WASHINGTON, March 12.—Mr.
Roosevelt has revised his strategy for handling congress. The change is working out badly.

working out badly.

He started out by feeding the legislative lions one place of meat at a time. He made them jump through the hoop before they received another. In that way he kept them washes control.

about trying to make himself a dic-tator. He eased up. Now he is throwing meat at them—directly and indirectly—so fast that they are fighting all over the cage. Half of periority complex.

But Mr. Roosevelt himself is probably more to blame than anyone class, ably more to blame than anyone class, the has had the audacity to try to get through a tax bill, a tariff bill and a stock market bill in a campaign year. No president ever tried that before.

But abilities.

The only other casualty reported was Charles Bithell, 55, an employe of the city waterworks department here. He was buried when a six-foot here.

The peculiar part of it is he will probably get away with it. The cloakroom situation of his program may be thubnailed as follows: Tariff.

Tariff.

Bargaining power will be given shim under heavy restrictions he did not want; but only after a struggle. The senate will reserve the right to turn down the bargains he makes.

Stock Market.

The bill submitted by the young Anthony advocates will be thoroughly rewritten, modified and passed. Wall street will not be satisfied, but partially appeased.

Farm Ald.

Farm Ald.
The Bankhead cotton curtailment bill can be passed only if Mr. Roosewelt puts his foot down and insists. He will. The administrative amendments to the AAA will be sanctioned, because few in congress will realize what they mean. Commedity market regulations will go through as a tail to the stock exchange kite. Communications. Communications.

It is an innocuous bill merely consolidating existing regulatory bodies and will probably be passed, al-though no one will cry if it is not. Alrmail Contracts.

The Rocevelt competitive bidding idea will be adopted with some slight Vets Cut and Pay Cuts.
