Mrs. Morris Entertains At Dessert Bridge
Mrs. T. B. Morris has hosted yesterday at a lovely party at her home, which was beautifully decorated in iris, tulips and apricot, for dessert bridge.

There were four tables of duplicate contract in play during the afternoon and prizes for north and south went to Mrs. Gail and Mrs. Clark, and for east and west to Mrs. Herbert White and Mrs. C. C. Graves.

The hostess was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. J. C. Simmons. Those present were: Mesdames Janouch, Drummond, Wilcox, Mason, White, Edwin, Gail, Spencer, Medley, Clark, W. A. Gates, Elden, Medley, Clark, Gilbert, C. C. Murray and J. C. Murray.

Mrs. Webster Hostess To Bible Class
CENTRAL POINT—Mrs. A. Webster was hostess on Thursday to the ladies of the Berean Bible class.

President Mrs. Case conducted the business session, opening with group singing. A Bible reading was given by Mrs. Ayres, a poem by Mrs. Wyatt, reading by Mrs. Gebhard Sr., and an interesting chapter on "Dust and Ashes of Empires" by Mrs. Furry. Solo, "I Know No Other Master," was sung by Mrs. Louise Grimes. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Webster and Mrs. Manu to Mesdames Case, Dorschick, Meyer, Minnick, Parker, Langston, Hoffman, Warner, Ayers, Faber, Linbeck, Gebhard Sr., Gebhart Jr., Jewett, Wyatt, Manu, Millerton, Furry, Richmond, Clark, Day, Grimes Sr., Grimes Jr., Speaker, Quackenbush, Smith, Webster, Misses Beale Milton and McGruder.

Mrs. Farra Peted At Surprise Party
CENTRAL POINT—A birthday surprise was given Friday for Mrs. Clara Farra, when a group of neighbors entered her back door at about 11:30 a. m. inviting her to accompany them to the home of Mrs. E. Jones at noon, where a fine birthday dinner was served to Mesdames Mattie Parker, Mary Gumm, Mary Fay, Margaret Territt, Doris Jones, Lorrie Minnick, Emma Hilkey, Eva Smith, Mattie Smith and honor guest, Clara Farra. Gentlemen guests were Messrs. J. H. Territt and Edward Farra.

Writers' League Meeting Tomorrow
An interesting program has been arranged for the meeting tomorrow afternoon of the Southern Oregon branch of the Western Writers' League, to be held at the Hotel Holland at 2 o'clock. An invitation is extended all persons interested in writing.

Knights of Pythias Announce Party
The public is cordially invited to attend a dance and card party, with special entertainment features, to be held at the Knights of Pythias hall on Wednesday, April 25.

Plans for the party, which assure a pleasant evening, were announced today.

Braults on Short Vacation to Coast
Mr. and Mrs. Jean Brault and young daughter left yesterday morning by motor for the coast, where they plan to spend a few days at the beach and neighboring resorts. Mr. Brault is on a short vacation from the Southern Oregon Gas corporation.

Local Folk to Spend Week-end at Beach
The beach will attract a number of Medford people this week-end, plans announced yesterday reveal. Mr. and Mrs. Guy Phetteplace are going to Crescent City, where they will spend their time at The Breakers.

Mrs. Pennington Hostess To Oak Grove Club
Mrs. L. Pennington was hostess to the Oak Grove Neighborhood club on Wednesday at her attractive home on the Jacksonville road.

There were 14 members present and Mrs. S. D. Jones, as visitor. The afternoon was spent in making costumes for some of the school children, to be worn at the May fete.

In place of the next regular meeting in May, the club will have a picnic for the members' families in the Ashland park.

Following sewing Wednesday, refreshments were served by the hostess.

Mrs. Twillinger Leaves For Williams Visit
Mrs. D. P. Twillinger left last Sunday morning on the stage for Williams, to visit her daughter, Fay Pleasant Herford, after spending about two weeks among old friends and neighbors at Central Point, where she made her home for several years.

