Clothesline Robbed—R. P. Lagson of 1033 West 11th street reported to city police yesterday that his clothesline was robbed the previous night of four shirts, eight diapers and two nightgowns, all bearing American laundry marks.

Dr. Shockley to Speak—Dr. E. W. Shockley, X-ray specialist, will be the speaker Monday at the meeting of the Kiwanis club at the Hotel Medford. He will report recent developments in X-ray work, which promise to be of general interest.

Nannies Return—Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Nandle have returned from a motor trip to Portland, Eugene and other points. They left Klamath Falls for the north Wednesday morning following the Gleemen concert. Yesterday they reported that Portland was enjoying an even more advanced spring than Medford with an abundance of flowers in bloom.

NEXT SATURDAY TO BE DOLLAR DAY MEDFORD STORES

"Keep prices down—that, and that alone, is the royal road to recovery." This statement was made by General Hugh S. Johnson, administrator of the NRA, at a meeting of the National Retail Dry Goods association, upon the occasion of its 23rd annual convention in New York recently.

In the face of rising wholesale prices in commodities, the policy to keep prices down will be made more noticeably evident by Medford merchants on Saturday next, March 3. This day has been designated by the merchants of Medford as "dollar day" and present indications are that it will be a very outstanding event.

It is also hoped it will surpass the one conducted a couple of years ago. The dollar day event is being handled by the Chamber of Commerce committee, under the chairmanship of C. D. Bean. Mr. Bean reports that all merchants of the city are ready for the affair, and that special merchandise has been ordered in a large number of instances.

Dollar day will be celebrated not only by ready-to-wear stores, men's stores, and department stores, but will include grocery stores, druggists and all types of retail establishments.

"Some people may think that commodity prices have risen out of proportion to salary increases," he stated yesterday morning, "but I think they will be agreeably surprised next Saturday when they see the wonderful values which will be offered by the merchants of the city."

It is expected that the specials which will be offered by the merchants will be actively in keeping with the idea of General Hugh S. Johnson, and surprising offers will be in store for the thrifty shopper.

Lion Clubs Comedian
HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Feb. 24.—(AP)—For the second time within ten days, Joe E. Brown, the film comedian, was clowned by a lion today in the making of a motion picture with a circus background. The actor's right forearm was painfully torn and three stitches were taken to close the wound. He was treated at the El Monte hospital.

Bible Class Won't Meet—There will be no meeting Tuesday evening of the Weekly Bible class at the Y. W. O. A. It was announced yesterday. The meeting was cancelled to enable all members to attend the sermon of Dr. Page, who is conducting a conference at the Baptist church.

Demonstration Enjoyed—The women of the Sams Valley district enjoyed an interesting demonstration at the school house Friday, when the Home Extension unit met with Mrs. Mabel Mack, who addressed the members on clothing. There were 26 members of the unit present and the luncheon served was made up of recipes previously recommended by Mrs. Mack.

Kirkland Draws Sentence—Faber Kirkland, arrested by city police for disorderly conduct after several people complained that he tried to enter their houses, was sentenced yesterday to serve 10 days in the city jail, when he appeared before City Judge A. D. Curry. The common belief is that Kirkland just couldn't tell which house was his. Judge Curry stated yesterday.

Recruiter Coming—Substation Commander Jennings D. Lowman, of the United States army recruiting service, will be in Medford February 26, 27 and 28 at the Armory, according to word received Saturday, and expects to be able to start two or three local men on their way to careers in the regular army. Anyone interested should see the recruiter on the dates mentioned.

Mrs. Riddell Plans Shop—Mrs. E. G. Riddell has announced that she will open a Needle-Arts shop in this city about the first of March. It will be located at 33 North Central in the shop formerly occupied by Pruitt's Melody shop, adjoining the Medford Flower shop. Stamped goods, infants' wear, trims and embroidery finishes will be offered the public in an attractive setting.

Bring in Tuneful Comedy At Roxy

Croony and looney, Paramount's whirlwind musical, "Too Much Harmony," opens at the Roxy theater today.

Bing Crosby, as the romantic musical comedy star, provides not only his customary capable voice, but also adds to his rapidly-gathering acting laurels. A long list of noted comedians, including Jack Oakie, Skeets Gallagher, Harry Green, Ned Sparks and Sammy Cohen, provide the laughs.

"Too Much Harmony" is the story of a musical comedy troupe between the finish of one season and the start of the next. Love and laughter and song seem to be as much a part of the every-day life of the troupers as it is of their theater life.

The important feminine roles are taken by Judith Allen, Lilyan Tashman, Kitty Kelly and Grace Bradley.

"Beloved" Playing At Holly Today

One of the most genuinely interesting motion pictures of the season is "Beloved," the "musical romance of a century," which is now playing at the Holly.

John Boles and Gloria Stuart play featured roles in this highly unusual production, and Boles sings several songs as only he can sing them—simple, moving songs of the heart.

From a production standpoint, "Beloved" is a remarkable demonstration of the flexibility of the motion picture. The story covers a period of nearly 100 years, and the feat is accomplished in such a completely convincing manner as to constitute a convincing tribute to the screen art.

Director Victor Seltzer, who also wrote the music for "Beloved," may well be proud of his accomplishment in bringing this epic film into the limits of an evening's entertainment, and in knitting the various incidents so closely together in a smoothly flowing musical cavalcade.

Baron at Studio

"Meet the Baron," hilarious mixture of comedy and hitting musical numbers opens at the Studio today with Jack Pearl, famous "Baron Munchausen" of radio, who with Jimmy Durante and Edna May Oliver goes through a series of hectic adventures in a girls' college.

Film Doubles In Revue Coming To Craterian Stage

A rather unique idea in stage shows is promised those who see the "Movieland Revue" at the Craterian theater next week. With local people acting as doubles for famous movie queens and kings, and with a chorus who have been training faithfully during the last two weeks, the show will take on the proportions of a real big-time revue.

Mae West, of the nasal twang and rolling hips, will be one of the stars to have a local double with others portraying Joan Crawford, Greta Garbo, big feet and all, the Four Marx Brothers and several others.

Now at Rialto

The role of a woman living in the tropics, where morals and law do not mean much is Kay Francis' latest in "Mandalay" at the Rialto theater today and Monday. Lyle Talbot, Ricardo Cortez and Warner Oland play the three important male roles. Talbot as the young doctor, with whom she falls in love, Cortez as the gun-runner, who relinquishes his claims when it becomes apparent that to do otherwise would mean the end of his life, and Warner Oland as the owner of a dive where Miss Francis acts as a hostess.

Helen May, formerly with Fanchon and Marco, has been training and rehearsing the chorus for their many numbers and Frank Hayward, veteran

Wheeler and Woolsey Comedy at Craterian

Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey, whose mirth-provoking antics and wisecracks have filled many theaters with uproarious laughter, have Ruth Etting, famous song-bird, with them in their latest farce, "Hips, Hips, Hooray," opening a three-day engagement at the Craterian theater today. Thelma Todd and Dorothy Lee are also in the cast and contribute to the fun and excitement. Hit songs and dance numbers have become the expected in a Wheeler and Woolsey picture and this latest film is no exception.

producer, has been staying up late nights, figuring out new routines and tricks and gags for the show. With another 10 days of rehearsals before being shown to the public, the "Movieland Revue" should be in fine shape for the initial performance which will take place on the Craterian stage the night of March 7. A complete screen program will also be shown.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Whiskey, the federal food and drug administration said today, has some value as a stimulant but it won't cure influenza, bronchitis, malaria, stomach complaints, typhoid or external ulcers as some labels claim.
