"Bottoms Up" Is Romantic Comedy

"Pat" Paterson, charming English singing comedienne, is well launched on her American movie career in the romantic comedy, "Bottoms Up," which opened at the Craterian theater yesterday. The story centers about this attractive young actress.

Spencer Tracy and John Boles have the leading roles opposite her, and share in the considerable credit that goes to the cast for the success of this delightful picture. Boles has several opportunities to sing. Comedy honors go to Herbert Mundin, Sid Silvers and Harry Green. Thelma Todd proves herself an excellent villainess.

The film combines rollicking comedy with beautiful romance. It relates how three merry rogues and a disappointed beauty contest winner with movie ambitions crash the gates of the film capital. With assumed names and a false front, the girl and her three companions bluff Hollywood, and soon find themselves riding high on the waves of film fame. Interwoven with this pleasant story are four song numbers that give promise of being the song hits of the year: "Waiting at the Gate for Katy," "Turn on the Moon," "Little Did I Dream" and "I'm Throwin' My Love Away."
