

HUGE JOB AHEAD FOR MEDFORD IN STAGING JUBILEE

Wide Scope of Activities and Responsibilities Stressed at Meeting of Committees — Program Opens June 3

The wide scope of activities, the possibilities and responsibilities of Oregon's Diamond Jubilee celebration here next June 3 to 9 were definitely outlined at last night's meeting of the jubilee celebration committees at the Chamber of Commerce.

For the past year general interest throughout the state has been growing but as yet complete realization of the seriousness of the project has not been apparent in Medford. This community has accepted for itself a heavy responsibility in acting as host city for the state and entire northwest in this official observance of Oregon's 75th anniversary of statehood, it was pointed out at the committee meeting.

Pioneer Tribute Basis
While a holiday spirit will largely enter into jubilee week, the true inspiration has a much deeper significance in the paying of tribute to the hardy pioneers of long ago who battled innumerable hardships in making statehood possible and working for the continued development of the commonwealth after this was accomplished.

As a result of determined pioneer efforts, Oregon today is one of the foremost states in the union, providing perfect inspiration to observe its 75th anniversary of statehood, as planned for Medford. Thousands of visitors are expected to take part in the celebration and to pay fitting tribute to the pioneers now living and to the memories of those gone.

Opens June 3
Jubilee week will be officially opened Sunday, June 3, with religious observances through the co-operation of Medford churches, each of which, it is planned, will hold special services that morning, significant of the great part religion has in Oregon history. A union service at all churches is planned for Sunday evening, with the sermon delivered by a special speaker who will further emphasize the integral part the early settlers took in building a new country.

Queen Mother of the Jubilee
The Queen Mother of the Jubilee will occur Monday with a fitting ceremony in paying tribute to pioneer motherhood, so important in Oregon history. The Queen Mother, herself a pioneer, will be representative of the courageous women who came to Oregon in the face of hardships. A children's pageant will be presented in connection with the coronation.

Education to be Stressed
Recognition of education in Oregon history will be made on Tuesday when a symposium on education will be the feature of the day, taking jubilee visitors to the Southern Oregon Normal school at Ashland, where members of the normal school faculty and other permanent educators will provide a program of intense interest.

Highway associations and travel organizations of Oregon, California, Washington and British Columbia will participate in Trail day, scheduled for Wednesday. Motor caravans will be arriving throughout the forenoon from different parts of the coast states. Their arrival will denote the vast improvements the years have brought to transportation since the days of the creaking covered wagons and rumbly stagecoaches.

The caravan of visitors will be entertained during the day and that evening the first official jubilee dance will be held.

Governors to Come
Governors' day on Thursday is expected to bring governors from several states to Medford and in the forenoon will present the Pioneer's parade, for which extensive preparations are being made. The parade will be one of the most elaborate of any ever attempted in the state.

Pioneers appearing in the procession will be honor guests at a special luncheon shortly after noon. Celebration visitors Thursday afternoon will gather at Jacksonville, where a noted speaker will address pioneers and visitors on the lawn of the old court house. The speaker, no doubt, will be one of the visiting governors.

To Exhibit Relics
Pioneer exhibits in Jacksonville will be open to the public, as they will be throughout the entire week, and visitors will be shown the numerous spots of historical interest in the town. There will be personally conducted tours of these points.

Friday will be devoted to agriculture, giving recognition to the growth and development of agriculture in the state and its importance in the rebuilding of Oregon. There are good possibilities of Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace will be the speaker of the day. A tri-county agriculture parade is scheduled for Friday, as well as a basket picnic dinner in the city park, involving numerous details yet to be announced.

An old time dance, featuring the steps which were in vogue in pioneer days, will be on the program Friday night.

Climax on Saturday

on Saturday, with plans also made for an event significant of the future. The jubilee week will reach its climax with a huge fireworks display and ceremonies followed by a grand ball.

The events listed are exclusive of the big feature of the celebration, the pageant, "Oyer-Un-Gon" (Land of Plenty). The production, faithfully reviewing the events leading up to the establishment of Oregon statehood and following development, will have a cast in excess of 500 people. The pageant was especially written by Prof. Angus Bowmer of the Southern Oregon Normal school and will soon be ready for early rehearsals.

Plans are rapidly progressing for a big industrial exhibit in the Hatacatorium. The exhibit will be open Monday evening and display exhibits of Oregon manufacturers from all parts of the state. There will be entertainment at this attraction every night. Numerous other attractions are also planned, including golf tournaments, trapshooting, fly casting, rabbit shows, carnivals and concessions.

50,000 Visitors Expected
It is thought easily possible that 50,000 people will be attracted to Medford during jubilee week, but the success of the celebration, committeemen point out, is entirely up to the enthusiastic co-operation of Medford and Jackson county citizens. Medford has been designated by the state legislature as being the host city, a responsibility which places this city before the entire state in giving Oregon a celebration planned to be one of the most successful in history.

In a short time Medford citizens and merchants will be called upon for co-operation, either to serve on committees or to aid in the underwriting of the jubilee celebration. With definite plans outlined and only two months left before June, considerable work must be accomplished to assure the complete success desired.

ROADS QUESTION THOMAS' ORDERS ON GRAIN RATES

SALEM, March 27.—(AP)—Attacking validity of two orders of Public Utility Commissioner Thomas in grain rate cases, the Oregon-Washington Railroad & Navigation company, Northern Pacific, Southern Pacific and Great Northern Railroads today filed a complaint in circuit court against the commissioner and a large number of grain shippers to enjoin collection of overcharges and enforcement of the orders.

The court is asked to annul and set aside both orders, to enjoin Thomas and Attorney General Van Winkle from starting prosecutions to enforce the orders, to enjoin collection of claims or penalties, to enjoin from using the orders as evidence in proof of liability, to enjoin from proceeding to collect overcharges and also to enjoin from interfering with the railroad companies in collecting their charges based on interstate commerce commission rates.

The orders dealt mainly with claims by shippers that they should have an intrastate rate on grain moving from an interior point in Oregon to Portland and from there by rail to some other state or by boat to a foreign country. The carriers contended that such shipments come under interstate rates fixed by the interstate commerce commission. Other classes involved in the order, but a very small per cent of the whole, the carriers allege, were overcharges on claims for grain milled in transit, and for diversion and reassignment privileges.

UNION SERVICE ON GOOD FRIDAY

Eight pastors and musicians from five of the churches will co-operate in carrying forward the great theme of the crucifixion of Jesus in a reverent and impressive presentation of the events falling within those hours so long ago, on Golgotha.

Everyone is invited to spend as much as possible of these hours in this commemoration of the death of our Lord.
