

NAZI SCHOOLS DOOM LIBERAL REICH THOUGHT

'People' Supreme Idea of Entire Hitler Regime — Spiritual Leaders Revamp Whole German Culture

By PAUL KECKEMETI
United Press Staff Correspondent
BERLIN.—(UP)—The consolidation of the Nazi regime does not mean exclusive political domination by one single party, but also the growing tendency of certain cultural, philosophical and scientific conceptions.

According to the Nazis, "liberal" science, philosophy any religion are doomed. The main reason for the Nazis' rejection of the traditional "liberal" schools of thought lies in the impersonality of liberalism. According to the Nazis, it is not only vain, but positively harmful, to seek what is true, just or sacred "in itself."

The supreme notion of the Nazi creed is that of "people." Everything else, even the notion of "race," is subordinated to it. "People" is something mystical. It is a biological, historical and spiritual entity at the same time. As a biological entity it is identical with "race." Race is something sacred, but only because it is the vehicle of the "people." The same applies to the ideas of "nation" and "state." They are sacred, but only insofar as they are vehicles of the "people."

The spiritual leaders of the Nazis now are engaged in reinterpreting the whole of German culture from the point of view of the primacy of the notion of "people."

This reinterpretation is done by the party's political leaders rather than by theoreticians.

Many of Hitler's, Goebbels' and Goering's public speeches are partly or entirely devoted to theory.

Relies on Contrast. In Hitler's theoretical utterances, the emphasis lies upon the contrast between the "individual" and the "community" or "people."

His tremendous self-assurance and his contempt of all adversaries mainly is explained by the fact that he regards himself as the only legitimate exponent of "the people"; thus, critics and adversaries, according to him, are people who place their individuality above the collective interest of the people.

Hitler has achieved some striking effects by contrasting individualism with collectivism. The most successful slogan of the Nazis is "Gemelnuts geht vor Eignenuts," meaning: "The welfare of the community above personal welfare."

OREGON CHURCHES PLANNING COUNCIL

PORTLAND, April 26.—(P)—A proposal calling for statewide organization of an Oregon council of churches will be submitted Protestant denominations at their spring and summer meetings.

The suggestion was made Wednesday by members of the Oregon council of home missions and the Oregon council of Christian education. The proposed organization would be a statewide clearing house for religious activities and problems.

DRY AGENT'S VICTIM GETS BELATED HELP

WASHINGTON, April 26.—(P)—The senate today passed a bill appropriating $100 a month for lifetime for George Walter, Portland, Ore., who was shot in the back about 11 years ago by federal prohibition officers raiding a still in southwest Washington.

The bill, introduced by Senator Steiwer (R. Ore.), now goes to the President, having already passed the house.

WHERE ELUSIVE DILLINGER HAS SPREAD TERROR

This map shows the trail of John Dillinger, the nation's most sought outlaw, since he escaped from jail at Crown Point, Ind. His latest escape, the raid of a police station at Warsaw, Ind., occurred only a few hours after he was variously reported on the Pacific Coast and other areas. The police net spread to catch him extends from coast to coast. (Associated Press Photo)

MEDFORD PUPILS IN ASHLAND FOR MUSIC FESTIVAL

One hundred students from the Medford Junior high school left early this afternoon for Ashland to join 1,000 other grade children of southern Oregon and northern California as participants in the sixth annual spring music festival, sponsored by the Southern Oregon Normal school.

The band and the school choruses were included in the group. The singers will join others from southern Oregon and northern California in the various combined demonstrations and one chorus, directed by Mrs. Evelyn Nye, director of music at Junior high school, will represent the school, individually.

The senior high school band and glee clubs will participate in tomorrow's program, which will be devoted to high school work.

Approximately 25 schools are represented in the bands, choruses and dances to be presented in Ashland today.

On Friday, 12 to 15 high schools will be represented by choruses, bands and orchestras. All programs will be presented at the Ashland Junior high school.

Assisting in direction today are Mrs. Neva DeSpain of Klamath Falls, Charles P. Graham of Mount Shasta, Cal., and Don Colvig of Weed.

Addresses were given to open the program this afternoon by Mayor Thornton Wiley of Ashland and President Walter Redford of the Southern Oregon Normal school.

SAVES LITTLE BROTHER FROM DEATH

Placing his nine-year-old brother on a platform off the edge of a railroad bridge near Modesto, Calif., Elwood Hennemeyer (above), 12, saved his brother's life as a train thundered across the span. Elwood saved his own life by climbing under the trestle. He tried to hang there while the train passed, but slipped and fell 20 feet. His first words, upon waking in the hospital, were "was brother saved?" Elwood (shown in the hospital) received a broken arm and other injuries. (Associated Press Photo) as a milk dealer and therefore required to sell its product at the same price as any other milk dealer in Corvallis. Attorney-General I. H. Van Winkle held in an opinion handed down today.

