

FRANCO-GERMAN DEADLOCK SPURS ARMS SCRAMBLE

Japan's Far-Eastern Policies Also Add Fuel to Flames Say Observers in Geneva —Two Nations Show Cut

By JOSEPH E. SHARKEY (Associated Press Foreign Staff.)

GENEVA, May 8.—(AP)—A scramble for increased arms strength has been given impetus, say observers of the world armament picture, by the Franco-German deadlock and Japan's Far Eastern policies.

Reports keep coming into Geneva from world capitals of added activity to increase military power.

The failure of France and Germany to reach an agreement on armaments had proved the major stumbling block to an accord on disarmament in Europe, while Japan's intentions in eastern Asia have aroused anxiety among leaders in many lands.

A survey conducted in authoritative quarters has revealed that only two nations, Switzerland and Great Britain, show a decrease in army strength, and Britain, while she has a smaller army, has increased her sea and air forces.

Suspensions have thrived throughout Europe with the building up of armed forces. These suspensions and uneasiness are reflected in various spy scares, especially in France.

Survey Strength.

The survey on arms strength shows the following:

France—Increased her fighting force within the last three years by 65,000, though employing civilians to do work formerly assigned to soldiers.

Germany—Increased her 1934 army and navy budget from $268,000,000 to about $358,000,000 and her aviation budget from $29,000,000 to $34,000,000.

Russia—Increased her army from 522,000 to 678,000 since 1932.

Japan—Increased land, naval and air forces by 100,000 to 456,000 since 1931.

Italy—Added 43,000 to her armed forces, chiefly through air and naval branch increases.

Poland—Raised her army from 280,000 to 350,000.

France's national defense program for 1934-35 is costing 13,500,000,000 francs—the longest since 1928. New armaments and fortifications are included in the army, navy and air budgets.

Belgium also is active, building forts along the entire German border.

Poland and Czechoslovakia are rearing defenses on the German frontier and Poland on the Russian side as well.

The United States is among the leaders in the building up of navies. Great Britain has built or authorized naval craft up to 94 per cent of treaty strength; Japan up to 98 1/2 per cent.

Many nations are looking to the air lanes in building up their defensive forces.

Japan, for example, is shown by available figures to have increased her military planes from 450 to 3324. Most of her equipment has been purchased in Great Britain and in the United States.

France has made a slightly larger increase than Japan, while Russia, Great Britain, Poland, Italy and Czechoslovakia have been active in this respect.

SCIENCE SERVICE READ AT FUNERAL OF MRS. BUTLER

The beautiful Christian Science service was conducted Sunday afternoon at the Perl Funeral Home for Mrs. Susannah Belle Warren Butler, widow of Basil N. Butler, by the First Church of Christ, Scientist, this city.

Among selections read were: "And this is life eternal, that they might know thee, the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent."—John. And "This is the doctrine of Christian Science; that divine love cannot be deprived of its manifestation, or object; that joy cannot be turned into sorrow, for sorrow is not the master of joy; that good can never produce evil; that matter can never produce mind, nor life result in death."—Science and Health.

Two hymns from the Christian Science hymnal, "Satisfied" and "Mother's Evening Prayer," were sung at the services at the parlors, The 51st Psalm, selections from John, Numbers, and the Christian Science text book were followed by the Lord's Prayer in unison.

pall bearers for the funeral were: George Alden and Wm. F. Isaacs, friends of many years; E. E. Gore, Ed M. White, George Henselman, H. C. Williamson, who is in the Christian Science church, and friends.

Attending from out of town were: Mrs. Elizabeth Brown and Mrs. Olive Ruth Norton of Portland, daughters of Mrs. Butler; Harry and Houston Ling and Mrs. Harry Ling, grand nephews and niece, of Yreka.

Other survivors are: A son, John H. Butler and daughter, Jeunessie Butler, of Medford; grandchildren, Warren D. Butler and Arlene Butler of Medford; Misses Beatrice and Marie B. own of Portland; Mrs. F. Fredericks of Santa Barbara, Cal.; and five great grandchildren, Barbara and Roger Butler, Robert and Ann Butler and Joyce Fredericks.

Interment was made in the I. O. O. F. cemetery near the grave of the late Mr. Butler.

The services at the grave included the 23rd Psalm and the benediction from 1st John.

OLD PEACE PIPE JUBILEE EXHIBIT LOANED BY ROSS

Recalling stirring days of 1853 when the first treaty with the Rogue River Indians was signed in the shadows of Table Rock, an old pipe of peace, laboriously carved from a myrtlewood root, is one of the most interesting exhibits on display at Oregon's Diamond Jubilee headquarters in the Sparta building.

The pipe was loaned for the display by John E. Ross, Central Point, son of Col. John E. Ross, famous Indian fighter of 80 years ago. It had been officially presented to Col. Ross by other members of the peace party which included Chiefs Sam and John, Col. Nesmith, General Joseph Lane and others. The pipe was presented to Col. Ross with the thought expressed that no man had done more than he to be worthy of the honor.

