

High School Athletes Reinstated for Grid

SCHOOL OFFICIALS HARMONY EFFORT INFLUENCES BOARD

Eight Youngsters Who Engineered Ashland Barn Painting Will Enjoy Full Rating After April Ninth

The eight Medford high school youths, temporarily suspended from state athletic competition, following the Ashland barn painting episode of the basketball season, will be in line to play football this fall, in the welcome announcement in state athletic circles today.

The boys have been reinstated to good standing in the State High School Athletic association, according to word received by Principal C. G. Smith from the secretary of the association.

The reinstatement is to take effect April 9. The letter received by Principal Smith reads: "The board of control has considered your request to have the eight boys reinstated to good standing in the State High School Athletic association, and have decided, that in view of the spirit manifested by the Medford school authorities in endeavoring to bring about peace and harmony, and to clear up all misunderstandings between the two schools—to reinstate the following boys: Stanley Kunzman, Bill Luman, Bob Hinman, Wayne Harris, Hoke Curtis, Russel Brown, Donald Stewart, Robert Smith. This reinstatement is to take effect April 9."

The board took it for granted that the eight mentioned boys have demonstrated to you their desire to—in the future—so conduct themselves that there will be no question about their sportsmanship; otherwise, they felt that you would not have requested their reinstatement. "And so, Mr. Smith, because of the reputation for fair-mindedness and good sportsmanship of yourself and Mr. Hedrick, the board takes the above mentioned action, namely—to reinstate the eight boys, effective on April 9."

HANSEN HUMBLER PETULENT KRUSE BY HAMMERLOCK

The largest crowd of the year turned out at the armory 209, Seattle, hammerlock his way to the odd fall over Bob Kruse, Oswego broccoli king, in the feature event of Mack Lillard's weekly wrestling show.

Kruse and Hansen, evenly matched in weight and skill, put on a match that differed from the rough and ready, reckless sort of grappling familiar to local fans. With a chance to risk his neck against "King Kong" Cox promised the winner, they took the fall over Bob Kruse, Oswego broccoli king, in the feature event of Mack Lillard's weekly wrestling show.

Kruse, who stayed in the ring throughout the match—a remarkable record for Broccoli Bob—won the second fall in less than a minute's time with his pet hold, a wristlock. The third fall went to Hansen in five minutes when Kruse applied his wristlock and Hansen broke the hold, coming up with a savage hammerlock that left the Oswego man on the short end for the first time in a Medford ring.

Ed Helwig of Oakland, an expert with the flying head scissors, took "Bad Bill" Newman into camp in the first bout on the program, winning two out of three falls in a rough and tumble match that had the crowd yelling for the wild Denverite's scalp. Helwig took the first fall with a flying head scissors, after Newman had aroused the ire of the fans and Referee Ray Frisbie with persistent roughness. Frisbie offered to award the fall to Helwig on a foul, but the Oaklander refused and obliged the fans by pinning Newman to the mat.

The second fall went to Newman with a body press, after Helwig had been softened with whip wristlocks and a couple of smacks on the whiskers. Helwig finished his night's work with another head scissors, coming up from the mat in a neat nip-up to grab Denver Billy's noggin with his deadly legs and rub the bad boy's shoulders on canvas.

Helwig, a newsmen, weighed 200 and Newman 190 pounds. Tax Frisbie, Medford fireman, was third man in the ring during both bouts, and turned in a satisfactory job.

Hot Saw Causes Blaze. PORTLAND, Ore., April 6.—(AP)—Loss of about $20,000 was swept aside Thursday when a fire erupted through the Pacific Building Material company's plant here. An overheated saw is believed to have caused the fire. Exploding barrels of asphalt made fire fighting dangerous.

M'LEAN TO START ON ROGUE MOUND IN KLAMATH TILT

Invasion of Pelican City Will Be Second Test for Locals in New Season—Joy Again Behind the Bat

Medford Rogues will get their second test of the 1934 season next Sunday afternoon when they journey to Klamath Falls to tangle with the Shaw-Bertram team on Modoc field. Manager Haight will start Cliff ("Chief") McLean, the Indian fast-baller, on the mound and Dean Joy behind the bat, the same battery that worked so well at Grants Pass last Sunday in the Rogues' smashing 4-0 victory over the Climate City team.

