Elliotts Leave Saturday—Dr. B. R. Elliott and daughter Amy are leaving Saturday for New York, Boston and other eastern points.

In Grants Pass—Mrs. Marie Schoepen of this city was a guest in Grants Pass Wednesday of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Cornell.

To Eugene—Miss Justine Miller of this city left on the Shasta this morning for Eugene, where she will spend the week-end.

From Los Angeles—A. L. Slingsby of the Firestone Tire company in Los Angeles, arrived in this city on the Shasta this morning.

Frank Softney Here—Frank Softney of Crater Lake national park was a visitor in Medford today, attending to business affairs.

In Medford Wednesday—Edward "Rage" Reynolds of Portland, son of the late "Rage" Reynolds, Oregonian cartoonist, was a visitor in Medford Wednesday. The young man is now with the state highway department.

Barnum Visits Here—John Barnum of Oakland has returned to the southern city after spending several days here visiting relatives and friends.

Goes to Applegate—Lloyd F. Bingham, enrolled at Medford, has been assigned to the Applegate CCC camp, according to headquarters here.

Pickett Calls Here—P. L. Pickett, who is now operating a store at Butte Falls, was a business caller in Medford yesterday.

Mrs. Newman Ill—Mrs. LaVerne Newman, who has been ill at her home here for the past several weeks, was reported today as still quite ill.

Mr. Kilborn Here—George H. Kilborn, trainmaster for the Southern Pacific company, with headquarters in Roseburg, was a visitor here Thursday.

Welfare Work Finished—With the close of this month, the Welfare Exchange in the city hall will finish its work for the season. It will open again about the 15th of November.

Open Scales—It was reported at the city police office this morning that the penny scales in front of the J. J. Newberry store on North Central were opened sometime last night and the contents of pennies removed.

Goes to Park—Miss Edna Bigalow left Thursday morning for Government camp in Crater Lake national park, where she has accepted a position as stenographer for the summer.

Return to Medford—Mr. and Mrs. James Briscoe, formerly of this city, returned to Medford on the train this morning from San Diego, Cal., where they have been residing for the past several years.

Visiting in Oakland—Mrs. Emma Armstrong of this city has been visiting for three weeks with her daughter, Mrs. John Fletcher, in Oakland, Cal., and plans to return to Medford in June.

Probstfield Is Visitor—Merritt Probstfield, who recently enrolled in the U. S. army, and has been stationed with the 70th service squadron at Rockwell field, Colorado, Cal., is spending this week in Medford visiting his mother, Mrs. Frances E. Probstfield, and other relatives. He plans to leave Sunday for Crissy field, San Francisco, to where he has been transferred.

Grows Fine Flowers—Some of the most choice sweetpeas to be found in the valley this season are at the Maury ranch in the west side district, where they are grown by Miss Mary Maury. The flowers are outstanding for size and the number of blossoms on each stem. On most of the stems at least four flowers are to be found. Miss Maury has grown sweetpeas for many years and has developed some very fine flowers, but this year's blossoms seem to surpass all predecessors. A bouquet brought to town this week attracted much attention from fanciers, who were hard to convince that the flowers were home-grown.

Fredric March Has Role in Drama for Craterian's Fans

"Death Takes a Holiday," Fredric March's new sensational starring picture, coming Sunday to the Craterian theater, is based upon one of the most unusual themes ever portrayed in the theatre, according to Maxwell Anderson, who collaborated with Gladys Lehman in the adaptation of the original play of the same name by Alberto Casella, adapted into English by Walter Ferris. The story of "Death Takes a Holiday" is built on the idea that Death, curious to discover what men held so dear in life, to understand why people fear him so, emerges from the shadows, takes on the human form of a dashing, romantic lover, and for three days tests all the human illusions. He becomes the guest of honor at a gay house-party, keeping his true identity secret, and dazzles the young women present with his beauty, his wit and his mysterious importance.

Nigel Bruce, whose varied characterizations have enlivened many pictures, has one of the leading roles, the part of an easy-going, but nevertheless tenacious sleuth called upon to solve the mystery in "Murder at Trinidad," on the Rialto theater's double feature program for today and Saturday. Ken Maynard is starring in the other feature, a fast-moving Western, "The Honor of the Range."

Costumes Available—Local girls and women who are interested in taking part in the pioneer parade, during Oregon's Diamond Jubilee celebration next June, are reminded by J. Verne Shangle, parade chairman, that pioneer dresses are being made at the Jubilee headquarters. Local and southern Oregon people are urged to report early for parade participation. A large number of people will be needed.

With each of them he seeks to find the real thrill of love, for he has been told that, of all human emotions, love is the strongest and dearest. But with each successive sweetheart, he fails to find the thrill he expects, until at last, he captivates the heart of one girl and discovers the true meaning of life and love. Dreading to reveal his real personality, he puts the fatal moment off until the very last second of his "holiday."

Supporting March in "Death Takes a Holiday," are Evelyn Venable, recently seen with Dorothea Wieck in "Cradle Song"; Sir Guy Standing and Kent Taylor, and several distinguished actors imported from the New York stage.
