

CAPITAL GLIMPSE GIVEN KIWANIS ON FARRELLS RETURN

An interesting glimpse of Washington, as it becomes known to the visitor, was given the Kiwanis club today at luncheon at the Hotel Medford by Frank P. Farrell, who recently returned from the capital, where he represented the irrigation districts of the state in refinancing plans.

The irrigation refinancing program, accomplished, he stated, means a saving of about $100,000 a year to the farmers of the Rogue River valley and a saving of $1,500,000 to the irrigation districts.

Mr. Farrell told the club members of efforts to get legislation through and the difficulties involved, showing the highlights and sidelights of the present administration. He voiced particular interest in the bankruptcy bill, which comes before the senate today, stating that it constitutes a definite tie-up with the irrigation refinancing program and that irrigation interests are particularly anxious for its passage.

Senator Chas. N. McNary was described by Mr. Farrell as an outstanding figure in Washington, popular in both political parties. He stated that Senator Steiwer was also commanding attention in the senate and that Congressman Mott, although new at the game, was a hard worker, and doing many good things for his district.

President Roosevelt is popular with all classes in Washington and throughout the east, as well as the west, Mr. Farrell stated.

Describing the various departments in Washington, the local attorney said that he found them too overgrown and the gaining of information, as a result, very difficult. General conditions in Washington and the ease with which he also visited, Mr. Farrell referred to as decidedly prosperous. Prices are high in Washington, dinners costing $1.50, lunches 85 cents to $1.25, and the breakfast minimum is 75 cents. The hotels, however, are filled and the city visited with a constant stream of people.

Business, he told the club, is apparently improving throughout the east with numerous factories re-opening.

Karl Janouch, supervisor of the Rogue River National forest, was also a guest at the Kiwanis luncheon today.

Mackinnon Here—O. A. Mackinnon of Klamath Falls has reported for duty at the state police office here to fill the vacancy occurring with the resignation of James O'Brien from the force. Mackinnon was formerly connected with the Klamath Falls city police department.

SMOOTS FIGURE IN MAIL ENQUIRY

Ernest W. Smoot (left), son of former Senator Reed Smoot (right) of Utah, disclosed before the senate airmail investigating committee that he received more than $19,750 compensation from private individuals and companies while he was a clerk of the senate finance committee in 1929. The former senator denied from his home in Utah the testimony of James G. Wooley that he had obtained Smoot's influence in behalf of an airmail contract for Western Air Express. AUTO ACCIDENT CASE NEAR JURY

The damage suit of Delbert Tingleaf of Eagle Point for $35,000 special and general damages for injuries assertedly received in an auto accident in July, 1931, was expected to be in the hands of a circuit court jury late today. The C. E. Gates Auto company is the defendant.

The defense said it contemplated filing a non-suit. If denied, the case proceeds to the final arguments: If granted it is automatically ended. Much of the morning session was devoted to the introduction of documentary evidence relating to the contract for purchase of the car.

Tingleaf bases the suit upon an auto accident near Butte Falls, in which he sustained two broken legs and other injuries. Jesse Walton, also of Eagle Point, was injured. The evidence shows that Tingleaf accepted the invitation of Ralph Dinmore to "take a ride," which ended when the auto went off the road at high speed. The defense contends that young Dinmore took the auto without permission, the plaintiff that he was allowed to do so by the auto salesman.

PLANNERS ATTEND PORTLAND CONFAB

Representatives of the Jackson county and city of Medford planning commissions left here yesterday for Portland to attend the three-day conference, called there by Marshall Dana, head of the Public Works program in Oregon. In the delegation were Larry Schade, Fred Schefel, Paul Rynning and Bernard Roberts.

The purpose of the conference, it is understood, is to coordinate the city and county commissions for use of funds to be forthcoming from the Public Works administration for planning work. The latter, it is feared, will not be as extensive as originally planned, due to a decrease in public works funds.

The local delegation will present Jackson county's and Medford's needs in the planning field.
