provide additional light if necessary. There will also be a granite drinking fountain. Also the possibility of the construction of a drinking fountain for dogs, and a bird bath.

The pool, Mr. Newman told the council, will be surrounded by a cement walk with two seats ten feet in length, of granite slabs, at each side.

Of the best Italian marble, and to be made by one of the best available sculptors in Italy, will be the statue of a youth with two dogs. Contract has already been let to the local granite company for the construction of the pool, which will replace the fountain in the park at the present time.

The dedication will simply say: "Dedicated to the city of Medford, Ore., by Charles W. and Callie Palm, 1934."

SALES TAX STAND OF CANDIDATES IS VOTERS' INTEREST

Politics in Jackson county became slightly tepid today, after weeks of serenity, with the broadcasting of mild canards, and claims that a number of candidates were "double-shooting the turn" on the school relief sales tax, by being for it in this city, and against it in the country.

H. E. Conger, West Side district farmer and republican candidate for county judge, was mentioned in this connection. Conger in a letter to the editor today, says: "Regarding the sales tax I thought everybody knew how I stood. I am in favor of anything that looks like property tax relief."

The sales tax is quite an issue with voters, particularly the women. Who ask candidates how they stand on "relief for the schools." The ladies in their questioning demand definite answers, and are aery of last minute conversations.

Voters are being warned to beware of eleventh hour canards and circulars. Distribution of dodgers containing false and sensational statements is scheduled for late Thursday night, one report said.

Typewritten slips of paper containing the resurrected "Good Government congress" endorsement of Rufus C. Holman for governor, H. E. Conger for county judge, Fred Rapp for commissioner, Amos W. Walker for sheriff, George Dunn for state senator, Earl Snell for secretary of state, A. C. Hough for circuit judge, and J. M. Devers for congressman were left in autos of this city last evening.

Street talk today plainly showed a drift of local republican voters to Joe M. Dunn for governor, and the sentiment is evenly divided between rural and town voters. Holman and Brown have many supporters in the country sections.

Democratic workers were busy campaigning for General Martin. The Mahoney sentiment here is not pronounced, but is said to be strong in the north end of the county. Attorney George A. Coddling is scheduled to speak in behalf of the general over the radio tomorrow at 11:30 o'clock.

Voters have started to shake off their apathy, and a heavier vote than first predicted is expected. Assessor Coleman, best of the local prognosticators, predicts about 800 votes will be cast—about a 50 per cent vote. Rain would cut this down.

Edward G. Robinson In Rialto Picture

History repeats itself at the Rialto theater, where "Dark Hazard" is being shown until tomorrow night. It seldom, however, repeats itself within as short a space of time as in the case of W. R. Burnett, celebrated American novelist, and Edward G. Robinson, equally celebrated film star.

About three years ago a novel from the pen of Burnett made Robinson a star overnight. That picture was "Little Caesar." It started a cycle of gangster pictures that lasted for quite some time.

And here history has started doubling on its tracks again. "Dark Hazard" again brings the combination of Burnett and Robinson together. Instead of being a gangster picture, however, this latest release is the story of a well meaning, but inveterate gambler who loves animals, raising, manning and gambling too much to retain the love of his wife whom he adores.

EDDIE CANTOR AT STUDIO TOMORROW

Eddie Cantor sings three lively new songs in his inimitable fashion in "Roman Scandals," showing tomorrow at the Studio theater.

The numbers are "Keep Young and Beautiful," "Build a Little Home," and "Tax On Love."

Gloria Stuart, David Manners, Edward Arnold and Veree Teasdale are featured with Ruth Etting.

Walt Disney Cartoon Here Thursday

The Three Little Pigs, who were created by Walt Disney for his Silly Symphony of that name, return to Medford in a new Disney creation, "The Big Bad Wolf," playing at the Craterian theater, starting tomorrow. Besides the Three Little Pigs and the Big Bad Wolf, little Red Riding Hood will also be in a featured role in the cartoon. Just as the former Disney opus was filled with catchy tunes and lyrics, so is this latest Silly Symphony. The entire film is in technicolor.

As the feature picture on the same program, Lanny Ross, radio's popular baritone of "Show Boat" fame, makes his full length featured role in "Melody in Spring." He sings three new song numbers in the picture, which has in the supporting cast such favorites of Medford audiences as Charlie Rupples and Mary Boland, as Blodgett, president of the Blodgett Dog Biscuit company, and his wife, Ann Southern, playing the role of their daughter. It also features:

DECORATION PLAN FOR JUBILEE TOLD AT LION'S LUNCH

Harry Parkinson of Portland who is in Medford to supervise the erection of decorations in the valley for the Diamond Jubilee, was the guest of Fire Chief Roy Elliott at today's Lion's club luncheon at the Colonial club, and explained the plan worked out for the city.

Sixty-two street lines are to be strung, and will include the state seal. This is the first time that any decorating firm has been allowed to use a state seal for banners, according to Mr. Parkinson, who informed the Lions what an unusual honor, that the Jubilee committee received permission to use the emblem.

Picks and shovels, reminiscent of the mining days in Jackson county, will be included in the decorating scheme, and according to the plans, all 112 electric light stands in the city will be decorated in the Jubilee emblem.

Welcome letters will be erected at the four entrances to the city, at the north and south of the Pacific highway, Crater Lake highway and Jacksonville.

Sixty percent of the private store decorations will be carried out in the state colors of blue and gold. One exception is the court house, which will have an American flag 24 by 36 feet, hung in front of the building. The flag is valued by the decorating company at $500, Mr. Parkinson said.

Also a guest at the luncheon, of Fire Chief Elliott, was George Stokes, deputy state fire marshal, who told the club that the Medford fire department has a record of one of the lowest fire loss ratios in the state, which he pointed out, would materially reflect in the establishing of insurance rates for the city.

Captain B. B. McMahon of the CCC district headquarters was a guest of Lion Verne Shangle, and spoke briefly.

Delegates named to the state Lion convention in Eugene June 3, 4 and 5, were H. W. Conger, local club president, Roy Elliott, Carol Hayes, Lawrence Pennington, and Lion Shangle, alternate.

Communications

Save the Schools! To the Editor: Are we going to let our public schools go on the rocks? What will become of our state if people have to move out of it to educate their children? What will our property be worth if we have any more taxes loaded on than at present? If the sales tax does not pass many will turn their property over to our bankrupt state. The sales tax will save the state, and one does not have to be a prophet to see the way things will look up if the sales tax goes through. It will be up and up. People will come here to educate their children and buy homes. Property will enhance in value and there will be a smile in Oregon that will not rub off.
