

BUSINESS AREA NEEDS CLEANUP WOMEN ASSERT

It's time for spring house cleaning in Medford and the women of the city have come forward with the recommendation that the cleaning this year be extended through the streets, which they maintain are "unsightly and a disgrace to a progressive city."

They ask that business men, school-boys and office aides take their brooms in hand and see that business doorways as well as residential backyards enjoy a change in appearance before March winds have to take the job of sweeping the city.

The alleys, the gutters, the very streets, they complained this morning to the Mail Tribune, are in need in a general cleanup. Papers, flying about unheeded, tin cans and other debris, they find particularly annoying, and advance the idea of putting school children to work on this particular task.

A drive about the city these days, one woman declared, reveals so much of dirt, that it would be a disgrace to let visitors see the same.

The work could be accomplished with very little cost, the women stated, if all business firms would cooperate in a general campaign in Medford once more "the city beautiful of the pear country."

METROPOLITAN CHIEF WILL VISIT MEDFORD

Frederick J. Williams, third vice-president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, with headquarters in San Francisco, will make his first visit to the Medford territory this week. He is expected to arrive Thursday, at which time a large banquet in his honor will be held at the Hotel Medford.

J. H. Almy, superintendent of agencies for the insurance company in this territory, will also be here from San Francisco, on his first visit to the Medford office.

Former Local Artist Writes From Santa Barbara.

Expressing the wish to return to Medford in the near future from the land of sunshine and flowers, a letter was received today from Sam Lang, woodcut artist, formerly of this city, where he made important steps forward in the advancement of the American "color cut," and won many friends.

"I'm still hungry for Medford," Lang writes, "and confident that the material result of my work will really bring me there. Santa Barbara is too terribly monotonous, any good billboard would be gratefully received."

The latter note is evidently a reference to the big snow storm which visited Medford during Mr. Lang's last winter here.

He is spending much time on "subjects" now, he states, having been working for months on the one he is now perfecting. "It's a study of the earth from the Valley of the Moon."

Lang's letter is accompanied by a notice to art directors, which he has sent out to all art groups and state groups of America, announcing an American paper suitable for wood cuts to supplant the Japanese, which has been used for many years for this art.

Mrs. Waldren Entertains for Oak Grove Club.

On Friday the Oak Grove Neighborhood Club was entertained by Mrs. E. Waldren at her home on Sunset Drive with all members present. Mrs. Raymond Baker and Mrs. Ina Hixon were visitors.

The leading topic of the afternoon was flowers and many women contributed advice on their growing, which was much appreciated. Mrs. W. H. Roberts spoke of her success in raising asters. Plants and shrubs are being exchanged among the members now and many are looking forward to better gardens.

During the afternoon Mrs. Fred Sanders gave a very interesting reading and Mrs. L. Pennington told of the club being organized for girls in Medford, giving an outline of the work to be accomplished through the new organization. Refreshments were served by the hostess at the close of the meeting. She was assisted by Mrs. Norris Gile. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. C. A. Hansen, March 9.

Californians Return After Visit Here

The several Californians, who added much interest to entertaining here over the week-end, are returning south today. Mr. and Mrs. Alex Young, Jr., who were guests of the E. C. Sollinsky, left last evening for San Francisco, following a party at the home of Mrs. Rupert J. Henry, arranged in their honor.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Maentz and Mrs. Ernie Nevers, who visited at the G. M. Roberts home, are also returning to Palo Alto. The visit of the group here was of particular interest to followers of American sports as well as society folk. Mr. Young's name appears frequently in the sports news of the bay city district, and Mrs. Young recently won honors in that realm by exhibiting her dogs in the southern show. Mr. Maentz is a prominent member of the Stanford football squad and Mrs. Nevers is the wife of the well-known "Ernie" of football fame.

Cox-Marshall Betrothal Told at Saturday Party

Coming as a surprise to their many friends in the Rogue River valley, the betrothal of Miss Marjorie Marshall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Marshall, to Delois Cox of this city, was announced Saturday evening at a party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Don Carter on East Jackson.

News of the engagement was told on small cards distributed to the 20 guests present.

The date of the wedding has not been named, but it is understood it will be an event of this spring. The bride-elect is a graduate of the local high school and a popular member of the younger set. Mr. Cox, who came here from El Centro, Cal., where he formerly made his home, is now employed at The Toggery.

Music Lovers Plan Evening in Ashland

A number of people from local music circles are planning to motor to Ashland this evening to attend the program of the Ashland Music club at the Methodist church, beginning at 7:45 o'clock. An invitation has been extended all music lovers and two local musicians will participate on the program. James Stevens, baritone, has been asked to sing, and Miss Wallace will also appear on the program.

Armstrong's Welcomed Back to Medford

Society is welcoming here this week, Major Clare H. Armstrong and Mrs. Armstrong, who returned Saturday with their three children from San Francisco. They have taken the Tou-Velle house again near Jacksonville.

Disk Club Meets Next Saturday

"The Disk club will meet next Saturday at the home of Mrs. Hawley Moore on Summit avenue. The hostess will be assisted in entertaining by Mrs. A. J. Hanby.

Mr. and Mrs. Aldrich On Trip South

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Aldrich left yesterday for San Francisco, where Mrs. Aldrich will visit friends, while he devotes several days to business.

Mrs. Smith Hostess at Luncheon Today

Mrs. S. Sumpter Smith entertained at luncheon today at her home on West 11th street for Rev. and Mrs. W. R. Baird and Reverend Morgan, the evangelist here from California.

