AIR MAIL WILL RESUME TUESDAY

News Behind The News
By PAUL MALLON
WASHINGTON, D. C., May 5.—The White House and the senate leaders turned so much inside heat on the boys in the senate that the passage of the administration tariff bill is now a matter of course.
Much of the shrewd back-stage leading job was done by Vice-President Garner.
Vice-presidents never attend secret party meetings of sense.
Paul Mallon
Garner attended the Democratic tariff caucus, and what is more unusual, he made a speech.
Garner knows how to handle congressmen from long experience in the house. He talked political turkey to the boys, and may have been the one who figured out the idea of using the war-within-two-years scare to bring them around. It sounds like him.

SERVICE STARTS MONDAY NIGHT, WORD RECEIVED

C. Of C. Campaign For Renewal Aids—United Air Lines To Stop Here On Former Schedule.

L. G. DeVaney, United Air Lines field manager in Medford late last night, was advised by Superintendent of Air Mail A. O. Willoughby of San Francisco, that the United Air Lines will start carrying the mails on Tuesday, 12:01 a. m., with service from the Medford airport, twice daily.
Northbound mail will be taken from here at 5:20 a. m., and the southbound will be carried on the ship leaving the Medford Municipal airport at 12:10 a. m. By this schedule, the first mail to leave here under the new plan, will be Monday, midnight, Mr. DeVaney said.

Following intensive campaigning, headed by the Medford Chamber of Commerce, for the restoration of the airmail route through this city, there was general rejoicing here yesterday over news carried in the Portland Journal announcing resumption at midnight Monday of three major airmail routes, one, the coast route through Medford.

Announcement was made by the postoffice department, according to the report from Washington, that the army mail would take over from the army the mail on the transcontinental Newark-Oakland line, the Salt Lake City-Seattle and the Seattle-San Diego routes, the latter including the city of Medford.

During the next week the army is expected to be relieved of carrying the mail on several additional routes for which temporary contracts were awarded to private lines Thursday night.

Beginning private operations on the three routes at 12:01 a. m. Tuesday will be a major step in abandonment of army mail service. The army took over the job on February 20, immediately after cancellation of former private contracts.

Detailed schedules for the three routes to be resumed by the United Air Lines will be announced soon, the report stated.

Although it was taken for granted that the report was true, it was official word had been received by the Medford postoffice late last night. Announcement was anticipated Monday morning by postoffice officials.

Airport representatives also stated that they had received no announcement of the change reported from Washington through the press.

PORTLAND, Ore., May 5.—(AP)—United Air Lines will resume carrying the air mail from Portland at midnight Monday night.

The army air corps flies at Pearson field will return to their units at Crissy field and Fort Lewis.

Formal announcement of the schedule has not been made yet, but it was understood the first plane would head north at 7:20 Tuesday morning, five minutes later one will head east and at 7:30 a third plane will soar southward.

All mail letters again will reach San Francisco four and a half hours after leaving Swan Island airport at Portland.

GRANTS PASS, Ore., May 5.—(AP)—Discovery of a food cache in the wild and treacherous Feavine Mountain district today spurred the search for Clarence Burke, charged with the shooting of Martin Jennings and sought for questioning into the slaying of Roland Burr.

Additional possumen were dispatched to the district after officers found the food cache. It was believed that more men would be free Sunday to press the search and some hope was held out for discovery of Burke in a mountain retreat.

Officers believed they were close to their quarry and hoped he soon would have to show himself for more food.

CONGRESS HEARS DILLINGER WORTH $25 TO CAPTOR

Patman Reward Bill Would Make Reward $25,000 For Public Enemy Dead Or Alive—Anti-Crime Laws Framed.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—(AP)—Ten anti-crime bills, including one to permit the federal government to put a stiff price on the heads of criminals branded as national public enemies, were whipped through the house today and speeded on their way to the senate.

The name of John Dillinger, middle western desperado, rang through the legislative chamber time and again during debate on the measures, which are parts of Attorney General Cummings' twelve-point program for investing law authorities with greater power to deal with kidnapers, gangsters and their ilk.

The Patman reward bill, which would authorize an appropriation of $25,000 to be used for rewards for the capture of designated public enemies, "dead or alive," and as much more for rewards for information leading to arrest and conviction of criminals, stipulates the attorney general must determine whether a person has previously been convicted of a felony before he may be designated a public enemy and subject of the award.

Representative Cochran (D., Mo.), sought to remove the limitation, but Chairman Sumners (D., Tex.), of the judiciary committee, contended that "in view of the fact that this is an authorization for the attorney general to pick a man who hasn't been tried and offer a reward for shooting him down, some restriction ought to be made."

Cochran insisted many of the worst criminals sought had escaped previous convictions, but Sumners and other committee members sided with the chairman's position that "I think there is such a thing as staying on our feet."

Representative Patman (D., Tex.), pointed out to the house that "the only reward up for Dillinger today is $25," and said he could see why local peace officers, however patriotic and bound to their duty, would not put themselves in the path of danger in dealing with such characters when a local law had not been violated and there was no provision for taking care of their families in case the officers were killed.

