

WHEAT REDUCTION PLAN TO CARRY ON IS ANNOUNCEMENT

Action Taken In Response To Widespread Demand By Farmers—Plan Held Crop And Price Insurance

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—(AP)—Chester C. Davis, farm administrator, said today the campaign of last fall to sign up wheat growers in a compact to reduce production would be reopened.

The action was taken, Davis said, in response to a wide-spread demand of farmers who did not sign last year.

"The reopening, which applies to approximately 13,000,000 acres of uncontracted normal wheat land, follows many requests for such action from growers in practically all of the wheat growing states," Davis explained.

Farmers who sign up during the coming benefit will receive the second benefit payment of eight cents a bushel scheduled to go to 1933 signers, and the 1934 and 1935 adjustment payments.

Davis described the wheat reduction plan as "a measure of crop insurance and price insurance." He said it would protect farmers to the extent of their allotment payment against possible crop failure this year and if the prices of things farmers buy increase faster than the price of wheat, benefit payments also will advance.

The parity price achieved by making the benefit payments applies to the farmer's allotment, which is 54 per cent of the average production for the base period.

George E. Farrell, head of the wheat section, said the campaign would begin immediately with the same committees which conducted the 1933 sign-up campaign in 1450 counties taking up the work where they left off.

NEFF PLEASED BY IRRIGATION LOAN

Attorney Porter J. Neff, who went to Washington, D. C., several weeks ago in the interests of a loan for the Medford irrigation district, has returned well satisfied with what was accomplished there. The refunding loan of $405, was granted the district.

Mrs. Neff, who made the trip east with Mr. Neff, is remaining in Minneapolis for a week or 10 days as guest of her sister, Mrs. Horan White in Washington. Mr. Neff said they enjoyed several visits with the Edward C. Kellys, who are enjoying life in the capital very much.

Although he enjoyed his stay in Washington and other cities between here and there, where conditions were undoubtedly improved, Mr. Neff stated this afternoon that he saw no place that looked quite as good to him as Medford.

Day in Congress

By Herbert Plummer
WASHINGTON—Oklahoma's sole congressman-at-large, Will Rogers, a country schoolmaster with a well-known name, took his seat in the present congress last March determined to make himself felt from the start.

Defying the traditional rule that first-termers are to be seen rather than heard, Rogers started off with a bang.

He began a crusade against the rule of seniority by attempting to persuade the huge crop of Democratic congressmen who came in on the Roosevelt landslide to assert their rights.

"As new men in the house," he urged his "bookie" colleagues, "although we might not know as much about practical politics as the older members, we certainly might be just as intelligent."

He didn't get very far, however. He was not long in discovering that seniority is a congressman's most prized possession, dearer to him than any of his rights.

An Unusual "Whereas"
The 36-year old Oklahoman gradually slipped back into the obscurity which envelops most first-termers in the house, his hopes for a larger voice in the affairs of that body about gone.

Then in the present session he introduced a bill known as HR6458. In many respects HR6458, so far as proposed legislation is concerned, should be placed in a class by itself. Read the first "Whereas" and judge for yourself:

"Whereas passage of this bill could not possibly do harm, would cost the government nothing, and would contribute in great measure toward bringing immediate relief from effects caused by past chaotic economic conditions, and would work restitution of billions of legitimate values which now appear to be lost to those who worked a lifetime in their acquisition.

There's nothing dull or technical there.

It's a Silver Move
Rogers' HR6458 calls for free and unlimited coinage of silver at its market value.

It creates a new, ancillary, silver currency, the unit of which is the "quanto," containing one ounce of silver, divided into 100 "quantimes." The "quanto" is made eligible at the commodity market value of the silver it contains as a reserve for dollar currency.

No one would be compelled to use this money, but should there be an agreement among parties to use the "quanto" as a legal tender for foreign and domestic transactions, it would become a member of the currency family.

The proposal is not likely to get very far. It has, however, attracted a lot of attention to the former Oklahoma school teacher.

HOME MAKERS TO FIND PROGRAM OF WIDEST INTEREST

Early registration indicates a large attendance attracted by the exceptionally varied program offered at the fourth annual Home Interests conference on the Oregon State college campus, February 26, March 1, 2 and 3.

In addition to the school of home economics and extension service staffs, competent speakers from various parts of the state will contribute lectures and demonstrations on practically every subject of interest to home-makers, both women and men. A few of the topics on the program are:

- "Parents as Teachers," by Dr. Alexander Goldenweiser; "What Five Thousand Oregon Women Want in Housing Improvement," by Miss Claribel Nye; "Making the House Serve the Family," by Miss Maude Wilson; "Reasons for Success or Failure in Everyday Cookery," Miss Agnes Kolshorn; "Buying for the Family," by Miss Luella Reynolds; "Improved Varieties of Berries," by O. T. McWhorter; and "Home Crafts for Pleasure or Profit," by Miss Cecile McAllister.

Vegetable gardening, weight and health of adults, the well dressed woman, planning the family food supply, clothing standards as an aid to the consumer, food and drug legislation, the government's agricultural program, and beautifying of the home grounds are among many other topics to be discussed.

Carl Sandburg, nationally known author and lecturer, will appear at 1 p. m., during convocation hour, Wednesday. A part of Thursday's afternoon program will be presented by Oregon authors of note.

Exhibits will be as varied as the program. A food and drugs exhibit from the U. S. department of agriculture will be shown. Among other exhibits are home crafts, the story of flax, treasures from around the

LEGION WILL HEAR COUNTY OFFICIALS AT MEET TONIGHT

A large attendance of World War veterans is anticipated for tonight's meeting of Medford post of the American Legion which will be held at the armory at 8 p. m. Several important business matters including plans for the legion dance on St. Patrick's day will be discussed and all legionnaires are urged to be present.

The entertainment program which is in charge of Horace Bromley and Goodwin Humphreys promises to be both interesting and instructive as it will feature a talk on the Sales Tax and its application to the school system by Superintendent of Schools C. R. Bowman. In addition there will be an interesting address by County Judge Earl Day who has been secured by the Ladies' Auxiliary for their program tonight. Through the cooperation of the auxiliary the two programs will be combined and the two speakers will address both groups. A short musical program also is planned. All legionnaires and auxiliary members are cordially invited to be present.

SENATORS LOOSEN VETERAN BENEFITS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—(AP)—The senate administration forces today further liberalized their compromise proposal on veterans' benefits by broadening it to include Spanish war veterans.

The revised proposal was offered by Senator Byrnes (D-S.C.) in charge of the independent offices bill for the administration forces, as a counter proposition to a more liberal one by Senators Stelwer (R-Ore.) and McCarran (D-Nev.).

Under certain conditions, the Byrnes proposal would restore to the rolls Spanish war veterans eliminated by the economy act, with a grant of
