

MEDFORD MAIL TRIBUNE

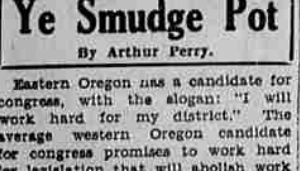

"Everyone in Southern Oregon Reads the Mail Tribune"
Daily Except Saturday
Published by MEDFORD PRINTING CO.
25-27-29 N. Fir St. Phone 15

Subscription Rates
By Mail—In Advance
Daily, per year, $5.00
Daily, six months, 2.75
Daily, one month, .40

Official paper of the City of Medford, Oregon, under Act of March 8, 1919.
MEMBER OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

MEMBER OF UNITED PRESS
MEMBER OF AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

Advertising Representatives
M. C. HODGENSON & COMPANY
Office in New York, Chicago, Detroit, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Seattle, Portland.

Ye Smudged Pot
By Arthur Perry.
Eastern Oregon was a candidate for congress, with the slogan: "I will work hard for my district."

The Galashevks have started showing up in apring wash dresses, that their Maws washed.
The political center of Oregon is in Portland, but it should be under a nut tree, in the Looon lake district of Douglas county.

Strawberry shortcake is on the market. The chefs are up to their old trick of drowning it, 11 square inches of biscuit, with one (1) strawberry.
A number of farmers towed yesterday, whence they had been chased by Wall street. Wall street is always chasing the farmer, where he wants to go—never into the brush, or around the barn.

PIONEER MENTAL ANGUISH
(Pendleton Past regional)
Yet the sheriff thought he was the right man and went for him. When he found him and on his way back to Baker, he was quite sure he was the right man but it turned out that he was the wrong one after all and so they had to let him go. They paid his fare on the stage to Pendleton, whither he arrived Wednesday and he talks of suing somebody now for damages to his ears by frost on the journey.

There is no use wasting any sympathy on the Arizona lady who kissed her bulldog, and caught something that even a doctor can't pronounce.
A young man returned from college yesterday, without any Communicable ideas conduced on his person.

The Comanche Indian yelling on East Main was only a 17-year boy whose efforts to put the breweries out of business failed. It developed that the bartender had hit him in the right place—but with the bar towel instead of his foot.
May 18 is primary election day, and so far it does not conflict with any bridge games.

Bandit John Dillinger is now reported running around the middle west with a woman, who did a poor job of dyeing her hair, red. It is now known what will cause Mr. Dillinger to surrender, but not what sheriff will get the credit for capturing him.
Between the end of the bowling season, and the start of the fishing season, a few husbands are busy making gardens.

10 years ago next month, Mr. Donald Clark hauled off and hit a golf ball, that hit Mr. Del Getchell in the tail-end of his flight.
The secretary of the treasury for California still reports cash pouring in from the Sales Tax, and citizens of Oregon are still writing letters to the Portland papers telling of its failure, and denying that the cash is pouring in. Either the California officials is a poor adder, or the Oregonians contradicting his figures, don't know what they are talking about. Californians note a reduction in their taxes, and hold to the delusion that their Sales Tax is responsible. Somebody is fibbing—probably the California state treasurer, and the Californians whose taxes are less.

GLENN YVONNE Cosmetic Special. Powder, lipstick, rouge, $3 value for 98c. Woods Drug Co., Main and Central.
Be correctly corraled in an Artist Model by Ethelwyn B. Hoffmann.

3 Midget Photos 10c Peasley Studio.

A Military Campaign

SO Oregon is going military. General Martin will lead the Democratic forces in the gubernatorial primary, and General Ulysses MacAlexander the Republican. These two military gentlemen are close personal friends, and both have excellent war records, but there the similarity ends. They are as far apart in attainments and temperament as the poles.

General Martin is essentially an executive and administrator. During the war he was commander at Camp Grant in Illinois, and later was in command of the canal zone. At the same time General MacAlexander was in active service in France, where he made such a brilliant and dramatic record, that he came to be known as the "Rock of the Marne."

General Martin is essentially the level headed, conservative, business man type. General MacAlexander is essentially the impetuous, aggressive, fighting type. General Martin is nothing of the "Mr. Milquetoast," he is a man of courage and character, but he lacks fire and color. The "Rock of the Marne" is the personification of both.

