WOMAN INJURED WHEN AUTOS HIT IN SAMS VALLEY

Mrs. Ed Morgan, 24, of the Sams Valley district, is in the Community hospital receiving treatment for four severe fractures of the hip and pelvic bones, as a result of a head-on collision between the Morgan and Ryan autos near the John Dugan ranch in that community late Saturday night, which also brought injuries to Basil Bigham of Beagle.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan and Basil Bigham were riding in one car, returning from Medford, when they met Homer and Lizzie Ryan of Table Rock, who were returning from a party at Sams Valley, between 10:30 and 11 o'clock. Morgan and Ryan were driving when the machines crashed in a head-on collision, demolishing the Morgan car and throwing the occupants from the auto. Mr. Morgan and Ryan and sister were not injured, according to report from Sams Valley today.

Bigham, who sustained a severe laceration of the left leg, ran from the scene of the collision to his home, more than a mile distant, to inform relatives. During the flight he suffered such a loss of blood that he was rushed to Medford for treatment, but was returned to his home yesterday.

The Morgan car, which was demolished in the crash, was hurled into the air and turned a complete flip-flop before hitting the ground. It was reported. Neither driver had seen the other car approaching because of defective lights, it was stated at Sams Valley.

Mrs. Morgan, who was not believed seriously injured at the time, was not brought to the hospital here until yesterday, when examination showed that her hip bones and pelvis were badly crushed. She was reported resting comfortably, however, this afternoon.

John Bruce, 20, a CCC worker, of the pioneer parade" will be a leading feature of Oregon's Diamond Jubilee here in June, motored to Yreka, Cal., this afternoon to contact the interested people of that locality, regarding their entries to be made in the parade.

Professor William C. Jones of the department of economics and business administration at Willamette university, was speaker today at the luncheon of the Kiwanis club at the Hotel Medford. He chose as his subject, "Practical Politics," and emphasized the need for more interest in the precincts of the west in the selection of precinct committeemen.

In the east, he explained, the committeemen are the political leaders and much care is given to their selection by the major parties. They have the power to, and do, deliver the vote.

C. W. Walls of Portland and George Coddling, district attorney, were guests of the club today.

Rialto Star

With Bebe Daniels heading the supporting cast, which also includes Doris Kenyon, Onslow Stevens, Thelma Todd and many other famous film players, "Counsellor at Law" starring John Barrymore, opens at the Rialto theater.

Scandals Scoring Hit At Craterian

Done in the spirit of a Broadway show, but encompassing many points which the wider range of the screen permits, "George White's Scandals," at the Craterian Theater, marks the first of a new type of musical in that it starts right out with the complete show and forgets all about the "build-up"—rehearsals, etc. And the result is a much faster, more enjoyable musical entertainment than any musical show we've had here for a long time.

A trifling ray in spots, vivid in song, gags, comedy situations and spectacle, the Scandals is full of the atmosphere that the title suggests. Like a legitimate revue, it is a parade of 15 or 20 sketches, all of which are held together by a slight story plot. It devotes itself exclusively to the preservation of the peculiar color, glamour and entertainment associated with George White's stage extravaganzas. It sings and dances throughout, interspersing specialty sequences and, flashing back every now and then to accepted picture-making formula, quickly picks up and drops the story premise.

GRIST OF DRUNKS FINED BY COURT

Several arrests charging drunkenness in a public place, were made by city police over the week-end, and Jones Wade, alias Mike Tager of the Talent relief station is held in the city jail for investigation, the result of having some property, allegedly stolen, in his possession.
