

BASEBALL TEAMS REORGANIZED FOR SECOND TOURNEY

High School Intermural Play Will Be Continued After Squads Shaken Up to Provide Equal Strength

(By John Koppen.)

With the first half of the annual high school intermural baseball season over, a meeting was held Wednesday evening to reorganize the teams so as to continue the games until the close of school.

The eight teams participating in the first half of the tourney were picked by Coach D. K. Burgher. They were chosen as evenly matched as possible so as to insure a real battle for everyone.

Team two placed second in the contest, with Leonard Hicks, leader. Those active on team two were: Bennett Lewis, Lewis Campbell, Herbert Clifford, Walker Young, Wallace Lowery, Dwight Short, Jimmy Horner, Chauncey Brewer, Laurel Morris, Bob Cherry, John Dickinson, Ray Ettinger and Jack Nelson.

Placing third was team six. Floyd Baker captained this team. Members were: Ray Galkinsky, Paul Stewart, Robert Young, Truman Bishop, Dolph Guyer, Ivan Newton, Albert Wall, Ed Carter, Elmo McGraw, LeRoy Edwards, Tom Harvey, Warren Law, Charles De Wolfe, Ted Lindsey, Harold Evans and Hugh McReynolds.

The members of the other five teams were: Team No. 1: Russell Brown, captain; Verne Campbell, Bob Young, Bob Gail, Don Field, Phelan Benford, Irwin Doty, Dorr Barrett, Thyle Ford, Dow Lewis, Paul Sparks, Dick Lewis.

Team No. 2: Sam VanDyke, captain; J. L. Campbell, Harold Littrell, Ardo Stocks, Arthur Crause, Ivan Cobb, Lewis Thanoos, Bob Archer, Bob James, Zazuo Matuyama, Jim Henry, Glen Stewart, Gilbert Leland, Delmar Wright, Fred Beck, Norman Kerr.

Team No. 4: Hoke Curtis, captain; John Vimont, Albert Holzgang, Myron Walters, Wayne Harris, Bill Walden, Leonard Kilne, John Davidson, Price Shafer.

Team No. 5: Cleo Hicks, captain; H. E. Shaw, Bernard Matthews, George Oliver, Riley Cook, Robert Holzgang, William Sheels, Noel Benson, Warren Liggett, Agred Hooker, Charles Overmyer, John McKee, Don Gray.

Bill Henderson, "smoke-ball" pitcher formerly of the San Francisco Seals, was suspended until he fully recovers from the extraction of 18 teeth.

Bob Leane, outfielder, and Bob (Lefty) Garretson, utility first baseman from the University of Oregon, will be farmed out to some Western league club for seasoning if possible.

Two other members of the team, Bob Houtchens, pitcher, and Pete Cozart, infielder, were left behind when the team departed. Eighteen players took the road trip.

Back From Honeymoon

PETE BELCASTRO, belligerent Sacramento Italian who has just returned from a honeymoon trip through Mexico where he incidentally won a few wrestling matches, will again be seen on a Medford mat card when he tangles Thursday night with Paul Murdoch, in the main event.

Chief Little Wolf, Navajo Indian and Bunny Martin, will perform in the semi-final and Promoter Stack Lillard is trying to find a suitable opponent to face Swede Anderson.

ROGUES DEFEAT EWAUNA, 11 TO 3, IN K. F. CONTEST

Medford's Rogues blasted out their second straight Southern Oregon league win yesterday afternoon at Klamath Falls, by taking the Ewauana Box company into camp, 11-3.

Virgil Swanson and Paul Hoffard led the Rogues attack, Swanson putting a home-run and a triple and Hoffard connecting for a double and a triple.

McLean, on the mound for Medford, was touched for seven hits while the Rogues gathered eight bingles off Carstrom, four going for extra bases.

It was a great ball game until the ninth inning when Carstrom suddenly went sky-high. With the score 4-3 for Medford in that frame, he completely lost control, issued four free passes to first and hit one batter, and coupled with Swanson's homer to left center, gave up seven runs before the side was retired.

Medford counted three times in the first on Joania's single, Courtney's sacrifice hit and triples by Swanson and Hoffard.

One more they added in the second on singles by Williams and Joania with Haley's error in between.

Ewauana picked up one in the second on singles by Haley and Johnny Christenson, one in the sixth on one player by Martin and Wheeler, and one in the eighth on Wheeler's long triple and McLean's error.

Box score for Rogues vs Ewauana. Medford: Joania, 2b; Courtney, 1b; Swanson, lf-3b; Hoffard, cf; Hughes, rf; Haight, ss; Williams, 3b; Conlin, lf; Joy, c; McLean, p. Ewauana: Kiger, 2b; Martin, cf; Stanlake, lf; Wheeler, 1b.

