deered a car, and drove off ahead of the federal men. One, carrying a machine gun over his arm, ran into a nearby tavern. Turner's resort, and demanded of Alvin Turner that he furnish him a car.

Before Turner could reply, an auto containing two government men and a constable drew up outside. Shouting "who's that?" the desperado ran out and opened fire with his machine gun.

W. Carter Baum, a Chicago federal agent, was killed. Constable Carl O. Christensen of Spider Lake, Wis., was critically wounded and J. C. Newman of Chicago, a department of justice agent, was seriously wounded.

Two dead, four wounded. The gunplay had taken two lives and left four wounded. Two of Bolsonseau's companions were struck by bullets.

The department of justice, in its official report, said Dillinger and three followers, among them John Hamilton, his first lieutenant, escaped from the resort to the lake shore at its rear door.

Between midnight and dawn, the guns were silent. The federal agents then approached the house, forced open the door, and threw in tear gas bombs.

Three young women, between 20 and 25 years of age, ran out, gasping and choking. Their names were withheld by the government agents.

The department named as the three John Hamilton, escaped Michigan City, Ind., convict. Tom Carroll, St. Paul bank robber. Homer Van Meter, with a record as a kidnaper and stickup man.

Dillinger came to the camp from Sault Ste Marie, said J. Edgar Hoover, head of the federal investigating bureau. Arriving at the camp Friday, the gang and its three girl companions had held a continuous "party" since then.

Dillinger leaves luggage. Dillinger left his luggage behind. In a suitcase identified as his was found an assortment of pajamas and silk shirts.

After the three women surrendered, the agents shot out the resort windows, and as soon as the gas had lifted searched it thoroughly. Meanwhile, about two dozen officers of the government — took up the hunt, confident that they were close behind the elusive Indiana gunman.

Roads in Iron and Vilas counties were in bad condition, local authorities said, and the good ones were few enough to permit careful watch.

It was because the government men learned that Dillinger was about to leave the little Bohemia resort, said Hoover, that they struck at night. But the shots fired when Bolsonseau was killed gave Dillinger the alarm.

Dogs Gave Alarm. Hoover, in his official statement of what happened, said watchdogs began to bark when the federal men crept close to the resort.

As they did, three men emerged, got into a car, and started to turn it around. The government men ordered them to halt, and when they failed to obey, opened fire.

It contained Bolsonseau, who was 38 and lived in Mercer, John Morris, 59, an official of a CCG camp near Mercer, and John Hoffman, 28, a gas station attendant.

The volley which killed Bolsonseau wounded Morris in the kidney and twice in the shoulder. Hoffman was hit in the left elbow and was cut by flying glass as the shots shattered the windshield.

Of the three on which the lone bandit opened fire at Turner's resort, Christensen was most critically wounded. He was shot five times in the body and legs, and was not expected to live. Federal Agent J. C. Newman had regained consciousness by noon.

Giving their 100 per cent endorsement to the Oregon Diamond Jubilee celebration to be held in June, members of the Kiwanis club today, at luncheon at the Hotel Medford, passed a resolution urging all business men to underwrite the celebration, which it is estimated, will bring the expenditure of $100,000 in Medford during the week of June 3 to 9.

This was the figure given the club today by M. N. Hogan, who stressed the advantages to be gained by all Medford businesses through supporting the Jubilee.

Frank DeSousa, local postmaster, was the main speaker at today's luncheon, and with the aid of Roland Beach, assistant postmaster, gave an interesting review of postoffice history in Medford.

Lewis Ulrich of the National Re-employment service, with headquarters in the city hall, urged all business men to use his office when seeking help. He stated that he has a complete classification of the unemployed and is anxious to place the people registered.

A resolution, endorsing adequate naval defense of the Columbia river, was passed by the club today. The resolution called for the development of the Tongue Point site on the lower Columbia river, now owned by the United States government.

Cyril Sander, promising young pupil of Sebastian Apollo, entertained with two piano numbers, which won enthusiastic applause from the Kiwanians.

Captain Durham of the Salvation Army extended an invitation to all to attend the sacred concert to be sponsored by the Salvation Army. Among guests at today's luncheon was Lieutenant-Governor Potter of Portland.

CULINARY CRAFT....

ELECTRIC REFRIGERATION We are told that mechanical refrigeration had been introduced into this country some time before it was taken seriously.

Then a winter similar to the one just past was experienced and natural methods of refrigeration were almost non-existent. As usual, necessity brought us to the consideration of new inventions, and Estella Dorgan then came the recognition of the value of mechanical (electric) refrigeration. For a while, of course, the use was confined to commercial installations generally. But, with the coming of domestic types of machines, electric refrigeration has revolutionized buying habits, and eating standards of the nation. Perfect food storage has made possible purchasing in quantities at advantageous prices. Dry cold has made it possible for the housewife to serve crisp salads and dainty desserts at any hour and beverages that are best served cold are now available in our homes at our will.

Since the method of freezing desserts is quite different from the older hand operated freezer, the method of combining the ingredients must also be changed in order to achieve satisfactory results. Do not use your old recipes for mechanical refrigeration. For smooth creams a way must be devised to break down the crystals which form in the freezing process. Stirring with paddles was the old
