EGG PRICES HOLD UNCHANGED WHILE BUTTER WEAKENS

PORTLAND, March 23.—(AP)—Egg market prices continued without change and were nominally 15c for extras, but little was being sold at that price because there were so many prices as there were grades of extras. Considerable weakness has been shown in the market for butter here, with some open price slashes suggested, although this is by no means general. Portland alone has remained around the high point.

There remained a slow tone for light and medium hens and strength for colored fowls and for young stuff. Demand, however, was centered in the lower priced offerings insofar as the ultimate consumer was concerned.

First real quality strawberries of the season have been received in Portland from Florin, Calif. A crate was reported in.

Once again receding prices were showing in the market for California asparagus with sales down to $1.50-1.75 pyramid for the best stuff. A small supply of Hood River arrived and sold $3.50.

Increasing supplies of field grown rhubarb suggested reason for the cut in price here. Sales were being made at 65c per 15-pound box. Some hot-house stock was offered, but quality was indifferent.

California cabbage was selling at 2c lb.

Tillamook Cheese Going To Jobs

WASHINGTON, March 23.—(AP)—The federal surplus relief corporation announced the purchase today of 1,133,000 pounds of American cheese for needy unemployed.

Firms from which purchases will be made include the Tillamook County Creamery association, Tillamook, Ore., 200,000 pounds.

New Dance Band At Fairgrounds

Of interest to dance lovers is the announcement that Dinty Moore will open the Fairgrounds pavilion tomorrow night. Mr. Moore says that his organization had a very successful run at the fairgrounds last year and with the larger and better band he is prepared to take care of even greater crowds this year. The new nine-piece orchestra will present several special features on the opening night.

WHEAT BROKERS STRIKE WHEN BUSINESS SCARCE

CHICAGO, March 23.—(AP)—A brief walkout of brokers halted action today in the wheat pit of the Chicago board of trade for the first time since the world war. It was a gesture of dissatisfaction over scarcity of business.

Here for Convention—Dr. Walter L. Van Nuys of Portland arrived in Medford on the Oregonian this morning to address the Sunday school convention which opens here this afternoon at the Presbyterian church. Dr. Van Nuys is to give the main address at the gathering.

REVISED AIRMAIL BILL WOULD BAR TAINTED BIDDERS

master general to determine whether bidders were responsible is amended so as to grant an appeal to the interstate commerce commission, which would have final authority.

Four transcontinental routes would be provided instead of three as formerly carried the mail.

Companies having claims against the government from cancellation of their contracts by Postmaster General Farley in February would be permitted to seek redress in the court of claims, a year being allowed for that purpose.

The revised bill still carries the controversial clause requiring that private mail planes carry army pilots. This has been attacked by private companies on the ground that no opportunity would be afforded for training their pilots, and that service to passengers would suffer.

Sen. Hastings (R. Del.) told the senate the administration cancelled the air mail contracts "to add to the prestige of the new deal," but the people of the country were not convinced there was any fraud involved. The new chairman of the Republican senatorial campaign committee, assailing the whole administration program in replying to a speech last Tuesday by Postmaster General Farley at a Delaware Democratic rally asserted "twelve major" platform promises had not been kept.

Cancellation Flayed.

Turning to the air mail controversy Hastings shouted: "You can't justify cancellation of those contracts. Mr. Farley tried to make the people believe the government lost great sums of money in the carrying of the air mail, while at the same time his assistants were appearing before committees urging a million dollars be added to the appropriations."

Hastings referred to the 1930 meeting of private operators with Postmaster General Brown, at which the administration alleges they connived to "parcel out" the contracts, and said a similar meeting was held in the Farley regime—to "distribute the appropriations made for that particular service."

A reading of Farley's testimony before the Black investigating committee, he said, showed he "didn't know enough about his own job to determine what his power was."

FREED AFTER NIGHT IN JAIL

Disorderly conduct charges, brought against William Gibbs McAdoo, Jr., son of the California senator, and his companion, Sarah Lummers, were dropped in magistrate's court after the pair spent the night in a New York jail. The proprietress of a restaurant, on whose complaint the two were locked up, refused to press the charges. She testified, however, that McAdoo refused to pay a $6.50 check after he and Miss Lummers had dined. Miss Lummers and McAdoo (right) are pictured in court. (Associated Press Photo)

CANDLE LIGHT SALE BY HUMANE SOCIETY SET FOR SATURDAY

The annual "candle light" sale of the Jackson County Humane society will open tomorrow on West Main street at 9 a. m. in the offices formerly occupied by the Southern Building and Loan association.

A display of household articles and clothing, ranging from the baby's needs to sports attire for father, was attracting many people to the windows today. Cooking utensils, traveling bags, hats, straws and felts, golf clubs, golf bag and balls, skis, garden umbrellas and a knitting machine were among some of the major attractions.

Many beautiful linens will also be offered at the sale and many pairs of shoes, "brand new," for all members of the family.

The knitting machine, which has never been used, will be offered at an extremely low price and all instructions will accompany the machine.

HIGHWAY BEAUTY PLAN MEANS JOBS

PORTLAND, March 23.—(AP)—A highway beautification program for Oregon, in which federal money will be used under the emergency relief administration, will be started soon.

The work will consist of planting of native shrubs and flowers along the highways, rounding off high banks and building retaining walls where necessary.

The canyon road entrance to Portland will be the first highway to be so improved, and this will serve as a model for future work.

A. W. Martin, head of the ERA planning division here, said it is not yet known how much money will be available.

The program consists, however, he said, "in giving jobs to everyone in need of work, and the work will be limited to the number of men in need of employment."

CRATER HIGHWAY BIDS THROWN OUT

PORTLAND, Ore., March 23.—(AP)—Four Oregon highway projects were awarded, bids on one were rejected, and two were referred for further consideration at the afternoon session here yesterday.

To Edelsen-Weygandt Co., Portland, with a bid of $149,922, went the contract for the Milwaukie unit of the Portland-Oregon City super-highway.

The same company, with a bid of $54,397, was awarded the grading and paving work on the Newport section of the Oregon Coast highway.

All bids on the Agate-Little Butte Creek section of the Crater Lake highway were rejected by the commission. Northwest Roads Co., Portland, was low at $59,838.

RUINS SEARCHED FOR JAPANESE KIN

TOKYO, March 23.—(AP)—Grief-stricken thousands groped amidst the charred ruins of their homes at Hirokoda today searching for missing relatives and belongings after the conflagration which wiped out six square miles of the city.

Reliable sources placed the dead at 900 and injured at 2,000, with additional casualties feared as a result of exposure. About 23,000 homes were razed in the city, one of the largest in Japan.

The Japanese newspaper Nichi Nichi expressed the belief that several hundred missing persons had been drowned when flames had driven crowds to the waterfront.
