

P.-T. A. LEADER IS MAIN SPEAKER AT PARENTS SCHOOL

Mrs. Kletzer Tells How State Safeguards Children — More Effort Needed Is Word; School Big Success

By MAUD E. POOL.
"Oregon does a great many things for her children, but she could do better and do more," Mrs. William Kletzer, state president of the Parent-Teacher association, stated in her message to Jackson county homemakers during the afternoon session of the school for parents held here at the First Christian church Tuesday.

"Discontent is the first step toward progress," Mrs. Kletzer declared at the beginning of her talk on "How the State Safeguards Our Children," and it is in this light that the speaker believes Oregon people too well satisfied with the facilities obtainable in state health service, training schools, and other phases of child welfare.

Psychology Discussed.
Delving deeply into the mysteries of child psychology, Mrs. Sara Wait Prentiss, professor of Parent Education at Oregon State College, pictured the intricacies of a child's social being in her discussion on "The Social Development of Children" in the forenoon session. Implying that parents have not recognized the importance of social training as they have the need of physical and mental development in their children, Mrs. Prentiss said that with the rapid pace of society today there is approaching a greater need of the ability to "get along with the other fellow" than ever before.

Although many parents hold the Golden Rule as the highest precept in social behavior which can be taught their children, Mrs. Prentiss believes there is even a higher goal—understanding the other fellow, which Morgan, noted writer in the field of child psychology, says is the highest level of social intelligence.

During the afternoon Mrs. Prentiss enlarged upon one phase of her first talk when she spoke on "Understanding the Adolescent," impressing upon her listeners the fact that the adolescent child, often regarded by his parents as a stranger, is the same child they have known since babyhood merely trying to adjust himself in the adult sphere.

"The Importance of Emotional Maturity" was the subject discussed during the afternoon by Miss Claribel Nye, state leader of home economists, who said that individuals, although able to recognize physical and mental development, are somewhat unaware of emotional advancement. Miss Nye declared that the emotional make-up of the human being in its subtleness and power has more to do with happiness than most people realize.

ida Sweeney, and Mrs. Effie Birdseye. Nine of the extension units presented old favorite songs as part of the noon program. Members of the county extension committee, Mrs. O. C. Maust, Mrs. Bertha Glasgow and Mrs. Bertha Young, were introduced by Mrs. Mack, as was Mrs. Marie Moore of Corvallis.

The forenoon session, at which Mrs. Effie Birdseye presided, was opened with poems of childhood, charmingly interpreted by Mrs. Nellie Niedermeyer of Jacksonville. Mrs. Niedermeyer chose four of Anthony Euwer's poems on the soliloquies of childhood, one entitled "Billy Brown's Measles" being particularly appropriate at the present time. Mrs. Bertha Young presided at the afternoon session which closed at 4:00 o'clock with tea served by the county extension committee in honor of the guest speaker from Corvallis, for which most of the women in attendance remained.

STERLING, Colo., April 12.—(AP)—Five machine gun bandits, who smashed their way into the Security State bank here in a daring daylight holdup today and fled with about $25,000 loot and three bank officials as hostages, were sought over a large area in eastern Colorado and western Kansas and Nebraska today.

About two miles from Sterling they released their prisoners, unharmed. The hostages were R. A. Towne, president; L. B. Propst, assistant cashier, and Davis Morrell, teller.

SPERRY FLOUR CO. INCREASES WAGES
An increase of 10 per cent in hourly wage rates of all plant employees of the Sperry Flour Co., now effective April 1, has been announced. Sperry wage schedules prior to the current increase have been well above code requirements and, therefore, the new schedules reflecting fully 10 per cent above previously existing hourly rates, places wages paid Sperry plant employees upon a substantially higher plane. The above announcement was released by Paul Hirsch, division manager, at Portland.

PEKE SAVES BOY FROM DROWNING

PORTLAND, Ore., April 12.—(AP)—Those persons who make slighting and nasty remarks about Pekinese dogs may have to swallow their words.

"Cute, but what good is it?" they used to ask when they saw Sam Well's Peke. But yesterday the two-year-old son of K. B. Morris, a neighbor, wandered too close to the river's edge and fell in.

The tiny Peke heard the splash pattered to the bank, saw Billy and yelping like a hound, scrambled for aid. The first person it found was Maximo Pulido, Filipino house boy for Well. Sensing tragedy, Pulido raced with the Peke to the river's edge, jumped in and saved the child.

There was much talk of heroism in the neighborhood today.

FORD RADIO PROGRAM CUTS OUT BALLYHOOD
According to the April issue of "Radio Stars" the radio stars award for distinguished service has been awarded to Fred Waring and the Ford Dealers of America for the program they have been giving Thursday and Sunday nights over the Columbia Broadcasting chain. The outstanding and refreshing feature of the program has been the entire absence of advertising. Edsel Ford was allotted seven minutes when the broadcasts were started, and he spent ninety seconds on his speech, and the remainder of the time he kept silent and whittled while the Pennsylvanians played.

RULES IN LOGGING TO BE MADE CLEAR FOR FOREST MEN

SALEM, April 12.—(AP)—State Forester Lynn F. Cronmiller today called a conference of all west side district wardens and inspectors, including also all west side federal forest supervisors and representatives from the Portland regional office and Pacific northwest forest experiment station, to be held in Salem, April 16.

The conference was called primarily to discuss the logging permit law enacted by the last special session of the state legislature, which was designed to reduce to a minimum destructive fires resulting from logging operations. Under the new law it is necessary for any individual to obtain a permit from the state forester to operate in the area west of the Cascades during the closed season, which permit holds until the end of the season September 30.

An examination of the logger's operations will be necessary before the permit is issued, which will be subject to revoke at any time.

Inspectors will be instructed as to their duties and sent into the field to personally contact every logging operator in western Oregon and discuss the various phases of the law with each. Cronmiller stated. The inspector will advise the individual just what precautionary measures are necessary in his case before a permit will be issued.