Mr. Ross has also offered the use of other articles for display services, including a buckskin uniform formerly worn by his father. The hide was taken from a deer killed by Col. Ross, who also tanned it and made the uniform. An old type rifle, formerly used by Col. Ross is on display, as well as an old rifle formerly carried by Mary, sister of Captain Jack, whose name is closely connected with the Modoc Indian war in Klamath county. Captain Jack was hanged in Fort Klamath over 60 years ago.

DRESS UP FOR JUBILEE AND GIVE CASTOFFS TO EXCHANGE IS REQUEST

It's time to buy new clothes for the Diamond Jubilee celebration, and to relinquish your old ones to the Welfare Exchange, where they are badly needed. That's the message of Miss Helen Carlton, chairman of the exchange, who announced today that the 1934 cupboard is just a little more bare than the 1933 one.

Anyone with any clothing, he or she does not intend to keep wearing, is asked to notify the exchange or bring the articles to the police station in the city hall, where they will be received. There is a need for practically every item of wearing apparel, worn by men, women and children, for the supply has been completely depleted. Anyone with clothing to offer may telephone Miss Carlton or 529 and the garments will be called for, if not left at the police station.

MEDFORD'S NEEDS TO BE BROADCAST OVER STATION KEX

An urgent appeal to Medfordites to respond to the invitation of the Progressive Business Men's club of Portland to present Medford's needs in a radio program, to be broadcast from station KEX under auspices of the club Thursday noon of this week was issued today by Mayor E. M. Wilson.

That time has been granted to Medford as an opportunity to tell Portland what she needs and how Portland can help her in gaining those needs.

Mayor Wilson has been invited to give the main address on the 45-minute program, but stated today that he was anxious to have all local industries represented by members of their own staffs. He said he would be accompanied to Portland by A. H. Banwell, secretary of the chamber of commerce, and that other city and chamber of commerce officials are expected there by the Portlanders, who are making plans to welcome a large delegation. The Medford representatives are scheduled to be at the Benson hotel at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning. Portland has shown great interest in the program, the vice-president of the club having telephoned Medford several times from that city to obtain definite information on the local plans, which are not progressing as Mayor Wilson had hoped, he stated today. The opportunity to join Portland in a program for the common good of both cities, he explained, has been sought by Medford for many years. "The program, outlined by the Progressive Business Men's Club, Mr. Wilson characterized as a definite step in that direction. Most of the things that Medford needs, he stated, are sought through Portland, it being the state's metropolis, and a better understanding of Medford by Portland, he therefore, considers of outstanding importance at this time.

OLD BEESON DIARY RECORDS EARLIEST MOVE TO OREGON

The very beginning of that famous movement into the Oregon country is heralded in a little item, scribbled into a yellowed diary, treasured by Weiborn Beeson, Jackson county farmer, who was inspired yesterday by Diamond Jubilee celebration publicity to bring it out into the open again.

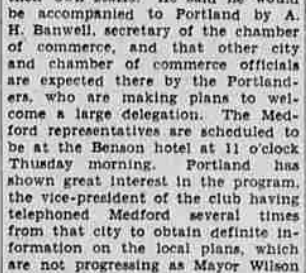

The notation was made by Mr. Beeson's grandfather, Colonel John Brophy, member of the first Iowa legislature, establishing a ferry between Council Bluffs and Omaha in 1846. The ferry made possible the trek into the westward country. Council Bluffs was at the time controlled by the Mormons. The ferry company purchased the town for $20,000 and the Mormons moved to Salt Lake City, exhibiting the opportunities offered in the west. Soon after, the great migration began. Mr. Beeson said yesterday.

Colonel Brophy, who was captain of the Iowa company under Jefferson Davis in the Black Hawk war, came to California in '49. When he fought in the war, Abraham Lincoln also claimed Davis as his superior, the former being captain of the Illinois company.

Many of Colonel Brophy's descendants came on to Oregon to settle in the Rogue river valley, where Beesons and Brophys have been well known for many years.

IT USED TO BE THAT JOHNNY WOULD TAKE A BEATING RATHER THAN GIVE ONE TO THE RUGS!

IT'S THAT POST'S 40% BRAN FLAKES HE'S BEEN EATING!

JACK MORLEY

It wasn't Our Idea..

YOU have our illustrious cartoonist to blame for this slightly exaggerated version of Johnny's change in temperament.

We only meant to claim this much for our Post's 40% Bran Flakes:

If you're feeling listless, lopy, and just "not quite up to snuff," it may be that you have a sluggish intestine : : : due to lack of bulk in the diet.

So why don't you eat Post's 40% Bran Flakes every morning?

It contains bran to supply that bulk you need, to help keep food wastes moving along the intestinal tract : : : and to promote regular elimination. It also contains other parts of wheat, to supply that appetizing flavor.

Just try it! We know you'll enjoy it . . . and you may feel a whole lot better. You can buy it at all grocers, and it costs so little! Post's 40% Bran Flakes With Other Parts Of Wheat is a product of General Foods.
