

ST. MARKS HEARS INITIAL SERMON BY REV. BARTLAM

Rev. Ernest S. Bartlam, dean of the Episcopal cathedral at Sacramento, Cal., made his first sermon at St. Mark's at Medford, conducted his initial services at the Episcopal church yesterday and delivered a forceful and eloquent sermon to a near-capacity congregation.

Rev. Bartlam has a pleasing and genial personality, and the scholarly style in which he portrayed his sermon-subject, combined in captivating the entire congregation, who were commendable in their praiseful selection of a rector so able to take up the work left off by Rev. Hamilton, who after twenty years of service, was compelled to resign on account of failing health.

The new rector, born in England, comes from a clerical family. His father and a brother are both A.-ests in the Church of England. Rev. Bartlam answered the call to the priesthood after coming to the United States and received his clerical education in an American Episcopal college. His son has also taken up the ministry and will graduate this spring.

Rev. Bartlam is also interested in civic and fraternal work and is a member of the Masons and Elks. In the latter order he has held almost every office in the organization.

Mrs. Bartlam, whose personality is as pleasing and happy as that of her husband, has always taken an active and enthusiastic interest in church work.

Both express themselves delighted to become residents of Medford, and as soon as their household goods arrive and the rectory has been put in order, will be at home to the communicants of St. Mark's and all others who are pleased to call.

COL. HOFER PIONEER PUBLISHER OF STATE PASSES IN PORTLAND

PORTLAND, March 19.—(AP)—Colonel E. Hofer, pioneer Oregon publisher, died at his home here Sunday. He was former publisher of the Salem Capital-Journal, the Oregon Manufacturer (now the Industrial News Review), and a magazine, the Lariat.

Born in Clermont, Ia., Col. Hofer received the honorary title from the Sons of Veterans—came to Oregon in 1889 and with his brother, the late A. F. Hofer, acquired the Salem Capital-Journal, which he published until 1912. He then began publication of the Oregon Manufacturer, a monthly paper devoted to the up-building of Oregon industry.

He was active in developing the Oregon Editorial association, and served twice as its president. In 1932, he established the Lariat, a magazine in which he constantly gave encouragement to new writers, and through which a number of well known authors gained their first recognition.

Col. Hofer was a past president of the Oregon Humane society, and an active member of the Portland Press club. He moved to this city from Salem in 1923.

Col. Hofer is survived by his wife, Wynona; two sons, Robert and Laurence; a daughter, Mrs. Allan A. Bynon; and five grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later by a funeral director here.

WILL SEED LAWN AT COURT HOUSE

Workmen were engaged today on the courthouse lawn, removing weeds and grass, preparatory to seeding and planting other plantings. The Medford Garden club has charge of the landscape gardening. A number of shrubs have been planted.

The sprinkling system was put in shape last week. During the winter a number of the taps were broken off. Boys are blamed for this. The system was turned on, and the top layer of ground given a soaking. The grass will be sown at once.

The magnolia tree transplanted to the courthouse lawn and presented to the county by Mrs. Amelia Tott, was also given a good watering yesterday. According to Landscape Gardener Weitz it will take a year, before it is known definitely whether the transplanted magnolia will live.

Full pear bloom in current week. Pear trees of the valley will be in full bloom within the week, according to County Horticulturist Lyle P. Wilcox. All trees are now approaching the blooming period.

Easter Lesson, Subject of Class Study Tuesday. The Easter lesson will be the subject of the study at the Weekly Bible class tomorrow evening at the Y. W. C. A. The class will meet for a short song period and Bible verses at 7:30, after which the lesson will be presented.

In giving the Easter lesson, Mrs. Warner will cover the meaning of resurrection to all Christians. There is a distinction between the spiritual resurrection and the physical resurrection, and these differences will be set forth as scripture distinguishes between them at the meeting.

"The resurrection of Christ proves His Deity; gives assurance of our justifications and proves our resurrection. Does Resurrection make any difference in our lives? Believing and knowing we are raised from the dead gives comfort in sorrow; cheers us when separated from loved ones gone on and completes our salvation."

Bible references will be searched out and considered in presenting all these truths, and members are asked to bring Bibles.

Next week's lesson will be the summing up of the four gospels, Matthew, Mark, Luke and John.

Mrs. Walker Honored at Saturday breakfast. Mrs. Mae Ross Walker, chairman of music and arts in the Oregon Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs, was honored here Saturday morning at breakfast of members of the local club.

Next week's lesson will be the summing up of the four gospels, Matthew, Mark, Luke and John.

Mrs. Walker came to Medford from Portland with her husband, George P. A. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. James L. Blacker and Mrs. Reed for the meeting of the Spanish American War Veterans and Auxiliary.

The group continued to Grants Pass for luncheon and on to Roseburg for a dinner meeting of the veterans and auxiliary.

Wilcox Home, Seen at O. S. C. Club Session. A particularly interesting meeting of the Oregon State College club is anticipated this evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Wilcox on West Main street, for many college students are home for spring vacation and have been invited to the meeting.

TRAIN AND TRUCK CRASH CASE TRIAL OPENS TOMORROW

The $25,000 damage suit of Anne Turpin, now a resident of Klamath Falls, against the Southern Pacific railroad and J. C. Cline and Jack McNeerney, truck line operators, will start in circuit court before Judge H. D. Norton tomorrow morning. The jury has been ordered to report for service.

The suit is based upon an auto accident, which occurred January 5, 1933, at a crossing on the Klamath Falls-Weed highway, in which a passenger train hit the truck. As a result, the plaintiff alleges she sustained injuries and mental anguish, and that an expected visit of the stork was prevented. She was riding in the front seat with Cline and McNeerney at the time of the crash. It is set forth in the complaint.

It is charged that the truck drivers traveled at an excessive speed, that the passenger train engineer failed to blow his whistle or ring the bell and that the defendants were careless and negligent.

The defendants allege that Anne Turpin rode in the truck for a day and a night, en route from Woodland, Calif., to Klamath Falls; that the whistle was sounded and the bell rung, that the track at the accident point is straight, and visible for a distance of two miles, and that the highway takes a sharp left hand turn across the tracks.

The defendant railroad alleges that negligence, if any, was contributed by the truck drivers, and that the engineer observed all rules.

The case is expected to take two days. The defendants are represented by Attorney George M. Roberts and William McAllister of this city, and L. U. Hampton of Portland; the plaintiff by Attorneys U. S. Ballantine and A. W. Schaub of Klamath Falls.

Power Companies Must Pay City Tax

5 — about Cigarettes

Practically untouched by human hands

We'd like you to see Chesterfields made. We know you'd be impressed by the absolute cleanliness of our factories.

The tobaccos are the best that money can buy. Expert chemists test for cleanliness and purity all materials used in any way in the manufacture of Chesterfield cigarettes.

The factories are modern throughout. Even the air is changed every 4 1/2 minutes. When you smoke a Chesterfield you can be sure that there isn't a purer cigarette made.

In a letter to us an eminent scientist says: "Chesterfields are just as pure as the water you drink."

Inspectors examine Chesterfields as they come from the cigarette making machines and throw out any imperfect cigarettes.