In the outfield, Medford will have three lusty hitters and excellent fielders. Hofferd, in center; Christenson on left, and either Ed Joanis or Johny Smith in right, depending on the opposing pitcher. Joanis, a left-handed hitter, will be used against a right-throwing chucker, while Smith will be in there against south-paw hurlers.

The Rogue infield battle is still more or less up in the air. The quartet that clicked so well at Grants Pass; Billy Courtney on first, Billy Hulien at second, Manager Haight at the short patch and Virgil Swanson on the hot corner, may be the ones to see action Sunday.

However, Malcolm Stine and Tully Williams are still very much in the battle and will probably see as much if not more action than any other pair.

The Rogues, this year, are presenting a well balanced hitting array. Four regulars hit from the left side of the platter and one of them, Hofferd, is a terrific long distance hitter. Courtney, Joy and Joanis, the other wrong side sticklers, are more the "short, sharp" hitting type.

Of the other regulars, all right-handed hitters, McLean and Christenson are the big guns. McLean is probably the best hitter to be seen in southern Oregon in years and that includes Al Drolette, Duke Marlow, Bud Colin and even the big boy himself, Hoosier ("Home Run") Hofferd.

No definite steps have yet been taken toward the formation of a southern Oregon league. Grants Pass, due to inability to organize into one unit, is holding up proceedings. Two rival factions are at war in the cave city and, until an understanding is reached, the Rogues and other southern Oregon teams will play independent ball.

The first appearance date for the Rogues at the fair grounds is still indefinite. Several teams are angling with Haight for a game in Medford on Sunday, April 15, but no certain agreements have been made.

Uniforms, purchased from the Seattle club of the Pacific Coast league, are expected to arrive in the near future, outfitting the Rogues in real big league style.

Manager Haight reports that donations from Medford merchants are coming in slowly but surely. "Baseball interest is very good," he said. "Business men and fans alike are taking great interest in this year's team and are really supporting the team like they meant it."

The amount needed to be raised is $250. About half has so far been subscribed and the remainder is expected within a few days.

Frank Shellenback today holds a new individual pitching record for the Pacific Coast league by reason of Hollywood's 6 to 3 win over Oakland yesterday. The game brought Shellenback's string of victories in 14 years to 262, one more than the old established record by Charles "Spider" Baum when he was with the Seals. Baum, like Shellenback a spitballer, is now secretary of the Hollywood club.

Los Angeles continued at the top of the league, handing Portland its third straight defeat, 7 to 6. A ninth inning rally by the Beavers fell short with the tying run on third base. Both teams were held scoreless until the sixth inning. Homeruns by Rightfielder Frank Demaree and Catcher Gilly Campbell contributed to the Angel victory.

San Francisco's Seals smothered the Seattle Indians with a first inning batting rampage which netted them six runs and drove Henry Ullrich from the box. The Seals chalked up a final score of 9 to 1 behind the light pitching of Win Ballou, who allowed only four bingles, while his teammates were collecting 14.

The Sacramento Senators made it two straight over the San Francisco Missions, winning 4 to 3. Samuel Salvo, moundman for the Senators, allowed only seven hits. Dahlgren, Missions first baseman, lifted a homer with one on in the sixth.

The Hollywood Stars were a run behind when they launched an eighth inning rally that netted them four runs.

NITRATE NITROGEN AND LIME

CALCIUM NITRATE

The Efficient Fertilizer for All Crops

ANALYSIS Nitrogen . . . 15.5% Minimum Combined with 28% Available Lime

To be efficient a nitrogen fertilizer must supply the feeding root zone with available quick-acting nitrate nitrogen. The nitrogen in Calcium Nitrate is unaffected by the bases in the soil, thus permitting an undisturbed movement throughout the soil area—and most important of all—it gets the nitrogen down where the roots can use it, completely and instantly soluble. It can be applied in any way—by hand, machine, or aeroplane, or directly through the irrigation water by a patented applicator, or it may be deposited or drilled in the irrigation furrow, or used as a top or side dressing on grapes, cotton, or truck. That's the reason why discriminating growers insist on Calcium Nitrate—they can put it where they want it when they want it—efficiently.