Cummings had endorsed the bill as he thought "would be very helpful."

Now In Ohio
TOLEDO, Ohio, May 5.—(AP)—John Dillinger today was trailed into Ohio, where his last previous visit resulted in the killing of a sheriff and the condemnation to death of two his henchmen.

On the cold trail of the bandits who robbed the First National Bank of Fostoria of $17,200, wounding five persons with machine gun fire, police picked up clues they said indicated a definite link with America's public enemy No. 1.

Toledo detectives said they had authentic information that Dillinger's master machine gunner, Homer Van Meter, participated in the Fostoria robbery and that Dillinger was in the city during the bank raid, ready to aid his companion if plans were afoot.

Officers awaited from H. C. Robinson, chief of the state's bureau of criminal inspection, development of fingerprints obtained at Fostoria in the belief it would seal the link with Dillinger.

Meanwhile, bank robbers struck in Ohio for the seventh time in 18 days. Two men invaded the Farmers bank of Goodhope, seven miles south of Washington Court house, terrorized a woman cashier, Miss Effie Palmer, and scooped up $567.

AUTO BUS WRECK HURTS EIGHTEEN
MISSION, B. C., May 5.—(AP)—A motor bus carrying members of the Hotel Greeters of America was wrecked near here tonight, injuring 18 persons, three of them seriously.

Fourteen passengers, including Mr. and Mrs. H. Halcomb of Portland, Ore., received emergency medical attention for minor cuts and bruises.

Congressman Iks
MINNEAPOLIS, May 5.—(AP)—Three irate motorists who claimed Congressman Fred Shoemaker, farmer, Minnesota, had driven his car into theirs, had the congressman brought to a police station here late today.

INSULL DECLARES 'I AM ENGLISH' AS SHIP NEARS PORT

S. S. EXILONA, AT SEA, May 5.—(AP)—As he drew near to the United States and a criminal trial tonight, Samuel Insull declared, "I am English and proud of it."

To passengers in the dining saloon at the captain's farewell dinner the man who amassed a fortune in Chicago and then saw it collapse, said, "I am English for ten generations back."

The statement was delivered forcefully as an outgrowth of banter among the diners concerning Insull's nationality. He was born in England.

Only two days ago Insull was called upon officially to say whether he was a resident or non-resident of the United States but he returned unassigned a customs declaration requiring the statement.

Insull appeared to enjoy the dinner greatly, but toasted with water when others lifted glasses of champagne. He listened to a broadcast account of the Kentucky derby after dinner.

"Appetizers a la Insull" headed the menu for the dinner.

The Exilona is due to complete her long voyage from Turkey at Jersey on Monday.

FREAK TORNADOES IN SOUTH LEAVE DEATH, WRECKAGE

ALEXANDRIA, La., May 5.—(AP)—Three persons were killed and others injured in tornadoes which swept across sections of Louisiana and Mississippi late today leaving a path of wreckage in their wake.

Green Maddox, 54, tenant farmer of near Chenyeville, La.; Eddie Starks, negro woman, of Franklin county, Miss.; a 14-year old negro girl named Johnson, of near Chenyeville, La.

The freakish blast struck first in the southern part of Rapides Parish in central Louisiana and a short time later tornado winds tore across Franklin county in southwestern Mississippi.

A dozen or more persons were reported injured in the two states, some of them so seriously they were not expected to recover. Livestock was also reported killed.

MILITARY SPIRIT IN WORLD BODES ILL, HULL WARNS

Feverish Arming By Nations Imperils Peace, Secretary Tells College Alumni—Urges Co-operation To Avert Calamity.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—(AP)—Secretary Hull said tonight that militarism sweeping many sections of the world might lead to war unless curbed through international cooperation to promote peace, understanding and friendship.

In an address before his fellow alumni of Cumberland university, Hull said:

"Today numerous nations are feverishly arming. They are taking their citizens beyond the limit of ability to pay, and in many ways developing a military spirit which, regardless of present motives of self-defense, may probably lead to war, unless past human experience is to be reversed."

"While there are no signs of immediate war anywhere, it is true that seriously volcanic conditions exist in many parts of the world, peace stabilization is all-important at this stage. It would be both a blunder and a crime for civilized peoples to fall much longer to take notice of present dangerous tendencies which negative every idea of friendliness and of the spirit of the good neighbor."

Although, Hull said, the world war was supposed to have been fought for democracy, popular government has toppled over in every part of the world since then, and civilization has been on the decline.

"Nations everywhere," he asserted, "are steadily narrowing their vision, their policies and their programs."

The secretary of state said, however, he was not discouraged, as he was certain people everywhere would quickly awake to the necessity of returning to fundamental truths.

"The United States is in a position to render valuable service to the world in the existing emergency," he said. "This nation will continue, as in recent months, to offer wise, sound and efficient leadership with suitable programs for political, economic, social and moral rehabilitation."

CLAIM CUBA REDS INFLAME SCHOOLS
HAVANA, Cuba, May 5.—(AP)—Charges that communists were active in Havana high schools and a report, later denied, that former Defense Secretary Antonio Gutierrez was planning an insurrection started Havana today.

