

FAST GRAPPLING SLATED TONIGHT ON ARMORY MAT

Wolfe and Hansen in Hour's Match — Anderson and Thompson Furnish Other Half of Double Main Event

Promoter Mack Lillard will spread a three-match wrestling feast for Medford fans at the Armory tonight, with Les Wolfe, Texas, and Charlie Hansen, Seattle, and Swede Anderson, Medford, and Tommy Thompson, as the main course, while a pair of young novices will serve as appetizers.

Wolfe, whose popularity here has been undimmed by a pair of losses to Al Karasick, will be taking on considerable weight in his match with Hansen, but declares he will show the dynamic Dane that Texas provides no set-ups in the grunt and grime game. They will tug and heave for an hour unless one or the other secures a pair of falls.

Anderson faces Thompson. In the other half of the double main-event card, Medford's former football star, Swede Anderson, will meet a newcomer to local matdom in the person of Tommy Thompson of St. Louis. Thompson comes with a record of victories in the middle-west and is said to have a great assortment of fancy holds.

Anderson, whose training has been mainly supervised by Ray Fyfe during their spare time as fireman, is a powerful athlete, able to break many holds by sheer strength. Although he lacks the polish of more experienced grapplers, he boasts a terrible Sonnenberg which reduces even the most skilled opponent to helplessness.

Henry Gunter, inexperienced Grants Pass youth, who tips the beam at 180, will pit his weight and brawn against the tricks and knowledge of holds possessed by John Shaw, 145-pounder from the same city, in a three-round match scheduled for three minutes in each round. Shaw declares he can stay with the big boy for the three rounds despite the difference in weight.

Tonight's show, which opens at 8:30, will again be on a first-come, first-served basis, with two sections reserved for early ticket buyers. The promoter has been angling for an appearance here of Ted "King Kong" Cox, colorful behemoth of the mat who has proved a big attraction in the larger cities. There are also a couple of newcomers awaiting a chance to show here, which Lillard expects to give them in the near future.

CANTONWINE 'OUT' AFTER CRAB HOLD

PORTLAND, Ore., March 29.—(AP)—One roughly applied Boston crab hold finished the wrestling bout of Bob Kruse and Howard Cantonwine here last night when Cantonwine was unable to continue.

Kruse, 212, Oswego, was unable to apply his usual writhlocks but gained the Boston crab hold over Cantonwine, 230, Des Moines, Iowa, in 31 minutes and 14 seconds.

Better wrestling gained Jack Forsgren, 210, Vancouver, B. C., a decision in a three-round bout with Ed Helwig, 208, San Francisco. Charlie Hansen, 214, Seattle, took a one-fall bout from Danny MacDonald, 230, San Diego, in a rough bout.

The Indians walloped the Beavers yesterday, 6 to 3, giving them a 4-to-1 margin in the series.

KLEIN STUDIES TIMING WHEN BATTING SLUMPS

LOS ANGELES, March 29.—(AP)—Worried over his batting slump (a slump to Mr. Klein is when he hits less than .310), Chuck Klein, hitting hope of the Cubs, is studying timing. "When you get in a slump," said Chuck, "don't worry. Study your timing and all will be well."

John Kaminski entered the United States from Poland during the Civil war, but just received citizenship papers at Houghton, Mich.

HORNBY REGAINS POSSESSION COWS

A. J. Hornby and wife, Eagle Point district farmers, were given possession of a herd of cows held by the Farm Properties, Inc., by a circuit court jury verdict filed late yesterday.

Hornby sued for possession of the stock. The verdict placed their value at $240 and granted "exclusive and immediate possession." The jury's finding also held that the Farm Properties, Inc., wrongfully held possession of the cows.

The testimony in the case, which lasted two days, was highly involved and concerned issuance of mortgages and notes.

The case originated a year ago and covered transactions from 1930 to 1932.

OREGON WALNUT OUTLOOK BRIGHT

PORTLAND, March 29.—(P)—A survey of the industry today indicates Oregon has, on the basis of current ideas, prospects for a 1934 output of walnuts considerably in excess of any yield yet taken in the state.

Examination of bearing wood during the past week showed unusually heavy crop prospects in Oregon and Washington, it was said, although definite ideas as to actual tonnage will not be available for many weeks.

For the first time in several years there will be no carry-over of walnuts from one crop year to another. Another cause of enthusiasm is the cleanup of domestic holdings of nut meats. For the first time in many seasons, nut meats are being imported, mostly from China.