JUNIORS WIN, 12-11 FROM EAGLE POINT

Heavy hitting on both sides featured a baseball game at Eagle Point yesterday, when the American Legion Juniors took from the Eagle Point high school, 12 to 11.

It was a good day of Campbell and Boylissa, who led the heavy hitting for the Juniors. Campbell rounded up four hits out of six many times at bat, one of them a three-bagger.

After two walks, Boylissa clouded out a homer and nearly repeated the performance when he clouded another good for three bases.

Heavy bat work for the Eagle Point-ers was led by Ashpole, who also gathered four hits for the day, one of them a three-bagger which brought in two men.

Legion batteries: Carr and Boylissa; Eagle Point batteries, Miller and Hanson.

EGAN PAIRED WITH MAX MARSTON IN TENTATIVE LINEUP

By Gayle Talbot. Associated Press Sports Writer. ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, May 7.—(AP)—After closely observing the American Walker cup golfers this morning in practice rounds played in typical blustery St. Andrews weather, Francis Oulmet, team captain, tentatively decided on four strong combinations which will be sent into action this afternoon for the first time in Scotch foursome play.

Emphasizing that the lineup was only tentative, Oulmet paired Johnny Goodman, the American open champion, with W. Lawson Little, the stock Californian; George T. Dunlap, Jr., U. S. amateur titleholder, with himself; Gus Moreland, the bronzed Texas youth with Jack Westland of Chicago, and H. Chandler Egan with Max Marston.

Johnny Fischer, the tall and spare Cincinnati slugger who turned in the best performances in earlier practice sessions, needs a little more seasoning on the difficult and tricky royal and ancient links and was omitted from the first foursome tryouts.

Oulmet indicated Fischer probably would be partnered with one of the other members of the team tomorrow.

Oulmet had an excellent opportunity to study the players in the morning round when the going was most difficult. A biting northwest wind played a premium on every shot and sent scores soaring.

Goodman and Little each banged around in 75, however, while Marston took a 70, Westland and Egan, 78, and Moreland, 80. Oulmet and Fischer did not play.

Golfers Given Intimate Picture of St. Andrews, Cradle of Modern Game

EDITOR'S NOTE—Virgil Pinkley, manager of the Salem bureau of the United Press, "covered" the last Walker cup match played abroad between the United States and Great Britain at Sandwich, Kent, while a member of the United Press London staff. He covered major international golf matches held in Great Britain during the seasons of 1929-31. Following is the first of a series of articles in which he gives American readers an intimate picture of the famous parent course of the royal and ancient game and the customs followed in the Walker cup matches which will be played this week.

By VIRGIL PINKLEY. (United Press Staff Correspondent.) SALEM, Ore., May 7.—(UP)—Three members of the United States Walker cup team which meets Great Britain in the seventh international amateur golf team match are products of the northwest.

The match will be played beginning next Friday over the historic St. Andrews links.

St. Andrews links, 50, twice national amateur champion, Jack Westland and W. Lawson Little, Jr., form the trio.

In 1930 the northwest sent Dr. O. F. Willing and Don Moe, Portland, to Sandwich, Kent, where both scored victories.

The Walker cup matches began in 1922 when George H. Walker presented a cup on behalf of the United States Golf Association. The cup was not intended for competition solely between the United States and Britain. Any other nation can submit a challenge.

Walker hoped the trophy would result in international competition, such as has developed in the tennis world for the Davis cup, now held by Great Britain.

The first match was played on Long Island and won by the United States, as have all the following five competitions.

Walker cup matches are held every two years in alternate nations. Each country may name a squad of ten players.

The match consists of eight singles and four foursome encounters. Each victory counts one point, with half a point for tied matches. Extra hole play is not permitted. The foursome contests are played on Friday and the singles on Saturday. All matches are waiting lords and dukes who wish to tour the courses. Everyone in St. Andrews talks golf and nearly everyone plays. Strangely enough, however, St. Andrews has produced few really great native golfers and none in recent years.

In the hotels, along streets or in doorways Scots of all ages and sex talk golf and demonstrate shots. Old sailors use pebbles on cobblestone streets to illustrate a putt made by Bobby Jones or Walter Hagen.

One works his way along hotel corridors to the bathroom in the morning amid folk practicing golf swings. Few citizens of St. Andrews carry shooting sticks while following a golf match. They do carry, however, mid-irons to lean on while watching shots and to swing occasionally between greens.