If both should win,—which we regard as doubtful—the ensuing campaign would be an interesting study in contrasts, and probably one of the strangest political contests ever staged in Oregon. Congressman Martin would have the better of it on his close association with the Roosevelt administration, and his sound record in congress; but MacAlexander would be miles ahead of him, in the punch and verve and color of his campaign.

In his primary announcement the Republican general declares he will conduct a dignified, sane campaign, free from personalities and hokum. It will be free from hokum all right, but it will be interesting to see how long the Rock of the Marne, can keep from grabbing his battle flag, jumping over the breast-works, and charging the opposition, with both fists flying.

And personally we hope that is what he does. As we see it, such a course would be his only chance of going places. The people of Oregon are fed up with professional politicians and windbags of the demagogic stripe. A double barreled scrapper, throwing all purely political considerations to the winds, and speaking his mind on all subjects at all times, would be a welcome and refreshing relief,—a type that very well, from its sheer exuberance and novelty might carry all before it.

Putting a plug hat, ear muffs, and a muzzle on this hard bitten old warrior, would justify an immediate appeal to the S. P. C. A. Let him get away from his self appointed political advisers—conduct his campaign himself in his own way, and he will have a chance. But let him blindly conform to the conventional partisan ritual, and he is beaten before he starts!

Is Secy. Wallace a Red?

APPARENTLY no one pulled the leg of Dr. Wirt of Gary, Indiana. The erudite educator did the pulling himself. At least it now appears, that Dr. Wirt based his charge that the brain trust was deliberately going Bolshevik, partly on the statement of Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, in his world affairs pamphlet "America Must Choose", that the future course of this country could not be definitely predicated.

Presumably Dr. Wirt assumed that Secretary Wallace regarded communism as a possible outcome. This is certainly putting something into this interesting pamphlet which is not there. Secretary Wallace does maintain the future of this country is in doubt, and he outlines three probable courses, but in none of them is communism considered.

He predicts either extreme internationalism, involving free trade, and world cooperation for peace; extreme nationalism in harmony with the present trend of world psychology, involving a continued high tariff and complete political and economic isolation; or a middle ground between the two. Personally he favors extreme internationalism, but he believes the final selection will be a mean between the two—adopting a route in the middle of the road.

SECRETARY WALLACE is extremely radical in his views, but he isn't red. In fact we regard his treatise as one of the most intelligent and stimulating analyses of the present social and economic situation, that has thus far been offered.

More than that. It gives the clearest picture of what the New Deal promises to be, and what sacrifices and political readjustments it involves, we have seen since President Roosevelt's inauguration.

But it no more establishes the charge that the brain trusters are boring from within to overthrow the government, than it establishes the fact that Chief Justice Hughes is a Bolshevik because he doesn't shave.

As time goes on there are going to be a great many more Dr. Wirts. As the New Deal develops the opposition is going to be more and more under the leadership of those who see RED!

TIN BOX SHERIFF DIES IN GOTHAM
NEW YORK, April 3.—(AP)—Former Sheriff Thomas M. Farley, who furnished the nation with the "tin box" episode of the 1932 Georgia prosecution of the city graft inquiry, died today at Fifth Avenue hospital.

BEER GARDEN FOR BERRYDALE SOON
HOWARD DISTRICT, April 3.—(Sp.)—Building activities are numerous in this section, with three structures being constructed. A beer garden is being built at the intersection of the old and new Pacific highway.

Adolph Schwammel, outstanding football tackle on the Pacific coast last season, has signed with the Green Bay Packers for the next pro season. He was one of Oregon State's "Iron men."

Personal Health Service

By William Brady, M.D.
Signed letters pertaining to personal health and hygiene not to disease diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Letters should be brief and written in ink. Owing to the large number of letters received only a few can be answered. No reply can be made to queries not conforming to instructions. Address: Dr. William Brady, 265 El Camino, Beverly Hills, Cal.

HOW LONG SINCE YOU HAD YOUR OIL CHANGED?

Itching without apparent cause and irritation of the skin are commonly due to lack of oil. Skin oil is called sebum, and in health is secreted by the sebaceous glands which are nearly as numerous as the sweat glands and generally pour their shaft through the same opening as that of the sweat gland. These common mouths of the sweat and oil glands are not "pores"—nothing is or can possibly be absorbed into the system through these openings. Secretion or excretion is a glandular function which cannot be reversed.