Communications

A Strange Analogy.
To the Editor:

It was with interest and somewhat of astonishment that I read your editorial in your issue of the 17th, touching "Leon and Sam."

As to "Leon," it is very little that this writer knows about Trotsky's relation to Russia. But if he is vigorously spreading world revolution, and the Soviet itself has a world-wide network of propaganda for the same purpose, one would think that instead of hounding Trotsky they would pay him a big salary. Well, who knows? Maybe they DO. International politics is a deep game.

But I am thinking mainly of Insaull and your recommendations concerning him. Last year, after a long and expensive trial, Mr. Banks was convicted and given a life sentence. Then certain distinguished parties in other parts of the state, including as I recollect, some prominent editors, no doubt weary of reading about Jackson county troubles, urged that all the rest of the cases be at once dismissed. They said, "Let bygones be bygones." Let everybody shake hands and get busy on the recovery program, etc.

And if my memory serves me rightly, the Mail Tribune raised a strenuous protest against any such course. Without quoting you verbatim, I think the gist of your attitude was this: That grave crimes had been committed here, and the public welfare demanded that those criminals be brought to justice, and the law of the land upheld; that this undue laxity and lenience toward criminals had already brought much reproach upon our penal system, etc. And I remember that at the time your position seemed to me very strong and very sane.

But what has happened to the editorial mind since then? You now seem to occupy the seat of the disinterested ones. It may be that you have grown weary of the whole Insaull case. It is evident that you are not one of the victims of this gigantic steal, or you would not be, as you say, "soft-headed enough to hope that they somehow 'miss' the train." (Does that mean escape?)

Again you say, "They are both THROUGH. It is too late for either to come back, or even if they desire, do any more harm." Since when did they become so harmless?
You further say, "Putting one in prison . . . won't, as we see it, add anything to the moral force of their tragic fates." Amazing, if true. So the moral lessons from a criminal record are complete with the capture. And whether they are convicted and punished or just "miss the train" does not affect those lessons. I had supposed that the moral lesson growing out of any crime was wrapped up in the conviction and punishment of the criminal.
If your line of argument is valid, we might as well restore Banks to his freedom at Medford, and let him resume his place as president emeritus (or something) of the G. G. C. Why not, if he is "through" and can never "come back" or "do any more harm"?
That editorial surely must have been hastily and carelessly written. And we certainly hope that it does not express your real sentiments concerning the execution of our penal laws. One of the severest indictments against our American penal system is the ever-increasing number of criminals who are apprehended but are not made to suffer the penalty for their crime, because of a lax, lenient, toothless enforcement of law.
WANTED—Editorials that help to put teeth into law enforcement.

MAY DAY DANCE BY ELKS APR. 28

Robert Strang, chairman of the dance committee of the Medford Elks, has announced a May day party for Saturday, April 28, at the temple.

The dance will be for Elks and their invited guests and has been scheduled for a Saturday night in order that all may attend. It will honor the new Elks and applicants for membership, as well as a gay evening in keeping with the spring holiday is promised.

Friends of Elks will be admitted by invitation cards.

Domino Lunch To Open Up Saturday At 417 East Main

The Domino Lunch, specializing in salads, sandwiches and beer, will be opened Saturday noon at 417 East Main street under the management of J. C. "Bobby" Burns.

Domino wall decorations and clever menus make the new lunch room particularly attractive. A restful color scheme of gray, black and white has been carried out throughout the place, making it a creditable addition to Medford's east side business district.

Mr. Burns is already well-known in southern Oregon as the operator of a popular sandwich shop on South Riverside.

Wall St. Report

NEW YORK, April 20.—(AP)—Stocks and staples rallied briskly late today. The upturn after early irregularity, apparently was due partly to a mild revival of inflationary psychology coincident with the weakness of international dollar rates. Aircraft issues led the recovery in equities and final gains ranged from 1 to 2 1/2 per cent.
