

CRATER HIGHWAY SURVEY ORDERED FOR RESURFACING

Survey of the Crater Lake Highway from Medford to Agate, has been ordered by the state highway commission, preparatory to letting the contract for grading and surfacing. Engineer Goodnight of the local state highway force reported yesterday. The house committee on roads, of which Congressman Mott is a member, yesterday reported favorably on House Bill 8702, which authorizes the expending of $400,000,000, in the several states of the union under the NRA.

It is estimated that of this sum, between $70,000 and $80,000 will be available for the Crater Lake-Agate unit.

Engineer Goodnight informed the county court that the survey could be made within a comparatively short time.

The contract has been let for the resurfacing of the Crater Lake highway from Little Butte to Elk creek. Work is expected to start the latter part of April.

Completion of all the work, asured and contemplated, will bring needed resurfacing and repairs to the Crater Lake route, from this city to Elk creek, a distance of approximately 30 miles. The section bears the brunt of the heavy traffic on the highway.

PORTLAND, Ore., March 22.—(AP)—Proposals for grading and paving the last section of the East Portland-Oregon City super highway were opened by the state highway commission here today.

Edlisen & Weygant of Portland bid low on the 1.65 mile project at $149,922.

Today's letting, if all contracts are awarded, will practically exhaust the NRA appropriation of $6,100,000 made last year. About $500,000 will be placed under contract next month.

Other projects on which bids were opened today included:

Jackson County: Widening and surfacing with bituminous macadam Agate-Little Butte section of Crater Lake highway, 3.54 miles; Northwest Roads Co., Portland, $50,936.

TIMBER HAULING LIMITATION SET

PORTLAND, March 22.—(P)—No longer will the hauling of logs during week-ends and holidays on the McKenzie river highway and Cannon Beach roads be permitted.

The state highway commission at a meeting here Wednesday issued the order forbidding such practice.

The commission also ordered that no article, whether timbers, piling, or other material, longer than 75 feet may be hauled on highways of the state without a special permit.

A trade suggested by residents of Wedderburn and Gold Beach whereby about 8 acres of land at the south end of the Rogue river bridge on the Oregon Coast highway would be exchanged for 4 acres at the Giesel monument site nearby, was authorized by the commission.

IMPORTED LIQUOR AT LOCAL STORE

More imported liquors have found their way to the shelves of the state liquor store here. One, "Seagrams," comes from Canada, in a beautiful bottle and the other is a Peruvian brandy, the first liquor from that country to be offered for sale in Medford.

The business at the local store is steadily increasing. At the same time the business of the bootlegger is steadily decreasing, according to a visitor from California, who reported here that 37 known stills had ceased operations in his state since opening of the state stores.

Every $500 day experienced by the state owned store diverts that much money into state channels which was formerly spent with the bootlegger, bringing no revenue into the state coffers, officials pointed out today.

Marks' Decision Disappointment

SALEM, Ore., March 22.—(AP)—The self-elimination of Willard L. Marks of Albany from the gubernatorial race was met with general disappointment at the state capitol, where the former president of the senate has many warm friends. Among those who expressed regret that Marks would not seek the Republican nomination were many state officials who had predicted Marks would have been elected.

Declaring that "in justice to other responsibilities of life," which he referred to as "all-compelling" and of "peculiarly personal nature," Marks said he would not be a candidate because he "could not pay the price."

The present chairman of the state board of higher education late yesterday thus eliminated himself as a candidate for the Republican nomination to succeed Governor Julius L. Meier.

One of the many ageing cellars at the Century Brewery—each with a capacity of 7,000 barrels—where Rheinlander beer is aged in the wood for 90 days.

Everyone Is Asking...

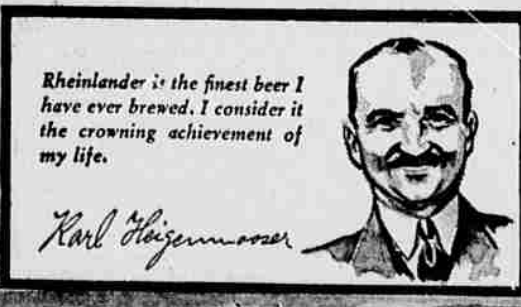

What Makes It So Tasty?
What Makes It So Different?

WE'RE pleased to explain—Rheinlander Beer is aged in the wood a full 90 days. It is brewed NATURALLY by Karl Heigenmooser under the same formula this famous brewmaster used in Munich. Only the finest hops, malt and other ingredients are used in the Pacific Northwest's largest brewery, where Rheinlander is made. Even the air in this model plant is filtered and washed to safeguard the beer during its brewing and ageing. Draught Rheinlander is shipped only in seasoned white oak kegs. And it costs no more than other domestic beers. Those are the facts behind Rheinlander's overnight leadership.

What a hit this different, tastier beer has scored! You notice the difference when you see Rheinlander's creamy foam gradually separate from the natural beer below. "Ach, that's the way it should behave in its glass," Herr Heigenmooser proudly exclaims. Those tell-tale rings of foam on the glass are your assurance that here, at last, is real beer.

Herr Heigenmooser is elated. Using the Northwest's excellent water, his Munich formula, and our $1,000,000 plant, he has made his world-famous European beer even better. We believed Herr Heigenmooser's brew would captivate America as it did Europe, but we were unprepared for the tremendous instant hit his Rheinlander beer has scored. We thank you and, we value your high regard for Rheinlander. Rest assured, Rheinlander's quality will be rigorously maintained.