Some persons have an idea that it is not natural to oil the skin or to use cosmetics which serve instead of the natural sebum to keep the skin soft, smooth, warm and pliable and to keep the complexion bright and clear. It may not be "natural," but neither is the use of soap and water or other detergents which wash off the natural skin oil and leave the skin dry and harsh. Nor is it natural to live in overheat and excessively dried out inclosures as we do most of the year. Nor is it natural to exclude as much as possible the sunlight and air from contact with the skin. Nor is it natural to expose the skin constantly to the grime of civilization, with its chemical irritants.

All these little jokes aside, in my opinion many persons bathe much too often for the good of health and comfort. Bathing becomes a kind of nutty obsession with them. After all, it seems that the nastiest characters one encounters are likely to be physically the most immaculate. Seriously I always get a little suspicious of any one who is too painfully or too obviously fresh from the bath.

The less clothing one wears the less washing one requires in any case. The better the ventilation of the dwelling or place of occupation the less washing the body requires. People who suffer with itching or irritation of the skin after a bath should not bathe. A complete wet wash is rarely necessary for cleanliness anyway. If they must bathe, the bath should be tepid or cool, not hot, and the shorter the better. No soap, or the least soap the better. Instead use cold cream or fresh olive oil or any fresh vegetable oil for cleansing. Following the bath immediately dry and anoint the skin sparingly with a bit of this cream: Lanolin 2 drams Boroglycerid 1 dram Cold cream made from white petrolatum 6 drams This should be placed in a collapsible tube, and a pea-size portion applied at a time.

If the itching is marked two or three grains of menthol may be incorporated in the cream. Many young women who use various creams and cosmetics do not realize that they are only adding to their complexion troubles, for the natural oil secreted by the skin is enough to keep it in the finest condition, provided other things applied in the toilet do not irritate. Young skins generally benefit from plenty of soap and water scrubbing. Older persons, whose skin oil secretion is likely to be less copious, require some oily cosmetic. Perhaps the best is plain cold cream made according to the Pharmacopoeia formula by the druggist. Canned "creams" are less wholesome for the skin.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
Driving Gerns Hitler and Von. I have heard that ordinary rosin or resin as used by plumbers is beneficial for nose, throat and bronchial affections when melted and inhaled. Does it tend to dry up mucus and drive germs into inner recesses, or is it healing.—Mrs. S. F.
Answer—Gerns may be killed or prevented from multiplying, but can't be driven either and you, in, out, up or down. Inhaling rosin vapor has no harmful effect, and I doubt it would be of any benefit.

Every Man and His Wife Are In Doubt I have a boy and a girl both of whom I would like to have advised regarding the facts of life and reproduction. My wife and I are at a loss just how to do this. Can you suggest pamphlets or books to help us or perhaps for the children themselves.—H. H.
Answer—I have a letter I'm glad to send to any boy who asks for sex instruction and incloses stamped envelope bearing his address. A graduate nurse, a medical woman, or a girl's physical director or teacher could best instruct your daughter. (Copyright, 1934, John P. Dille Co.)

Ed Note: Readers wishing to communicate with Dr. Brady should send letters direct to Dr. William Brady, M. D., 265 E. Camino, Beverly Hills, Cal.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY BY O. O. McIntyre
NEW YORK, April 3.—Paul Block, dividing time between running a great advertising agency and publishing a group of new papers, has become a near neighbor. I see him frequently pulling up in his car or scurrying away to his office. He seems to get much out of life.

A rather shy gentleman, he flung himself into a career that has been largely farmed out to sharing his success with associates who helped him on his way up. Everybody at some time or other goes to Paul Block for guidance out of the morass. And he's never out. In his middle 50's, he is a product of Elmira, N. Y., and swamped in petty affairs, took a lot of the world's cuffings before he found his niche. This probably accounts for his deep reservoir of sympathy. In appearance he strongly resembles James M. Barrie, even to the robin bright eyes.

Quick, fluent and moody, he nevertheless broods over the affairs of men like a cloud of grave wisdom. Now and then he circulates at heavy expense a signed editorial expressing his contempt for a current injustice. His relaxation is the theater, there being few first nights he is not well down front.

