

MAJOR BIBIGHAUS GOING SATURDAY TO FT. MISSOULA

"After having served in the state of Washington, the state of California, and the state of Oregon," Major James R. Bibighaus, CCC district surgeon, said this morning, "I am more than ever convinced that he who steers a middle course steers a wise course."

"I have enjoyed my stay in Medford more than any other service I have had in the army, and I am deeply appreciative of what the citizens of this city have done to aid the work of the Civilian Conservation Corps, the other officers on duty here, and myself."

Major Bibighaus, who is leaving tomorrow with Mrs. Bibighaus for their new position at Fort Missoula, Mont., arrived in Medford almost a year ago, and immediately took up his duties as district surgeon.

He estimates that he has covered 25,000 miles of southern Oregon roads, paved and unpaved, in inspecting the health and sanitary conditions of the camps in the Medford district.

Major Bibighaus started his military career at Camp Lee, Virginia, as surgeon for the replacement camp of the development battalions, the convalescent center and the demobilization center at that post.

Since, he has served successively at Camp Eustis, Virginia; Fort Randolph, Panama Canal Zone; Fort Lawton, Harbor defenses of Puget Sound, Forts Warden and Casey, and Vancouver Barracks, all in Washington; Fort Winfield Scott, California, and the Medford headquarters, CCC.

Twelve years of Major Bibighaus' service has been at coast artillery posts. He will be retired from active service January 31, 1937.

Besides his associates at headquarters, who deeply regret the departure of Major Bibighaus, Dr. L. D. Inskeep, city physician, this morning said: "I have certainly appreciated the courtesies of Major Bibighaus to members of the medical profession here. I believe everyone enjoyed meeting and knowing him, both personally and professionally."

Efforts of the Chamber of Commerce to get the major's orders revoked, in order that he might remain in Medford, were unsuccessful. Major General Mallin Craig, of the Presidio, San Francisco, commanding Ninth corps area, informed the local group that the order was from the war department, and out of his jurisdiction.

"It is with regret that army orders have been issued to take Major Bibighaus from the city," A. H. Banwell, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, said, "and we wish him all possible success in his new sphere. He has shown a fine civic spirit, and as an officer and a gentleman has co-operated in every way."

At the close of this morning's meeting of the Chamber of Commerce board of directors, the group visited CCC headquarters in a body to bid the major goodby. Major Bibighaus told them he had never left a place with more regret.

THREE CANDIDATES FOR GOVERNOR IN COUNTY LIMELIGHT

Citizens who have been around Jackson county the past couple of days report considerable interest in the primary race for governor. In Ashland and the south end of the county, Joe M. Dunne sentiment has bobbed up, and in the north end of the county, in the Wimer and Rogue River districts, the names of Rufus Holman and Willis E. Mahoney are the most frequently mentioned.

In this city, the Republicans are still looking for a place to light, and there is considerable anti-Holman sentiment. Many of the former ardent supporters of the state treasurer have deserted him. Holman's refusal to resign the state treasurership while seeking the governorship hurt his cause, and his endorsement by the revived "Good Government Congress" did him no good in this city, it is claimed.

Considerable sentiment for Dunne has arisen here since Tuesday, and his slogan, "Father of the $5 auto license," has helped his candidacy.

Dunne has a following among the Grangers in the Central Point and Sams Valley sections. Some of the waning Holman strength will go to him, it appears.

Electa A. Fehl, wife of the imprisoned E. H. Fehl, convicted in 12 minutes by a Klamath county jury of vote stealing, returned in mid-week and started her campaign for county judge. She issued a statement in which she charges that the ballot robbery was "carefully prepared and executed by others than those now in the penitentiary." In a statement she declares, "I stand on the principles of my husband." She calls the Mail Tribune "that vicious organ of the Gang."

Mrs. Henrietta B. Martin, president of the "Good Government Congress" and co-worker of Dunne and Fehl during the turmoil, opposes Mrs. Fehl's candidacy. The endorsement of the "congress" is given Henry Conger, Jacksonville farmer, for county judge.

The "congress" also endorsed Holman for governor, and Rapp for county commissioner.

"If Mrs. Martin is against me—then you good citizens can draw your own conclusion WHY?" is Mrs. Fehl's comment on Mrs. Martin.

Royal Brown of Eagle Point spent Thursday evening in this city, and said "this is the quietest campaign in the history of Jackson county. I have heard less talking than in any election in the 60 years I have been here." Reports from other rural points indicate the same trend. Political observers say the voters have either made up their minds, or don't care.

On the Democratic side of the fence the chief interest in the governorship race. The two Democrats are for General Martin, but in the country Mahoney has plenty of followers. Democratic leaders have become slightly nervous. Mahoney's "divide the money" promise has a lure for many local folks, it has been discovered.

ORONITE CARTOON IN MAIL TRIBUNE

A unique and interesting advertising campaign has just been released by the Standard Oil company of California on Oronite Household Products. The Mail Tribune was selected to carry this campaign in the Medford territory.

This advertising features a dramatic cartoon series showing how and why Standard Oronite Fly Spray "kills 'em quicker."

The Standard Oil company of California has timed this fly spray campaign to fit the warm weather demand for insect exterminators. The first of these striking ads appears in today's issue of the Mail Tribune.

COLLECTION DANIELS' BOND AIM OF COUNTY

Suit was filed in circuit court by the district attorney's office against Joe A. Daniels, former courthouse janitor, and Frank Hochfield and Ed Eavan, professional bondsmen of Portland, for forfeiture of $500 bonds. Daniels was indicted for alleged obtaining of money under false pretenses. The complaint cites that when Daniels was ordered to appear he failed to make an appearance. The indictment charges the crime was committed in January, 1933.
