

PARENTS SCHOOL TO OPEN TUESDAY AT CHRISTIAN CH.

Third Annual Session For County Under Direction Of Mabel Mack Has Three Guest Speakers.

Parents from all sections of Jackson and Josephine counties are planning to attend the third annual Jackson county school for parents to be held next Tuesday, April 10, at the Christian church of Medford, commencing at 10 a. m.

The program has been prepared by the extension service in home economics and is under the direction of Mabel C. Mack, county home demonstration agent, assisted by members of the county extension committee.

The theme of the conference is "Some Problems of Modern Parents," which will be discussed by three guest speakers who are all well known in Jackson county.

Mrs. Sara Watt Prentiss, who will discuss "The Social Development of the Children," is a graduate of Oregon State college and since 1917 has been in charge of the child development and parent education in that institution. From time to time, she has taken leave for study with authorities in the field at the Merrill-Palmer school in Detroit, the University of California, the University of Chicago and the University of Minnesota.

In addition to teaching students at the college and supervising the nursery school, Mrs. Prentiss finds time to meet groups of parents in the state in connection with the schools for parents being conducted by the extension service in co-operation with the Parent-Teacher associations and other groups concerned with family life. She is state chairman of parent education of the Oregon Congress of Parents and Teachers. Many Jackson county homemakers know her through the weekly Tuesday afternoon broadcasts from the state-owned station, KOAC, and as the leader of the radio clubs.

Miss Claribel Nye, state leader of home economics extension, will discuss "The Importance of Emotional Maturity." Miss Nye has been state leader of home economics extension in Oregon since February, 1930, when she came here from Cornell university. In New York, Miss Nye was associate state leader of home economics extension, professor of home economics. She holds the degree of B.S. from Cornell and M.S. from Columbia university and has studied at the University of Chicago. For many years Miss Nye has been connected with the adult education program in the field of home economics. Miss Nye is state chairman of homemaker of the Oregon Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Mrs. Wm. Kietzer, president of the State Federation of Parents and Teachers, will discuss "How the State Safeguards Our Children." Mrs. Kietzer is well known in Jackson county and throughout the state for her outstanding work in the field of parent education and home legislation.

Mrs. Mabel C. Mack, county home demonstration agent, will discuss the Jackson county radio clubs and the parent education program in Jackson county. Mrs. Mack is a graduate of Oregon State college and has been county home demonstration agent in Jackson county since January, 1930.

A covered dish luncheon will be served at noon. The suggested menu is sandwiches, vegetable salad, fruit, cake and coffee.

The county extension committee will serve tea at 4 o'clock in honor of the guest speakers. Mrs. Bertha Glasgow, Miss Alice Hanley and Mrs. O. C. Maust are the committee in charge.

Every homemaker in southern Oregon is invited to attend.

Tale of Cannibalism
HALIFAX, N. S., April 7.—(AP)—Because caribou are disappearing, Indians and Eskimos in the northland are dying and there are a great many cases of actual cannibalism, according to Rev. W. G. Walton, who arrived today from Toronto.

BOY INJURED IN BICYCLE CRASH

Bruce Metzger, 12, is at his home in Jacksonville suffering from a possible fracture of the skull. Homer Smets, 15, also of that city has an injured nose and is without two teeth, the result of the two boys, on bicycles, running into Ernest Olson, 18, who was also on a bicycle.

Reports from Jacksonville yesterday afternoon said that young Metzger did not regain consciousness until Saturday morning. The collision occurred on the street in Jacksonville about 7:30 o'clock, as the three boys were en route to the opera at the school gymnasium.

LYDA KING'S DOG 'JERRY' IS DEAD

'Jerry' is dead. The homely old aide, owned by Lyda King, former county nurse here, and loved by many people throughout the county, completed his span of more than 13 years last week in Sanders, Ariz. where Mrs. King is now located.

In a letter, received by Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Richardson of Beall Lane, Mrs. King announced that she had buried her pet of many years, and asked that "Jerry's friends" be notified. Even the Navajo Indians, who are not friends of dogs, had come to love him, she stated.

PIONEER PARADE COMMITTEE MEET

An important meeting of the pioneer parade committee has been called by Chairman J. Verne Shangle for tomorrow night at the chamber of commerce. All committee members and others interested in this feature of Oregon's Diamond Jubilee celebration in Medford next June are urged to be present.