Recently at a private single-lingie I had a close-up of the great he-man of the screen, Clark Gable. He seems entirely unaffected, but rather bewildered by sudden recognition. There are still evidences of his knock-about career in the rubber plants and oil fields. One imagines he has a pronounced distaste for the dinner jacket. I forgot to ask if he knew Percy Hammond, but he likely does, for Gable, O. O.'s native birthplace, must be the sort of community where everybody knows the other fellow. Incidentally, the titan-haired Mrs. Gable is not rough on the eyes, my masters!

Marshall Nielan and Blanche Sweet did not toss off their friendship with the matrimonial yoke. The director and one-time star live within a few blocks of each other in mid-town and often lunch together, and neither enters upon a new enterprise without mutual consultation.

How much more pleasant it is than to be linked in misery like a married couple I know. For 19 months they have occupied the same apartment without a word between them. During this farcical and nerve-straining stretch, each has formed other attachments, and before going out evenings the maid informs each where the other is going so they will not be thrown together. Yet night after night they sleep in adjoining rooms. I think there is no place where a language of misery is so pronounced, since repal as the new Rita cocktail

Comment on the Day's News

BY FRANK JENKINS.
ROOSEVELT veto defeated—first in the house, and then in the senate. In both houses, it requires a two-thirds vote to over-ride the President's veto.

The honeymoon is about over, isn't it? DOWN in a far corner of the same front page that told of the senate's defeat of the President's veto—the first real defeat he has sustained at the hands of congress—appears this significant little paragraph: "Of 32 senators who face re-election this fall, only SIX stood by the President today."

That tells the story completely, doesn't it? SENATORS hold office for six years, and there are 96 of them in total—two for each state. Exactly one-third of them, you see, come up for re-election this year.

And of the one-third facing the ordeal of the polls, all but six vote against the President. MEMBERS of the house hold office only two years. So approximately half of them come up for re-election every year.

In the house, the vote against the President was 310 to 72. Two hundred and nine Democrats voted to over-ride the President's veto, and they were joined by 97 Republicans and four FARMER-LABORITES.

NOTE particularly the four Farmer-Laborites. In the Republican years, they voted persistently against the Republicans. Now, in a Democratic year, they vote against the Democrats.

The Farmer-Laborites are the mavericks. Their game is to be against whatever party happens to be in power. THE REPUBLICANS, of course, are to be expected to be against the Democratic administration. They HAVE to be.

In order to get back into power, they have to prove that the Democratic party is wrong, all the way down the line, and so must be re-elected if the country is to survive. Members of congress are politicians, and the business of politicians is to stay in power as long as they can and to get back into power as soon as possible after being thrown out.

WHAT was it, you may ask at this point, that the President vetoed? It was a bill granting increased benefits to veterans and restoring to employees of the federal government two-thirds of the reductions made, as an economy measure, in their pay. The President's reason for vetoing the bill was that the cost of it is greater than can be borne without unbalancing the budget, which means putting out more than is taken in.

ONE more question: Why did congress, both house and senate, vote to over-ride the President's veto of the appropriation bill? The answer is simple: Because the members of congress who are coming up for re-election believe more votes are to be gained by going against the President on this point than by staying with him.

That is the whole story in a nutshell. That is why the over-riding of the veto has drawn such big headlines in the papers.

REVENUE BILL PLUGS TAX DODGING HOLES
WASHINGTON, April 3.—(AP)—The $330,000,000 revenue bill, designed primarily to make it more difficult for the wealthy to avoid taxation, was taken up by the senate today with an opening statement by Chairman Harrison of the finance committee that it "distributes the tax burden fairly among taxpayers and in no way impedes legitimate business transactions."

SHOOTS FAVORITE DOG BEFORE HE SUICIDES
JACKSONVILLE, Ill., April 3.—(AP)—J. W. Schlad, 63, and his favorite dog are dead, both shot through the head. Constant companions for the last six years, Schlad evidently killed the dog before killing himself last night with a shotgun. A coroner's jury returned a suicide verdict. Schlad's wife found the bodies. Two children also survive.

All kinds of equal blanks for sale for rent, no hunting no trespassing and other cards for sale at Commercial Printing Dept. of Mail Tribune.

GLENN YVONNE Cosmetic Special. Powder, lipstick, rouge, $3 value for 98c. Woods Drug Co., Main and Central.

WINDOW GLASS—We sell window glass and will replace your broken windows reasonably. Trowbridge Cabinet Works.

