Gratefully Received
To the Editor:
Congratulations, Mail Tribune. The Pulitzer gold medal which has been awarded you is certainly no small honor.

The unflinching test of the worth of a man or an institution is being willing to do good for others. The sincerity of purpose and the balanced thinking of the Mail Tribune merited the prize that is yours.

Being a newcomer to Medford, I have been a reader of your paper but a short time, long enough, however, to be convinced that your policy is a wholesome one and one that makes for the good of the fine community of which it is a part.

My best wishes for your continued success. I am
Yours, truly,
