

EUREKA GOLFERS ISSUE CHALLENGE FOR MATCH HERE

Word has been received from Charles C. Falk, chairman of the tournament committee of the Humboldt Golf and Country club of Eureka, Cal., that a team of Eurekaans would like to try conclusions with members of the Rogue Valley Golf club on the links here at an early date.

The Eurekaans have promised to bring 50 men here in the near future for a match in defense of the cup which they won from Klamath Falls on the local links a few weeks ago.

Les Wolfe and Bob Stone are carded in the main event, and Warren and Hall for a curtain raiser.

TINY 'TAKE' LOOMS FOR HEAVYWEIGHT BATTLE

By EDWARD J. NEIL, Associated Press Sports Writer. MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 27.—(AP)—The artistic success of Primo Carnera's heavyweight title defense against Tommy Loughran amid a background of palma seems assured, regardless of the outcome, but from a financial standpoint the receipts tomorrow night probably will fade all the way back to the low records of boxing's dark ages.

The huge champion from Italy and Loughran, his veteran challenger, were content today with light exercise and rest, the training camp over, it became apparent from lack of interest at the box office that the match will not draw more than $75,000 in gate receipts.

Despite the fact that Miami is jammed with visitors, the sun is shining, and Loughran has increased his status as a challenger considerably by his show of condition and ability in training, tickets were sold slowly. It would take an amazing run on the box office to bring the gate up to the total Madison Square Garden hoped for when the match was made—$100,000.

Odds on Carnera to retain his championship, perhaps by an early knockout, still hold at 3 to 1, and a few wagers have been made with the titleholder a favorite as high as 5 to 1, a situation which has the veterans shaking their heads and analyzing sharply the chances of a 183-pound Loughran beating a 258-pound Carnera.

Back again into ring history, the sharps can show you that every time the heavyweight title has changed hands under the Marquis of Queensbury rules, the challenger was the under dog. John L. Sullivan was a 4 to 1 favorite when Corbett beat him, and Corbett was a 3 to 3 choice when Bob Fitzsimmons knocked him out.

Jack Johnson was 3 to 1, but he lost to Jess Willard, and Willard had an 8 to 5 edge when Dempsey beat him down. Dempsey was a 2½ to 1 favorite over Tunney the first time they met. Max Schmeling was a slight favorite when Sharkey beat him and Sharkey was 3 to 1 when Carnera knocked him out last June.

NEW COMBINATION IN TIGERS' LINEUP TRIED BY BURGER

District Basketball Standings. W. L. P. C. Ashland 3 0 1,000 Medford 2 1 500 Grants Pass 0 4 000

Captain D. K. Burger of Medford has been draining every source possible to strengthen his team for the tilt with Ashland Friday night. The coach is in hope that his team will have an "on" night against Ashland. The Tigers have dropped one of their two-game series to the Grizzlies, but this doesn't completely eliminate the locals from the race.

If the Tigers should win Friday night, another game would be called to determine the rightful wearer of the district five basketball crown. Max Giltinsky, speedy little guard, was sent home yesterday on account of a very bad cold and sore throat. As a result, the Tigers underwent a drastic shift in the lineup. Hinman was removed from the first string center position to guard on the second team and Tom White was shifted to guard on the second team, while Curtis and Smith were placed at forwards for the first team and Harris, last year's center and this year's top-notch forward, was shifted back to center. Don Stewart took Giltinsky's place at the other guard.

Whether this is just an experiment or the way things will lay for the crucial contest Friday night, was not announced by Coach Burger. Coach Don Faber of Ashland has not let out any information concerning his team, but from the spectators' standpoint it is obvious that the team will be two boys that will bear plenty of watching. Hardy is a southpaw and a whiz at shooting twister shots. Whether Hoyle was lucky at hitting the basket or just plain good, is something that sort of baffles old man public.

In the game last Friday night Hoyle made shots that required an eagle-eye. Although Ashland has a team composed of one or two sharpshooters, Medford high, when enjoying one of the "on" nights, boasts a five-man sharp-shooting aggregation.

Alfred Poston of Pinehurst, indicted for alleged threatening to commit assault with a gun, failed to appear in court this morning at the time set for trial, and Judge H. D. Norton ordered his bond of $1500 forfeited and a bench warrant issued for Poston's arrest.

The court said that in the event Poston could show a reasonable excuse for not being present in court the default order would be modified upon the payment of the petit jury fees for half a day. The jurors were present ready to be called for service in the case.

Bondsmen for Poston are listed as Al Hopkins and Clarence Taylor, farmers, and R. A. Miller, service station operator, all of Ashland. Before the court waited for 45 minutes and then directed Bailiff George Lewis to call Poston's name from the court house steps three times. There was no response.

Attorney T. J. Enright for Poston was also ready for trial and stated to the court that he knew no reason for his delay-appearance, "except that he is delayed by storm conditions in the mountains."

Poston was indicted by the grand jury for threatening to commit an assault with a deadly weapon last September upon State Trooper Eldon Jackson during questioning about game law violations. Poston is alleged to have threatened to hit the trooper over the head with the butt-end of a gun.

CARS PLUNGE OFF 20-FOOT BANK IN PITTSBURGH YARD

Engine Crew Missing. He pointed out that Engineer W. M. Shaw of Newcastle, Pa., and Fireman O. C. Douthitt of Youngstown, Ohio, had disappeared. "We couldn't find them in the cab," he said. "Of course, they might be buried beneath the engine. We have heard also that they got out all right."

Disconnected from their pilot after it plunged down the embankment, the cars were shoved past by the momentum of their speed, estimated by some passengers to be between 35 and 40 miles an hour.

The combination express-smoker dived off an embankment 500 feet past the engine, resting its front down on the ground and its rear on the track bed. The diner remained upright. The day coach knocked down the signal tower and was buried in the debris. It is here the bodies are feared buried.

Sleepers Turn Over. The two sleepers turned over, one above the engine and tender, the other against a three-story building, knocking down large piles of bricks.

Dazed by the tragedy, the survivors of the ill-fated "No. 1638" told their stories from hospital cots. Men, paled by the nearness of stories of the plunging steel giants death, and women, hysterically holding nondescript pieces of clothing to bleeding wounds, trudged through knee-deep snowdrifts to shelter after the wreck. Only three minutes more—and it wouldn't have happened. The New York bound train would have completed its run into the union station about 9:30.

Felt Train Buckle. J. S. Stevens of Akron said he "had a feeling just before the train crashed that it buckled." He thought they had hit an automobile.

Wm. Orlieb, a patrolman, among the first to reach the wreck, said: "All I could hear were screams and groans. I climbed in and handed out five or six persons. By the sounds I thought at least 25 were dying."

Some of those killed were trapped beneath the swinging upper berths that crashed down.

AUTOIST ENTERS NOT GUILTY PLEA

Bob Boyd, charged with reckless driving as result of the collision several weeks ago with young Gerald Pearce, pedestrian, near the tabernacle on Sixth street, entered a plea of not guilty at his hearing before Police Judge A. D. Curry late yesterday. The Pearce boy was removed from the Community Hospital about a week ago. The case, Judge Curry stated today, will be continued when the boy's condition is definitely determined.

Mary Conner, also charged with reckless driving, announced to Judge Curry this morning that she would state her plea to guilty. Her auto collided with one driven by Mrs. James Ross of Central Point a short time ago at the corner of Sixth and Front streets, this city. Mrs. Ross sustained injuries, and Miss Conner, upon whom sentence has not yet been passed, will in addition bear the hospital expense and costs of repairing the Ross car, Curry stated.
