

HOME MAKERS DAY PROGRAM READY FOR ANNUAL MEET

Third Annual County Session Opens Wednesday—Review Year's Work—Districts Will Send Delegates.

Program plans have been completed by the county extension committee for the third annual county Home-makers day for home extension units and cooperating organizations, which will be held at the First Christian church in Medford, on Wednesday, April 25.

The purpose of this annual meeting is to review the county extension program of the past year, in terms of projects given, communities enrolled, and results. Then through discussion in interest group meetings to make recommendations for project work to be included in the county extension program for the year June, 1934 to June, 1935.

All organizations cooperating in the home economics extension program are asked to send representatives and everyone interested in the program is invited to attend, according to Mabel C. Mack, county home demonstration agent.

There should be a minimum of five delegates from each club in order to have representation in each project group meeting.

Home extension units that will send delegates are: Skiskiyou, Bellview, Valley View, Talent, Phoenix, Roxy Ann, Jacksonville, Applegate, Central Point, Rogue River, Evans Valley, Eagle Point, Lost Creek, Prospect, Trull, McLeod and Butte Falls.

The program will start promptly at 9:30 a. m., with several musical numbers by the Medford high school band, under the direction of F. Wilson. Miss Harriet Baldwin of Medford high school will direct the community singing with Mrs. Mabel Sims of Jacksonville, accompanist.

The measures of progress in the county extension program of the past year will be discussed by Mabel C. Mack, county home demonstration agent, who will give the statistical summary of projects recommended last year, projects adopted and results.

The assembly will then be divided into five interest groups for discussion of needs and program plans. Members of the extension staff who will assist with the interest groups are: Miss Claribel Nye, state leader of home economics extension; Miss Lucy A. Case, specialist in nutrition; Mrs. Azalea Sager, specialist in clothing and textiles; Miss Gertrude Skow, home demonstration agent, and Mrs. Mack.

Members of the county extension committee will be chairmen of the interest group sessions: Mrs. Effie Birdseye, organization and administration; Mrs. Bertha Glasgow, clothing and textiles; Mrs. Mabel Thornton, foods and nutrition; Mrs. Bertha Young, child development and parent education; Mrs. Susie Maus, recreation and dramatics.

Luncheon will be served by the Women's association of the First Christian church. County Judge Earl B. Day will be guest speaker of the luncheon. Other guests will include County Commissioners Ralph Billings and R. E. Neslon, and R. G. Fowler, county agricultural agent.

The luncheon will illustrate foods and nutrition project work, and a style show will be given as a result demonstration of the economy dress-making project just completed. Twelve home extension units will model dresses.

Following the luncheon interest group meetings will be continued until 2:30, when recommendations of all interest groups will be presented by group chairmen for consideration of the assembly. Four new members to the county extension committee will be elected.

OFFICIALS FIND UPSTATE AWAKENS TO JUNE JUBILEE

A visit of Oregon's Diamond Jubilee celebration representatives in the northern section of the state during the last week revealed growing interest in the big event scheduled for Medford and Jacksonville next June 3 to 9. Residents of quite a number of Oregon cities are planning visits to Medford during Jubilee week and an especially large number of visitors are expected from Portland, the trip revealed.

Cooperation has been offered by all cities contacted, assuring one of the most successful celebrations ever attempted in the state. Medford has already gained a wealth of publicity through celebration activities with considerable more planned.

When in Medford yesterday, Ward B. Croft, director of the Ashland high school symphony orchestra, reported yesterday preparations are rapidly progressing for music for the pageant, "Over-Us-Gion." Special music is being prepared for this special feature of the week, enhancing the attraction of this important feature of Jubilee week. Mr. Croft is welcoming the cooperation of Medford musicians in augmenting the strength of the orchestra, planned to have over 50 pieces. He is especially interested in contacting the players of string instruments. Rehearsals will begin during the early part of May.

H. G. Wilson, chairman of the tennis committee, has received quite a number of applications of players for the Jubilee tennis tournament to be held from June 3 to 9. State-wide interest is developing in this feature of the celebration. Worthwhile awards will be given to winners in the men's and women's divisions of the tourney.

Parade entries are continuing to be received from all sections of the state. J. Verne Shangle, parade chairman, reported last evening. One of the longest parades ever seen in Oregon is expected as a result of parade committee efforts.

All committees are reporting encouraging progress. In view of the present rate of developments, Medford and Jacksonville will be ready for the thousands of visitors in Medford during Jubilee week.

MEDFORD ORATORS DEFEAT NEWBERG

Medford high school's negative debate team, Irene Stubbiefield and Dolph Janes, was Saturday afternoon successful in defeating the Newberg affirmative team in their debate at Eugene on the radio control question.

ALLIED WELFARE CLUBS TO LUNCHEON

The regular monthly luncheon of the Allied Welfare association will be held at the Hotel Medford this coming Friday, April 27, and representatives of all organizations included in the group are urged to be present.

The hotel arranges the luncheon table for the regular meetings with the expectation of a full attendance and it causes considerable disturbance for other members of the association, as well as the hotel staff, when representatives fail to come.

Luncheon will be served at 12:10 o'clock and all members will be notified of the meeting again the middle of the week, in an effort to gain a full attendance.

HOME THREATENED BY FIRE SET BY GIRL, 5, AT PLAY

Betty Jane Burdell, five, daughter of Mrs. Manilla Burdell of South Riverside, built her house of blocks yesterday afternoon. And like many such houses it came to a bad end. For Betty, in addition to building it, lighted it, and the candle started a fire, which threatened the Burdell home.

The blocks burned, then a piece of canvas, hanging over the back porch caught the flames, carrying them on to the roof of the house. The fire department was summoned, but Mrs. Burdell had extinguished the flames with the garden hose before the firemen arrived.

Questioned, Betty informed officials, "I built a little house with blocks and then I got a little candle from the garage and lighted it with a little match."

She then went into the house to change her clothes and go down town with her mother. In the meantime the "little candle" and "little match" started a big fire.

MOTT OPTIMISTIC OREGON WILL GET FEDERAL ROAD AID

Congressman James W. Mott of Oregon has been appointed a member of the sub-committee to secure rule for debate and vote on the roads committee bill, recently reported and authorizing the appropriation of $400,000,000 aid to states for road construction, it was announced in a wire received here from Washington today.

The committee is composed of two democrats and one republican. The sum for road construction is to come from funds to be appropriated in the new public works bill. Application for rule has been filed and the committee is promised a hearing before the rules committee next week.

Congressman Mott states that he has conferred with all republican members of the rules committee and that they have expressed their desire to grant the rule for immediate consideration.

If the bill is passed in its present form Oregon's share will be about $5,000,000.

Runaway Miss Found Marian Perrell, 14, is being held in the Jackson county jail, awaiting the arrival of her mother from Tacoma, to take her home. The young miss, who had run away from her home in the Washington city, was located here Friday evening by city police, and the Tacoma police department was notified.
