MODES of the moment

Jacket costumes of sheer fabrics are being favored for warmer weather wear. Navy blue is the color leader.
Liana Merwin

Just imagine yourself outfitted for spring in one of the new sheer jacket costumes with its youthful and vivacious appearance that fairly announces its smartness in every line. Fabrics are conspicuously important this season, with ribbed sheers being shown prominently in both jacket costumes and frocks. Navy blue and black are the favorites and feature jackets in hip length, finger-tip length or longer three-quarter length coats combined with an attractively styled frock of the same fabric.

Illustrated here is one of these effective ensembles fashioned of ribbed sheer material in navy blue, featuring a sleeveless finger-tip length jacket and a one-piece dress.

The dress has three-quarter length, full, puffed sleeves with an effective diamond design in open work trimming extending almost the full length, as sketched. A white pique collar and cascade jabot trim the neckline. A self belt for the normal waistline runs through a large-covered buckle and there are kick pleats both back and front for hem fullness.

With the sleeveless jacket removed, you have a charming, stylish frock which can be worn separately with equal effectiveness when the occasion demands.

MY PLEDGE AS A MEDFORD CITIZEN.
I will co-operate with President Roosevelt's program to create more jobs.
I will help make Medford more beautiful for the Diamond Jubilee. Therefore, I pledge myself to:
1. Repair any building I may possess.
2. Remodel any building I may possess.
3. Create any type of work which will give someone a job, and also beautify Medford.
I would like to have an estimate on the cost of the work I have in mind.
Yours for a City Beautiful.

The major part of the session. The ways and means committee will have the lecture hour period, and they have requested the home economics committee not to serve refreshments. The committee is very secretive about its plans, but urge all to bring extra change. No doubt some very novel entertainment as well as refreshments will be furnished by the committee.

CUSTARD SUGGESTIONS
When baking custards place the dish in a pan of hot water and bake in slow oven. Too quick cooking or over cooking will cause the mixture to become watery or curdled. Custards are delicious and should be frequently served during this season. They are economical and nutritious.

PUTNAM PLANNING NEW BUILDING FOR CAPITAL JOURNAL

SALEM, May 2—(P)—Contract for the construction of a $25,000 building in which will be housed the Salem Capital Journal publishing plant, has been let to William and L. L. Quigley, George Putnam, editor and publisher of the newspaper announced today.

The contract calls for the completion of the structure, a two-story modernistic-gothic type building, by September 1. It will be equipped with fireproof and soundproof facilities, will be steam-heated with automatic ventilation and a natural lighting system. The building will be located on Chemeketa street, directly west of the city hall.

"The Capital Journal is 43 years old but never had its own building," Putnam stated. "It has outgrown its present inadequate quarters and merits a permanent home with room for future expansion. The new structure will be the finest exclusively newspaper building in the northwest, with plant to match."

The decision to build at this time was made with the thought in mind of helping along the recovery program, Putnam said.

THOMAS IN CHARGE LOAN CO. ASSETS

W. E. Thomas of this city has been placed in charge of the local assets of the Western Loan and Building company by the Oregon corporation department, it was announced here today. From now on all payments and other business will be transacted at his offices on South Central.

The company, the letter received here states, is anxious to refinance with the Home Owners' Loan corporation, as many of the borrowers are eligible. A new ruling has made it possible for any borrower of an association in receivership to secure a loan subject to certain requirements.

Mr. Thomas is representative here for the Union Savings and Loan association, Oregon and Washington Mortgage Co., and the Northern Holding company.

Mothers' Stamp—Here—Mothers' Day stamps will go on sale at the local postoffice tomorrow in celebration of Mothers' Day, and all citizens are asked to send their mothers some of the commemorative stamps, regardless of mailing needs.

Pomona Grange

(By Gertrude Haak)
Pomona Grange met at Eagle Point Saturday in regular all-day session, as guests of Eagle Point Grange. A wonderful dinner was served by the Eagle Point Grange home economics ladies, and everyone had a great time. Lecture hour was in charge of Mrs. O. C. Maust of Phoenix, and consisted of numbers by the Lake Creek and Eagle Point Granges. The program follows: Reading, "How to Select a Wife," by Lulu Taylor; request songs, "Cowboy Jack" and encore, Bill Holman; reading, "Ma at the Basketball Game," Minnie Putnam; song, "Good-night, Little Girl of My Dreams," Harry Tonn, with Frances Wilson at the piano; encore: reading, "The Grange Goat," Miss Violet Spencer; encore: trombone solo, Leland Charley, accompanied by Mary Charley; encore: reading, "Yacop Strauss," Mrs. Edith Weidman; song, trio, "Because He Joined the Grange," Minnie Putnam, Lulu Taylor, Dr. A. Forber; tap dance by June Dingler.

A short but beautiful and effective memorial service for deceased Pomona members was made a part of the proceedings immediately after the lecture hour. Those to whom a tribute was placed upon the altar were Brothers