SHIP CUT IN ROCK IS FOUND IN EGYPT
ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, April 3.—(UP)—Claimed to be the first discovery of its kind in history, excavations near the pyramids today resulted in the unearthing of a huge Nile gallery carved in solid rock.

The gallery was modeled on the lines of the sacred ship of Ra, the Egyptian sun-god, and was believed to date back to the time of Tutankhamen.

Follies' Prettiest

The prettiest "yefull" in the current edition of the Ziegfeld Follies—that's Leonie Sousa. She was chosen by a group of artists in New York. (Associated Press Photo)

Contract awarded for building Emigrant Creek dam for Talent irrigation district. Sheriff Terrell scored for sending gas stealing tourist on his way. Replied to charge, "He probably has turned moonshiners loose the same way." The sheriff says: "I hope I never forget I'm human, and they won't tell me that to my face."

Spring building starts, and carpenters are all busy. General amending throughout the valley last night saves the fruit crop. Hotel at Butte Falls is opened; Phoenix Memorial hall dedicated.

Charles Ray and Leah Walther are among the four leaders in typewriting for the week in the high school. Darrell Minkler of Ashland has completed an amateur wireless station as one could well expect to find. He has created it wholly himself in the past two years. It is located on his grandfather's property north of the Elk's temple. The amount of mechanism Darrell has crowded into his little station building is simply astounding, says the Ashland Record.

Use of beer or wine on United States battleships hereafter is prohibited by Secretary of Navy Daniels. Three autoists who persist in running around nights without lights are nabbed. The police refused to reveal their names.

departure. Congressmen consult him as they would the president on what should be passed and what should not be. The recent wage increases by steel, motors and other leading industries will do more to defeat the labor organizing movement than all the measures that increase dovetailing so perfectly that some observers here believe they were planned with a purpose.

NORTH CALIFORNIA FOUND INTERESTED IN JUBILEE PLANS
Northern California is taking a deep interest in Oregon's Diamond Jubilee celebration in Medford next June, a visit there yesterday by a local delegation revealed. J. Verne Shangle, chairman of the parade committee, made quite a number of interesting contacts in Yreka in connection with entries for the Pioneer parade, planned to be one of the most elaborate ever attempted in the state.

He related northern California is anxious to help Oregon celebrate and at least several hundred visitors are expected from that section. The thought was generally brought up by the Yrekaans that Medford and southern Oregon have always shown a commendable spirit of cooperation in Yreka events, making the citizens of that section only too anxious to cooperate with Medford.

Several interesting parade entries, including old time stage coaches which used to rumble over southern Oregon roads, will be brought from northern California, Mr. Shangle reported. There will also be a number of oxen and old-fashioned wagons and carts.

The trip was made in an official car donated by the Walter Abbey Motor Company, Inc., of Medford, with Carl Bessler, a member of the firm driving. Fictitious names of the car were taken at the approach of the Pioneers bridge near Yreka, with the car alongside the monument erected in the memory of stage drivers of 60 years ago, bringing a direct contrast between the old and the new.

Dr. J. Mohardt of Chicago, a great Notre Dame halfback just a year or two before the Four Horsemen era, will help Elmer Layden during spring practice at South Bend.

Four pitchers—Ben Cantwell, Ed Brandt, Fred Frankhouse and Hucy Betts—between them accounted for 65 victories for the Boston Braves in 1933.

Ray Steele, professional wrestler, is an uncle of George Henry Sauer, Nebraska's All-America fullback—and his real name is Pete Sauer.

City Warrants Called for Payment. Notice is hereby given that there are funds on hand in the General Fund of the City of Medford for the redemption of warrants No. 1893 to 2249 inc. Interest on the above warrants will cease after April 1, 1934. GUS H. SAMUELS, City Treasurer.

BIRTHS
Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Casley of Trail are the parents of a daughter, weighing 7 1/2 pounds, born Monday, April 2, at the Parucker Maternity home.

Dr. J. Mohardt of Chicago, a great Notre Dame halfback just a year or two before the Four Horsemen era, will help Elmer Layden during spring practice at South Bend.

Four pitchers—Ben Cantwell, Ed Brandt, Fred Frankhouse and Hucy Betts—between them accounted for 65 victories for the Boston Braves in 1933.

Ray Steele, professional wrestler, is an uncle of George Henry Sauer, Nebraska's All-America fullback—and his real name is Pete Sauer.