Mr. Shangle reported last evening enthusiasm is rapidly increasing in parade preparations, with quite a number of entries already outlined. Arrangements are being completed to have John E. Ross, Central Point, son of Col. John E. Ross, famed southern Oregon Indian fighter, to be in the line of march, attired in his father's buckskin suit astride a white mule. Col. Ross had always ridden such animal when on his Indian campaigns.

Several stage coaches have been secured, including two or three from eastern Oregon. There will also be quite a number of oxen.

OPP CONCENTRATES SOON TO SMELTER

Pacific States Mines, Inc., operating the Opp mine has started production of concentrates, according to Robert Clarke, manager. The mill, recently remodeled, has been put on a two shift schedule, running on development ore only.

Mr. Clarke stated that ore is being brought out, but for the present no stoping is being done. A night shift has also been put in the mine to expedite the work in the west heading of No. 18 tunnel, where the company expects to develop a good shoot of higher grade ore, discovered in a cave stope in the old workings some time ago.

The superintendent reports that the mine and mill are both running smoothly, and that the mill recoveries are satisfactory. A shipment of concentrate will go to the smelter some time the next week, he said.

ASHPOLE HOME IS LISTED A WINNER MAGAZINE AWARD

Mrs. C. W. Ashpole of this city is one of the winners in the Better Homes and Gardens' three thousand dollar national remodeling contest, conducted during the past year. It was announced today. Nineteen thousand entries were made in the contest, according to a letter from the magazine agency, and the house on the McAndrews road and the Crater Lake highway, remodelled by the Ashpoles, was judged a winner.

The house, colonial in style, has attracted much attention since completion. The pictures, submitted to Better Homes and Gardens, for which Shirley Broe, are local distributors, in the contest, are on display today at the Big Pines Lumber company, which furnished the materials and planned the remodeling program with the Ashpoles.

The house stands on the property, originally owned by Tom McAndrews and parts of it were constructed as early as 1852. The main house was constructed by Capt. John S. Miller, who was assisted in building by W. M. Griffin, brother of Tom Griffin. The solid oak sills, placed in it then, were utilized in the remodeling of the house and the new brick fireplace, which warms the large living room, was made of bricks, which constructed the building, then used as hog house.

Prior to the remodeling all the rooms of the house were small and square in shape. There were four down stairs and four upstairs and no closets for clothing or linen. The staircase occupied the middle of the house, and extended from the front door. It was moved to form a feature of the living room, made up of two former bedrooms. The old living room was converted into a bedroom, and the fireplace removed to the dining room. A completely new kitchen was constructed and the upstairs thrown into two large bedrooms, a sleeping porch, nursery, bathroom and linen closets.

Interesting features of the down stairs to all persons, anticipating farm houses, are the lockers for working men's clothes on the back porch and the garage, woodshed and hired man's quarters, into which the old woodshed was converted.

PROWLERS ROUTED FROM JUNIOR HI

City police were called at 12:30 on Saturday morning to the Junior high school, when it was reported someone had broken into the office of the building. The burglars had gone when officers arrived, but the knob had been knocked from the safe.

Mrs. E. C. Silliman, who resides across the street, told police she overheard someone outside the building, apparently talking to someone inside, to "make it snappy." The men had gone when officers arrived.

Police also reported that the Medford Sheet Metal Works at 718 North Central avenue was entered during the night, but nothing was taken. The safe had been left open.

COQUILLE LOSES TO HI DEBATERS

Medford high school's negative debate team, Irene Stubblefield and Betty Thorndike, yesterday afternoon defeated the Coquille high school's affirmative team in an inter-sectional debate, held in Coquille.

The subject of radio control was debated by the two teams. Miss Doris Baler of the local high school faculty accompanied the Medford girls to the coast.

ASK VACANT LOTS USE FOR GARDENS

An appeal was made yesterday by the Jackson county relief committee to residents of Medford, who have vacant lots, which they are not utilizing this summer, asking them to donate same to needy people for planting of gardens.

Anyone with extra ground and available water is asked to call 824. The committee will furnish seeds to eligible people for this project and is anxious to have as many people as possible partially self-sustaining through garden products.

The city of Medford is cooperating wholeheartedly in the plan and has donated considerable space to the plantings.

Finance Corporation Wins Jury Award

A verdict favoring the Commercial Finance corporation in its suit against C. B. Dunnington of Jacksonville for collection of a note for $100 with $9 interest, was granted by a circuit court jury Friday.

The defendant had claimed interest was charged unlawfully and asked that the note be voided.