Pishan Club Meets Tomorrow Evening

tomorrow evening at the home of Mrs. George Laidley, it was announced today with request for a large attendance.

M'GRAW, EX-CHIEF OF GIANTS, HEADS THE GRIM UMPIRE

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 10 a. m. from St. Patrick's cathedral, the great, gray stone church on Fifth avenue. Final plans for the services have not been completed. The body will be taken to Baltimore immediately following the services and placed in a vault of Cathedral cemetery for later interment.

The body was taken to the big 18 room brick and stucco house in suburban Pelham manor where he had hoped to spend many more happy years while expressions of regret and condolences came from the ends of the earth, from cabinet members and Polo grounds workers, associates of the days with the Baltimore Orioles and baseball players he had developed from George M. Cohan and newspaper friends from high and low, rich and poor—baseball fans all.

Wife Near Collapse

There it will remain until just before the services. Pending final decision by Mrs. McGraw who, near collapse, was given a sedative and put to bed, there will be no public viewing of the body.

His associates of the Giants—Stoneman, Leo Bondy, treasurer, Eddie Brannick, assistant secretary—took charge of arrangements, and received friends who fought their way through a blinding snow storm to pay their respects in person.

A police guard was placed on the house and a snow plow struggled through the icy streets nearby to keep them clear of drifts.

After a life devoted to baseball—he played his first professional game on his 17th birthday April 7, 1890 with Clean, N. Y., of the New York-Penn league—McGraw retired June 3, 1932, as manager of the New York Giants because of failing health.

"It's taken me 42 years to find out how pleasant it is to live," he said shortly afterward.

Giants Final Interest

He was a great third baseman with Baltimore, St. Louis and then Baltimore again before taking charge of the Maryland team in 1901. The next year, in midseason, he left to become manager of the Giants and lived out his baseball days with that team.

During his 30 years as the roaring, fighting leader of the most consistently great teams in baseball he won 10 National league pennants and three world championships. His greatest success was from 1920-24 when he won the pennant four times in a row and the world title twice. The 1924 team was his last leader, however, and the Giants were in last place when he retired eight years later and turned the control over to William H. Terry, whom he had developed.

DISMISS GARRETT WHEN WITNESS IN CASE GOES SOUTH

Thelma Akers, complaining witness in the case of James Luther Garrett of the Butte Falls district, charged with assault with a deadly weapon, "left for California a few days ago, and is there now," so the case against Garrett was dismissed this morning by Judge H. D. Norton.

Garrett was indicted by the last grand jury for shooting the complaining witness in the leg during a birthday party at his house last November. The wound was not serious. Garrett has been in the county jail since the fracas.

The court held, "If the prosecuting witness and injured party, does not take enough interest to testify, there is no use of postponing the trial."

District Attorney George A. Codding said, "The witness departed without realizing the seriousness of the case."

There is no provision in the Oregon law for the return of a witness absent in another state, in assault cases.

Attorneys Robert Hammond, and E. E. Kelly, appeared in court ready to defend Garrett. They were advised that the state's chief witness was gone. It was the first case on the criminal calendar for the new term of court.

The petit jury of 31 names, drawn for the present term, were polled this morning and all answered except Noah S. Bennett, nurseman, and Donald S. Clark, orchardist, who were excused.

The trial of Alfred Poston, Pinehurst, indicted for threatening an assault with a deadly weapon, was scheduled to start tomorrow before a petit jury. Poston is alleged to have threatened State Trooper Eldon Jackson last fall, during an argument over game law violations.

The other criminal matters scheduled for trial is that of Mamie Bieden, indicted for alleged contributing to the delinquency of a minor girl.

All the criminal cases are expected to be concluded this week, when the hearing of a long list of criminal actions will be started.

8 FOUND DEAD IN WRECKAGE OF BIG UNITED AIR LINER

after it had taken off here for Cheyenne with five passengers and a crew of three, the transport was found wrecked in a snow covered pass 20 miles east of here. The wreckage was sighted at dusk yesterday by a searching plane.

Rescuers Reach Spot

A rescue party of company officials which reached the scene through deep snow two hours later found the mangled bodies of the two pilots and the five passengers thrust into the forward end of the plane and imprisoned by wreckage.

Only the body of the stewardess, Miss Carter, was intact. It lay on top of those of the others. Identification was possible only by jewelry and clothing.

Except for the wings, which were cracked, virtually every part of the craft was smashed. The tail hung drunkenly like a boy's broken kite.

Several hours were required to extricate the bodies from the wreckage. They were carried two miles to the Lincoln highway, where ambulances brought them to this city. The nose of the plane had to be dug from the ground before baggage and express could be removed from the forward compartment.

The plane was sighted by Pilots

Don Broughton and Creighton H. Geer, who were about to return to the airport here for more fuel. Broughton signalled the find to other fliers, and returned to the air field to lead a party of company officials to the spot.

Maneuvers of the searching planes had been noted by a party of skiers nearby, who located the wrecked ship and advised the air line officials as to its exact whereabouts.

the tobacco does not spill out

Every Lucky Strike is made from the finest tobacco and only the center leaves. Not the top leaves—because those are under-developed—not ripe. They would give a harsh smoke. Not the bottom leaves—because those are inferior in quality. They grow close to the ground, and are tough, coarse and always sandy. The center leaves are the mildest leaves, for which farmers are paid higher prices. Only these center leaves are used in making Luckies the fully packed cigarette—so round, so firm—free from loose ends. That's why Luckies draw easily, burn evenly. And remember—"It's toasted"—for throat protection—for finer taste.
