JACKSON CO. TRIO ELIGIBLE SOON TO PAROLE FROM PEN
Three men serving time from Jackson county for participation in crimes and attempted crimes concerning banks, are eligible for parole, subject to action by the parole board, according to the district attorney's office.
Robert Glenn, sentenced to 15 years for attempted robbery of the State Bank of Central Point, in September, 1930, will complete his minimum time within the next six months. Attorney E. E. Kelly of this city has interested himself in behalf of Glenn. The district attorney's office has stated "there would be no objection to the parole of Glenn."
Glenn was convicted by a Jackson county jury. Both the district attorney and the state police, at the time, held the view that Glenn "took the rap" for another who inspired him to attempt the bank robbery. The authorities insisted that Glenn did not tell the full story, through a false sense of loyalty. Glenn was identified as the bandit. He offered as a defense that he was traveling in an auto between this city and Ashland, at the time of the crime. Glenn is a model prisoner.
Henry J. Karstner, an Idaho youth, serving eight years for holding up and robbing the Farmers and Fruitgrowers' bank of this city of $700, in October, 1930, is also eligible for parole within a few months. The youth was arrested in his room in the Jackson hotel a short time after the robbery. All the loot was returned. He pleaded guilty.
L. Alvin Tolleson, former cashier of the State bank of Central Point, serving two and one-half years for confessed perpetration of a bank robbery hoax, to cover his own defalcations, is eligible for parole this month.
Tom L. Brecheen of Ashland, serving 18 months for admitted participation in the ballot-stealing, will be eligible for parole in July. Brecheen, one of the "star boarders" at the county jail during the regime of Earl H. Fehl, admitted plotting and "standing guard" during a "Good Government Congress" meeting, while the vote burglary was underway. He was a frequent sleeper and a regular diner at the county jail table during the turmoil, it was shown.

MODES of the moment

Large flattering "wagon wheel" brims are featured for those who can wear them—and the shorter brim sailor for those who can't.
With the new season approaching, brims and more brims are here—wide and graceful, narrow and smart, turned up in front—in fact, there are brims for every type of face.
The "wagon wheel" brimmed hat shown is an adaptation from an Agnes model, specially fashioned to wear with the new fluffy, crisp summer dresses—just the added crowning touch needed. It is made of the finest Shantung Baku with a hand-

Large delegation from Grants Pass is expected this evening.
The joint session of the two conferences will take the form of a huge celebration of the 100th anniversary of the coming of Rev. Jason Lee to Oregon.
Those elected were A. W. Shepherd and W. W. Walker. The conference this year will be exceptional in that one entire day's session will be held jointly with the Pacific Northwest conference which will be in session the same week in Vancouver, Wash., and which includes all of Washington and a part of Idaho.
The joint session of the two conferences will take the form of a huge celebration of the 100th anniversary of the coming of Rev. Jason Lee to Oregon.
The audience attending the evangelistic service last evening were delighted with the solo by Mr. Frame of Talent. He sang the old familiar hymn "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep."
Rev. Walter Duff, Jr., in his sermon "Ships," emphasized the fact that every ship must have a captain and that we are like ships sailing over life's sea, and we, too, must have a captain, even Jesus.
The increased attendance over that of last week was very gratifying. A

65 PER CENT OF OREGON PAYROLL IS FROM TIMBER

Sixty-five per cent of Oregon's payroll is from timber and one-fifth of the timber in the United States is located in the northwest, such was the information brought to the Klamath Falls yesterday by K. P. Reynolds, junior forester of the Rogue River national forest, in an address at the Hotel Medford, through which he drew an interesting picture of the Civilian Conservation Corps in forests, parks and state work. In addition to conserving national resources, the program, he pointed out, is building men.
The job in the forest area, he explained, is chiefly one of protecting the present stands of timber and preserving their values. In the Rogue River national forest the total of $356,000 was spent last year, 75 per cent of the amount locally. Not including what the army is spending this officials expect $240,000 to be used in the forest work during this present season.
The work is also very important from a tourist standpoint, Mr. Mc-

Reynolds explained, as the new roads and trails attract many recreation seekers.
To date the CCC's have constructed 240 roads, maintained 400 roads, built 700 miles of trails, 70 buildings and 29 bridges, the speaker stated.
Guests at yesterday's luncheon were Miss Margaret Morrison, Mrs. Beva Alken, Mrs. H. M. Weishaar and Miss Mildred Oathea of the Business and Professional Women's club, and D. Whittlesey of Klamath Falls, a visiting Kiwanian.
