

BRIEF FOR HAINES' APPEAL IN HANDS OF DIST. ATTORNEY

The defendant's brief in the appeal of Ted Haines, now serving three years in state prison for conviction of a statutory charge involving a 15-year-old girl, has been received by the district attorney's office, Haines, a resident of the Red Top district and a married man with a family, was tried last October and since that time has been in the penitentiary. The brief sets forth alleged errors of law, and raises a number of technical legal points. The brief alleges that Haines was not given sufficient time for trial, appearing in court on short notice. Prejudicial statements by the district attorney are alleged, and admission of prejudicial evidence is also charged. The brief also sets forth that a number of residents of the Red Top district, following the filing of the charge, waited upon one of Haines' bondsmen and persuaded him to withdraw. The Red Top district was brought up over the appeal, the brief recites. It was prepared by Attorney Rawles Moore. Next Friday, April 20, is the final date now scheduled for the filing of the appellant's brief in the appeal of Gordon L. Schermerhorn, former sheriff, under a three-year sentence for conviction of ballot theft. Schermerhorn was sentenced last August, and since has been at liberty on $7500 bonds. A decision in the appeal to the supreme court of L. A. Banks, former local agitator, serving life for degree murder, is forecast within the next six weeks. The high court has announced it desires to render decisions in a number of cases pending before May 21, when the annual eastern Oregon term is opened. All the transcripts and briefs are now before the supreme court. Arguments on the legal phases of the case were submitted last Thursday. Banks has been an inmate of the penitentiary since last August.

MILL WILL OPEN BY MONTH'S END IS LATEST WORD

The Owen-Oregon Lumber company plant in this city will open "before the end of the month," it was reported today. It was originally planned to start about April 15, but delay in logging operations caused a postponement. Tree-felling and bucking of logs is now under way in the Butte Falls district. Before the mill can start the logs must be hauled to, and loaded on, the Medford Logging railroad and transported to the mill pond. The mill pond must be reasonably full before starting operations. Repairs to the equipment and machinery of the sawmill have been completed. Other preparations for opening are progressing. The plant will operate under the hours and conditions of the NRA lumber code. Employment will be furnished for approximately 300 men and the period of operation depends upon trade and market conditions. All the employees have been listed. With one or two exceptions all are residents of this county, and all are old employees of the company. Applications for jobs have been filed from as far east as New Jersey, and points up and down the coast. Manager James H. Owen has adhered to the policy of providing work for local residents and old employees. There are now no vacancies on the employment list of the mill. A large portion of the workers own homes, and have established residence here.
