

5 COMPANIES CCC WILL COME FROM ROCKWELL FIELD

Five companies of Civilian Conservation Corps men are coming to the Medford CCC district from the Rockwell field district, San Diego, to be stationed at camps here, according to information received at the local district headquarters today. The date of their arrival has not yet been announced.

The new companies will be stationed at Camp Tye, on U. & C. land; at Camp Steamboat, in the Umpqua national forest; at Camp China Flat, in the Siskiyou national forest; at Camp Tiller, in the Umpqua national forest, and at Camp Wineglass, in Crater Lake national park.

Company 1922, now located at Camp Lower Pistol River, and company 1953, now at Camp Sebastian, will be transferred to the Vancouver district in Washington. Company 1952 will be at the Wyeth camp site, which is in a state park, information received here states. No camp will be stationed at Cape Sebastian during the summer.

The Camp Kerby company 1746 is to be transferred to Pistol River, and company 1954, now at Evans Creek, Lake national park, company 956, which has been located at Garberry Creek, has been ordered to Dog Lake, in the Fremont national forest, and the Elk Creek company 1747 is going to Union Creek, where the camp will be known as Upper Ruge.

Rand Ranger Station camp, company 1950, will remain at the present camp site, or move to Cold Springs, in the same section.

Other camps in the new Medford district, which will not be moved from their winter sites are Indian Creek, Oak Knoll and Hill in northern California. Applegate camp in the Rogue River national forest, Devil's Flat and Melrose, formerly in the Eugene district.

Company 984, Port Orford, will be located near Agnes, but will probably retain the name of Port Orford, headquarters officials stated.

CHRIST'S CRUCIFIXION IS COMMEMORATED IN RITES BY CATHOLICS

ROME, March 30.—(AP)—Pope Pius aided personally today in the commemoration of Jesus Christ's crucifixion by assisting at a pre-sanctified mass in the Sistine chapel.

The celebrant of the mass was Cardinal Pacelli and it was performed in the presence of 15 cardinals.

Elsewhere in Rome's many Catholic churches, black-robed priests prostrated themselves before bare altars and prayed long and earnestly in mournful commemoration of Christ's sacrifice by death for mankind.

The basilicas and churches were stripped of ornament. Tapers and candles were removed. Drapes of deep purple and somber black covered the sacred images. No masses were said nor sacrifices offered.

The ceremony, which took place in all Roman churches, was called the "pre-sanctified" because officiating priests partook in one kind only of a eucharist which was consecrated yesterday.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 30. (AP)—The condition of Howard W. Biskeslee, Associated Press science editor, who underwent an operation for appendicitis here Wednesday, was reported today as "fair." Physicians believed that the operation was a success.

GRANGE MEMBERS, NOT WALL STREET, URGED SALES TAX

MARSHFIELD, Ore.—(Sp.)—The widely publicized statements of State Grange Master Ray Gill that "Big Business" and the "hidden hand of Wall Street" secured adoption of Oregon's sales tax law, got a wallop straight between the eyes here today.

State Representative J. H. McCloskey of Coos county revealed that he worked and voted for the measure at the last special legislative session on the urgent request of "34 officers and members of the various Coos county Granges," backed up by similar requests from Parent-Teacher organizations, school board members and chambers of commerce.

In a statement addressed to the School Relief and Property Tax Reduction League of Oregon, McCloskey wrote: "If Mr. Gill considers the various Grange lodges of Coos county, many of which have already passed resolutions favoring the sales tax, and our Coos County Tax league, our county court and many other local organizations as 'tools of Wall Street' then I will have to plead guilty. It was at the request of so many of our leading Coos county Grange members and other citizens and taxpayers that I worked for the bill.

"Many of our schools in Coos county are suffering. The teachers are unable to dispose of their warrants, and with our taxes over 60 per cent delinquent, I fear many of the schools will have to shorten the term or close entirely if the sales tax is defeated in May.

"While I don't believe the sales tax measure is a perfect tax bill, I do think that as an emergency measure it will be a life saver to the property taxpayers of Oregon."

Among the Coos county Granges that have taken stands for the sales tax and against the recommendations of State Grange Master Gill, who leads the opposition to the school relief and property tax reduction measure, are included: The Coquille Grange, Pomona Grange, Myrtle Point Grange, the Broadbent Grange and Most Western Grange.

SURVEY DISCLOSES UNEVEN BURDEN IN SUPPORT SCHOOLS

McMINNVILLE, Ore.—(Sp.)—That the majority of Oregon's urban families who have children in the public schools are paying no property tax, upon which schools and education of children depend, is shown by an exhaustive survey of the public schools of McMinnville, which has just been completed.

The findings of the survey closely parallel a similar survey made in Jackson county recently where it was shown that 97 per cent of school operating costs are paid by property taxes and again that less than half the school patrons pay taxes for school support.

The ratio of home ownership is large in both districts. It is believed that the percentage figures reflect the general situation in all the larger communities of Oregon, including Portland where the student cost is $72.94 a year based upon the average daily attendance of 47,318 school children of the 54,000 registered. Total enrollment of all schools exceeds 300,000.

In releasing the figures for publication today, James E. Burdett, president of the State Tax league and a prominent McMinnville attorney, said: "The plain facts clearly show that
