AND THEY LIVED HAPPILY—

They're just plain Mr. and Mrs. Sigvard Bernadotte now. He was the former Prince Sigvard of Sweden and she was Erika Patzek, German film actress. They were wed in London but the bride didn't become a princess, because the prince defied the Swedish royal family to marry her and gave up his princely rights. They are shown just after the ceremony. "We are very happy," they said as they left London. (Associated Press Photo)

Much has been done to spread the gospel in Brazil—they now have an autonomous church with Dr. Tarbaux a veteran Southern Methodist missionary as their first bishop while a Brazilian successor is preparing for this work. They are carrying on splendidly and are happy in their own church but need and desire the help and fellowship of our missionaries as of course it will be some time before they are able to assume all financial and educational responsibilities, the program showed.

Several special features were given at the close of the program. Misses Lucille and Cherry Sells gave a clever little skit, Mrs. Hubler and Mrs. Cave each accompanied by Mrs. Thomas and Miss Cherry Sells accompanied by Miss Adabee Sells sang several solos, both sentimental and sacred, which were much enjoyed by all.