Flight 'o Time

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY
April 3, 1924.
(Medford and Jackson County History From the Files of The Mail Tribune of 20 and 10 Years Ago.)
Medford basketball team leave Chicago tonight for home.

Contract awarded for building Emigrant Creek dam for Talent irrigation district. Sheriff Terrell scored for sending gas stealing tourist on his way. Replied to charge, "He probably has turned moonshiners loose the same way." The sheriff says: "I hope I never forget I'm human, and they won't tell me that to my face."

Spring building starts, and carpenters are all busy. General amending throughout the valley last night saves the fruit crop. Hotel at Butte Falls is opened; Phoenix Memorial hall dedicated.

Charles Ray and Leah Walther are among the four leaders in typewriting for the week in the high school. Darrell Minkler of Ashland has completed an amateur wireless station as one could well expect to find. He has created it wholly himself in the past two years. It is located on his grandfather's property north of the Elk's temple. The amount of mechanism Darrell has crowded into his little station building is simply astounding, says the Ashland Record.

Use of beer or wine on United States battleships hereafter is prohibited by Secretary of Navy Daniels. Three autoists who persist in running around nights without lights are nabbed. The police refused to reveal their names.

departure. Congressmen consult him as they would the president on what should be passed and what should not be. The recent wage increases by steel, motors and other leading industries will do more to defeat the labor organizing movement than all the measures that increase dovetailing so perfectly that some observers here believe they were planned with a purpose.

NORTH CALIFORNIA FOUND INTERESTED IN JUBILEE PLANS
Northern California is taking a deep interest in Oregon's Diamond Jubilee celebration in Medford next June, a visit there yesterday by a local delegation revealed. J. Verne Shangle, chairman of the parade committee, made quite a number of interesting contacts in Yreka in connection with entries for the Pioneer parade, planned to be one of the most elaborate ever attempted in the state.

He related northern California is anxious to help Oregon celebrate and at least several hundred visitors are expected from that section. The thought was generally brought up by the Yrekaans that Medford and southern Oregon have always shown a commendable spirit of cooperation in Yreka events, making the citizens of that section only too anxious to cooperate with Medford.

Several interesting parade entries, including old time stage coaches which used to rumble over southern Oregon roads, will be brought from northern California, Mr. Shangle reported. There will also be a number of oxen and old-fashioned wagons and carts.

The trip was made in an official car donated by the Walter Abbey Motor Company, Inc., of Medford, with Carl Bessler, a member of the firm driving. Fictitious names of the car were taken at the approach of the Pioneers bridge near Yreka, with the car alongside the monument erected in the memory of stage drivers of 60 years ago, bringing a direct contrast between the old and the new.

Dr. J. Mohardt of Chicago, a great Notre Dame halfback just a year or two before the Four Horsemen era, will help Elmer Layden during spring practice at South Bend.

Four pitchers—Ben Cantwell, Ed Brandt, Fred Frankhouse and Hucy Betts—between them accounted for 65 victories for the Boston Braves in 1933.

Ray Steele, professional wrestler, is an uncle of George Henry Sauer, Nebraska's All-America fullback—and his real name is Pete Sauer.

City Warrants Called for Payment. Notice is hereby given that there are funds on hand in the General Fund of the City of Medford for the redemption of warrants No. 1893 to 2249 inc. Interest on the above warrants will cease after April 1, 1934. GUS H. SAMUELS, City Treasurer.

BIRTHS
Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Casley of Trail are the parents of a daughter, weighing 7 1/2 pounds, born Monday, April 2, at the Parucker Maternity home.

Dr. J. Mohardt of Chicago, a great Notre Dame halfback just a year or two before the Four Horsemen era, will help Elmer Layden during spring practice at South Bend.

Four pitchers—Ben Cantwell, Ed Brandt, Fred Frankhouse and Hucy Betts—between them accounted for 65 victories for the Boston Braves in 1933.

Ray Steele, professional wrestler, is an uncle of George Henry Sauer, Nebraska's All-America fullback—and his real name is Pete Sauer.

City Warrants Called for Payment. Notice is hereby given that there are funds on hand in the General Fund of the City of Medford for the redemption of warrants No. 1893 to 2249 inc. Interest on the above warrants will cease after April 1, 1934. GUS H. SAMUELS, City Treasurer.