures was a discussion by Dr. H. B. Myers, professor of pharmacology at the Oregon medical school, who dealt with studies of fungicidal growths. Discoveries in this field, he said, have led to the rehabilitation of many workers, particularly those in canneries and in similar industries, who have become afflicted by fungicidal infections.

Another feature of the program was a talk by Oregon State Grange Master Ray W. Gill, who presented the grange viewpoint of the sales tax question. Mr. Gill's talk proved to his audience that he was well posted in the cause and effect of a general sales tax in Oregon, and many who were on the fence, or even on the sales tax side of the fence, were converted over to the opposition to a sales tax.

During the business session the grange voiced approval of having a custodian appointed to have charge of grange equipment, not already cared for by the steward or the home economics committee.

Attention was called to the new law governing the payment of taxes and a short explanation of the new requirements.

The home economics club will meet with Mrs. C. F. Davies at 2 p. m. Wednesday, February 22.

The ways and means committee announced that a hard times dance will be given at the grange hall on the night of March 3.

A resolution commending Max Gehlhar, Oregon secretary of agriculture, in his stand opposing a code which would grant the creameries of Oregon an additional two per cent spread between the producer and the consumer on the price of butterfat.

The new back stage drapery curtains, recently purchased by the grange, have been hung, and are an added attraction to the stage.

The refreshment committee was Mrs. Ruby Bitterling, Mrs. M. L. Pruet, Mrs. Beryl Hickson and Mrs. Gertrude Hank.

Among the many visitors were Miss Alice Hanley and Miss Clara Hanley and Mrs. Mabel Mack.

The judges for the play were Miss Faye Woolsey, Prof. Whitman and Miss Fenwick.

Dr. Butler continues to interest his congregation on his great and vital subject, "Heaven's Recovery Act."

Dr. Butler is not only president of the National Holiness association, but is also president of the Cleveland Bible Institute and, at the present time, is editor of the Christian Witness, an interdenominational religious paper of wide reputation.

Dr. Butler is wide in scope of religious views, is deep in thought and application, as well as a most interesting speaker.

He speaks each afternoon and evening at the Free Methodist church during the convention now being held.

Lieutenant Resigns. SALEM, Feb. 22.—(AP)—The resignation of Lieutenant Louis K. Harthorn from the Oregon national guard was accepted today by the headquarters. It was announced, Harthorn, with company G of the 186th infantry, resigned because of "business reasons." His place has not yet been filled.

RENEW CAMPAIGN TO SAVE FORESTS BORDERING ROAD

The campaign, inaugurated some time ago by the Medford Chamber of Commerce and various clubs to preserve the forests bordering the Crater Lake highway has been renewed. It was announced today, following receipt of a wire from Senator Charles L. McNary, stating that Medford's most recent request will be presented the forest service at once.

A short time ago the chamber of commerce was informed through Senator McNary that preservation of 500 feet of forest bordering the stretch between Prospect and Union Creek, which was endangered, could be arranged through a property exchange.

The Medford chamber wired back that an area of 4000 acres was desired since the small border suggested would only constitute a fire hazard.

The plan is to trade the Rogue River Timber company, owner of the trees located in that area of the highway, a strip of land in some other section. The plan has met with thorough co-operation from the timber company.

Dr. Butler Gains Greater Interest Of Congregation

Dr. Butler continues to interest his congregation on his great and vital subject, "Heaven's Recovery Act."

Dr. Butler discusses this subject from various angles, which so clearly presents the truths of Scriptural teaching, in regard to personal experiences of religious life.

The people of Medford are highly favored at this time, in having a Bible teacher of his standing with us, and every Bible student and Christian worker will benefit by hearing his messages.

Dr. Butler is not only president of the National Holiness association, but is also president of the Cleveland Bible Institute and, at the present time, is editor of the Christian Witness, an interdenominational religious paper of wide reputation.

ELLEN C. NUTTER PASSES, AGED 84

Ellen Coulthurst Nutter passed away in Medford, February 22. She was born November 4, 1849, at Pine River, Marathon county, Wisconsin, daughter of Isaac and Malena Coulthurst. She had ten children, seven of whom survive her, Charles A. of Medford; William H. of Grants Pass, Bertram P. of Wausau, Wisconsin; one sister, Mary Cosgriff of Milwaukee, Wis., also survives.

She was a cheerful little body, weighing only 80 pounds, always smiling, and a firm believer in the Christian Science faith of which she had been a student for the past several years. Her husband, Charles W., passed away at Wausau, Wis.

Interment will take place at Wausau, Wis., beside her husband, who died in 1915.

Funeral services under auspices of the Christian Science church, will be held at the Conger chapel at 2 p. m. Friday.

THE GRANGE

Eagle Point Grange. (By Gertrude Hank.) Eagle Point grange had an unusually interesting session Feb. 20. The lecturer presented an open program, to which the public was invited, consisting of the play prepared by the dramatics division of the recreation committee. This play, entitled "Miss Maria," timed in the year 1900, is a comedy based on "The Tales of Old Chester" by Margaret Deland. The cast included Miss Yetta Olsen, Bill Miller, Mary Weidman, Jessie Mittelsteadt and C. F. Davies. The grange was pleased to hear that this play won in the preliminary contest and will be one of the group to compete in the final contest to be played in Medford, Feb. 24.