SELF HELP BOARD FOR NEEDY NAMED

Alfred S. V. Carpenter, County Judge Earl B. Day and Senator Geo. Dunn have been named by the Jackson County Relief committee to form a committee of self help and rehabilitation under the Substinence Homestead Plan, Chapter 97, Oregon Laws of 1933.

The money for the work under this plan comes out of the $950,000-000 F. E. R. A. appropriation to the state.

PISTOL RIVER CCC RATING HIGHEST

Three highest companies in the Medford CCC district rated by the forestry service and the army, have been announced by headquarters here, with Pistol River camp, Company 1922, placing highest, having 976 points, from a possible 1000.

Applegate Camp, Company 928, was second with 972.8 points, and Company 1555 at Camp Evans Creek was third, with 965.4 points. The ratings give a possible 600 under forestry supervision, and the remaining 400 under the army.

Although Camp Pistol River wins the district flag for its placement, the company will be required to return the flag to Medford headquarters soon, as the company is leaving for the Vancouver Barracks district.

CCC ENROLLMENT OPENS TOMORROW

Applications for enrollment in the Civilian Conservation Corps for the next period, will be received by the Jackson county relief committee after 10 o'clock Monday morning. It was announced at headquarters in the city hall today.

Applications will be accepted from legal residents of the county, who have dependents and are between 18 and 25 years of age. The Jackson county quota will be 22 men.

Jacksonville Operetta Pleases
The operetta, "Magie Beanstalk," presented by the grade school children of Jacksonville Friday evening, was considered quite a success by those who attended the production. Florence Hunsaker was in charge of the operetta, given at the school gymnasium.

MASSENA, N. Y., April 7.—(AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt arrived this afternoon for the funeral of A. B. Cook, 85, father of her friend, Miss Nancy Cook. She motored from Syracuse.

WEATHER PERMITS EARLY START ON OREGON PROJECTS

PORTLAND, Ore., April 7.—(AP)—Mild weather has permitted starting national forest and national park road projects this year two months earlier than in former years, the United States bureau of public roads reports.

Much employment is afforded by the projects which must utilize human labor as much as possible under the public works highway program. Road construction now underway includes:

A new route from Union Creek on the Crater Lake highway north to Diamond Lake. Surfacing work has been resumed and bids are being received for bituminous surface treatment on the first 12 miles.

Work on three grading contracts on the highway between Bend, Sisters, Cascade, Albany, Detroit and Salem. Work on the Tiller-Trail highway, an eventual short cut from the Pacific highway at Canyonville to Crater Lake.

Four bridges under construction on the north Santiam highway east of Detroit. Oiling 32 miles of the Oregon Coast highway.

Bids are being received by the road bureau for reconstructing and surfacing 4.4 miles on the McMinnville-Tillamook highway between Dolph and Hebo.

Crime Falls To Pay
FORT WORTH, Texas, April 7.—(AP)—O. D. Stevens, W. D. May and M. T. Pettijohn, convicted as principals in a $72,000 mail robbery here early last year, were assessed the maximum penalty by Federal Judge James C. Wilson today, 27 years in Leavenworth penitentiary and a $10,000 fine.

MILK BOARD SAYS PROPAGANDA USED TO ROUT CONTROL

PORTLAND, Ore., April 7.—(AP)—The Oregon milk control board will not set aside its minimum price schedule as demanded by Portland administrative officers.

Chairman E. G. Harlan today defended the board's actions and refused to vacate the orders and "plunge the industry back into demoralization and chaos."

His decision was directed to Frank S. Grant, Portland city attorney, who last week charged that the board's hearings before setting prices were "preliminary and superficial."

In commenting on opponents of the milk schedules Harlan said: "Two or three persons appeared who claimed to speak for the mayor or city council or both, but they failed to offer evidence, oral or written, and confined themselves to making speeches assailing the good faith, the integrity and the acts of the board; speeches that were obviously prepared and delivered as hostile propaganda and for newspaper consumption and clearly designed to embarrass and not to aid the board."

Silver Strike Reported
CORTEZ, Colo., April 7.—(AP)—A silver strike on which ore is said to run as high as $3,200 a ton, was made in the Battlerock district 17 miles west of here, near the Utah line, according to reports reaching Cortez today.

KENOSHA, Wis., April 7.—(AP)—Employees of the Nash Motors company today rejected a suggestion of the National Automotive Labor Tribunal to settle the strike at the plant. Union officials ordered workers back to the picket lines.
