PHONE COMPANY PAYS FULL TAX

To co-operate with the state-wide "Pay Taxes Promptly" movement, the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company and the Home Telephone and Telegraph company of southern Oregon today paid all of their real and personal property taxes for 1933 in Jackson county. After deducting the discount for prompt payment, the Pacific company tax was $16,144.17; the Home company tax was $14,725.72.

Total real and personal property taxes being paid by the Pacific company throughout the state of Oregon amount to $791,238.98, according to R. B. Hammond, manager of the Home Telephone and Telegraph company of Southern Oregon.

The discount for prompt payment amounts to three per cent; however, this does not represent the actual savings to the companies, because they are paying their taxes in advance forces them to borrow the necessary money at the prevailing rate of interest. This is due to payroll requirements, tax payments elsewhere and other current expenditures. The interest requirement on the money borrowed to pay taxes in advance will reduce the actual savings to a little more than one-half of one per cent.

When other taxes—general, franchise and miscellaneous—are included, the 1933 tax bill for the Pacific company totals $1,065,000. This amounts to $9.49 per telephone. It was pointed out, based on the average number of Pacific company telephones in service in 1933.

He stated that the Tacoma Activists are anxious to come to Medford for the 1935 convention and that Medford will be given ample publicity in an early issue of the Activist.

Hilding Bengtson, chairman of the dance committee, reported that the party last Saturday night was a success from both the financial and social viewpoints and that other dances would be sponsored by the club in the future. Bill Heath was guest at last night's meeting.