Communists called upon students "who denounced the administration as a government of assassins" and started a 48-hour island wide strike to maintain a "united front against the government."

FREED METHODIST BISHOP ORDERED TO PACIFIC AREA

JACKSON, Miss., May 5.—(AP)—Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of Richmond was assigned to the Pacific coast and Bishop Arthur J. Moore of San Francisco embarked upon a world-wide evangelistic career under the plan of Episcopal visitation announced here today by the college of bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, at the general conference of the church.

The assignments for the next quadriennium were read by Bishop John M. Moore of Dallas before a busy legislative group.

A spirited discussion over the presiding elders marked the close of the day's sessions. The conference after lengthy debate passed a measure which prevents a presiding elder from immediately succeeding himself after four years on a circuit.

He must serve at least four years in a regular pulpit or some other relation of the church before returning to the presiding eldership. The act also passed a rule which prevents a minister from spending more than four years in a given charge.

The measure was referred to the new judicial council for a ruling on whether it is a constitutional question needing reference to the annual conference for ratification.

The general board of temperance and social welfare, headed by Bishop Cannon, and a recognized factor in the national political scene under his militant direction, today was abolished by the general conference.

Acting just two days after returning to retire Bishop Cannon from the college of bishops "for infirmities," delegates voted his powerful board out of existence under the heading of an economy program contemplating general church board consolidation.

SELF DEFENSE IS BEND MAN'S PLEA
BEND, Ore., May 5.—(AP)—James T. Barnes, accused of having shot Krohn head to death on Lundin's ranch near Lapine last Sunday, today pleaded not guilty to the charge of first degree murder and was ordered to stand trial May 22.

Barnes was indicted by the grand jury which was called into special session following an inquest at which practically all the evidence indicated Barnes had shot in self-defense during a gun battle with Lundin. It later developed, officers said, that Sheriff Claude McCauley and state police had uncovered some important new evidence.

Barnes is a former resident of Los Angeles. He came to the Bend country last summer with his wife.

CLEVELAND AGOG OVER RAIL DEAL
CLEVELAND, May 5.—(AP)—Financial circles buzzed here tonight with talk of a gigantic deal being planned by the Van Swearingen railroad interests to improve the status of their huge holding companies, the Allegheny and Chesapeake corporations. Sources close to the Van Swearingens denied one aspect of the report was true.

The deal, said locally published reports, is understood to be predicated upon the fact that at present, Allegheny, owner of 70 percent of Chesapeake's stock can capitalize only on its market value and not on the higher actual value of the assets in Chesapeake's portfolio.

BRITISH COLONEL CHARGES BELGIUM RULER MURDERED

Death of Albert While Mountain Climbing Called "Spoof"—Brussels Views Tale With Disgust.

LONDON, May 5.—(AP)—Colonel Graham Seton Hutchison, known as the "British officer who stopped a war," fought a private conflict today over his startling statement that King Albert I of Belgium did not die accidentally but was "tapped on the back of the head" because he refused to "conspire" against "defenseless Germany."

Hutchison, author and publicist who was an official of a British commission in Upper Silesia in 1931 and who has crowded plenty of excitement into his 43 years, stuck by his guns, however, but didn't visit the embassy.

He described the story of Albert's death while mountain climbing 35 miles from Brussels February 17 as the "biggest piece of spoof put out on the world in the last six months." As quoted by the Nottingham Journal, he told the Nottingham, England, Writers' club last night that:

"Albert did not die as a result of an Alpine accident, believe me. I know the facts. The spoof was put over by planned perjury in such a way that it is simply baffling to intelligent people."

"The story of Albert's death was issued in Belgium before he was dead. A man with a rope around his waist does not go climbing by himself. His field glasses were found 300 yards from the body. I have ascertained that there were no bruises on the king's body or hands."

"In other words, he was tapped on the back of the head. That is known in Belgium. Nobody dares speak of the death of King Albert in Belgium today."

"The facts are that King Albert was opposed to war. He would not play any part in 'the devilry' of France in conspiring for war against defenseless Germany. . . . When Albert I was dead, the communists—who in fact represent the interests of international finance—were able to stand up on their hind legs and yell for revolution."

Brussels was deeply stirred. Semi-official circles called the remarks "disgusting" and "insulting to the dead" and said the colonel wanted "to get a little notoriety."

CORVALLIS, Ore., May 5.—(AP)—The Medford high school debate team tonight won the 1934 state championship by taking a 2 to 1 decision from Hermiston high.

The district championship cups were presented to the two teams by Burt Brown Barker, vice-president of the University of Oregon. The state championship cup was presented by Dr. E. E. Decou of the university.

WILL ROGERS says:
SAN FRANCISCO, May 4.—Headline in papers today says, "Silas says we are drifting." I had to do a little research work to find out who Silas was, and see if he had any idea where we were drifting. I found out he is an attorney from Chicago and was delivering a speech in Washington before the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

Silas had the whole thing in brief case form, excepting the destination. It was like some big federal officer arising at a banquet and saying "Dillinger is drifting," and you couldn't very well dispute him unless you happened to ask him, "Where?"