He held that the law creating the milk control board vested in the board powers to fix both wholesale and retail prices of milk when sold or purchased for human consumption. Also that the law made no distinction between state agencies and private persons or corporations.

Report Accident — Jimmie Garrard of Butte Falls, stationed with the CCC camp at South Fork of the Rogue, filed an accident report with the Medford city police, concerning a collision Monday at 2 p. m., with the car John Down of Butte Falls was driving. The accident occurred on the Butte Falls-Lake of the Woods highway, a half mile east of the O. & O. camp No. 3. David E. Hodges of company 1642, CCC, Butte Falls, was named as a witness.

NEW SALADS

Calavo and Orange
Slice the Calavo thin and cut three oranges into segments free from all membranes. Marinate in French dressing and set in a cold place for one hour. Place alternate sections of the two fruits on the salad plate and garnish with crisp lettuce leaves or a combination of lettuce and celery curls. Usually the dressing used for marinating will be sufficient, but more may be added if desired.

Cheese and Apple Layer
1 package lemon Jello.
1 cup boiling water.
1 cup cool water.
2 tablespoons lemon juice.
1 red apple, diced.
1 teaspoon sugar.
1 pkg. (3 oz.) cream cheese.
1 teaspoon salt.
1/4 cup chopped nuts.

Disolve Jello in hot water, add cool water, lemon juice and salt. Combine the apple, sugar and one teaspoon of the lemon juice. Chill all then fold the apples into one-half of the Jello and chill until solid. Beat the remaining Jello with a rotary beater until light and fluffy; fold in grater cheese and chopped nuts. Pour over the first layer and chill for 1 1/2 hours. Serve on crisp lettuce leaves and top with mayonnaise.

"Bunny" Pear Salad
4 canned pear halves.
1 package cream cheese.
1 pint milk.
4 blanched almonds.
8 cloves.
1 tablespoon cream.

Molten the cream cheese with cream and make a thick paste to fill the centers of pears. Place on beds of shredded lettuce, rounded side up. In the small end of the pear place two cloves for eyes; split the almonds and place two halves in each end for the ears and use a tiny strip of pimento for the mouth. Place a small ball of the cream cheese mixture at the large end for a tail. Chill thoroughly and serve with mayonnaise.

6 medium sized tomatoes.
1/2 cup diced pineapple.
1/2 cup chopped nuts.
1/2 cup cream cheese softened with a little sweet cream.

Tomato pulp.
Remove the pulp from tomatoes and cut the edges down into six petals, rounding the corners to resemble tulips. Spread the softened cheese carefully on upper portion of these petals and place in the refrigerator to chill thoroughly. Sprinkle the inside with salt and pepper when ready to serve and fill with the pineapple, nuts and drained pulp. Top with mayonnaise and serve on a crisp lettuce leaf.

Green Pepper Cones
6 slender green peppers.
4 cups shredded cabbage.
1 cup cream.
3 tablespoons vinegar.
4 tablespoons sugar.
1/2 teaspoon salt.

Remove centers from six cone-shaped green peppers and chill the shells thoroughly. Place on salad plate an sides and fill to running over with the finely shredded cabbage combined with the cream dressing. No further garnishment nor additional dressing is necessary.

Cucumber Boats
3 medium sized cucumbers.
3 tomatoes.
1 cup diced celery.
1/4 cup French dressing.
Pale lettuce leaves.
Mayonnaise.

Peel the cucumbers and cut in two lengthwise. Scoop out the centers and dice. Dice the tomatoes also. Chill all ingredients and marinate the diced cucumbers, tomatoes and celery in French dressing. When ready to serve, place the halves of cucumbers on salad plates. Fill with marinated vegetables and make a sail of a lettuce leaf supported by a toothpick. Garnish the sides of the boats with mayonnaise and sprigs of parsley.

a letter to the court, which Deputy District Attorney George W. Neilson read in which Matney promised, "never to take another drink as long as I live, and to write no more checks unless I have money in the bank to cover them."
Suspended sentences of six months were also granted to Clarence Edmunds and Jerry L. Johnson, who plead guilty to the theft of wool from Williams Brothers of the Dead Indian district. The pair admitted stealing the wool, and selling it to a Grants Pass firm. The court characterized the act as "senseless and foolish."

Alfred S. Hemington, charged with the theft of an auto, was arraigned and passing of sentence postponed until a "check-up" on his record obtained by the district attorney's office.

800 MILES... 50 MILES AN HOUR... 17 MILES PER GALLON

Here's a typical letter from the many sent us by satisfied, happy owners of the 1934 Pontiac. Read it!

E. H. MIXON
"On my longest trip, which was a little over eight hundred miles, I averaged seventeen miles per gallon. I averaged a mile per hour average at one time but did not have to stop for gas. I think this is an excellent average considering the high speed at which I sometimes drive. The 1934 Pontiac is even more than I claimed by the manufacturer."
