

ELKS POSTPONE PICNIC ON RIVER

The Elks picnic, previously scheduled for May 30 at the lodge's camp ground on Rogue river, was postponed to a later date after considerable discussion at last night's charge session. The committee in charge of the affair expects to announce the new date within a few days. It is planned to stage a big entertainment for Elks and their friends with band concert, games, free feed and beer, a "songfest" and boxing card. Next Thursday's lodge meeting will be a red letter night for the antlered herd, with over 25 applicants being given initiation. This is the second large class to enter the lodge within the past few months. Nominations were in order last night for trustee to fill the vacancy caused by resignation of H. N. Butler who was recently elected exalted ruler of Medford Elks lodge. William Hammett and Delroy Getchell were nominated for the trusteeship.

M. L. Andrews, captain-elect of the North Carolina State college rifle team, scored 363.3 points out of a possible 400 in the recent state championship shoot.

Children 'Write' Display Cards

Young Betty "wrote" the words for the display card she holds and new grocers all over town are going to have it. Well, maybe she didn't literally write it, but the artist just put down what she said.

Grocery stores of this city are about to blossom out with a display card "written" by children and distributed by the National Biscuit Company for use in connection with a new advertising campaign the company is just getting under way in the columns of this newspaper. It was announced yesterday. The product to be advertised is Honey-Maid graham crackers, an item now made throughout the country from a recipe developed on the Pacific coast. The artist who made the illustrations for the new advertisements created a series of "play" pictures, using his own youngsters' pranks and antics as inspiration. The display card is in that series.

COUNTY AGENTS HAVE BUSY YEAR

Oregon county agents put in the busiest year in history during 1933 when emergency work was added to their regular projects, according to the annual report just submitted by F. L. Ballard, state county agent leader. The number of office calls by farmers and others seeking specific assistance exceeded 100,000 for the year, a new high mark since the county agent service was established in 1913. Advent of the agricultural adjustment act and the other emergency relief programs gave the agents the added task of explaining the wheat adjustment program, the corn-hog plan, and assisting with seed loans, farm mortgage adjustment, and state and federal relief activities. Ballard points out. Despite this added emergency work, marked progress was made during the year in the major regular projects. Marketing assistance constituted an important part of the work in many counties, while additional help was given the 4-H club work in counties not employing regular club agents. More county agents and assistants are now employed in Oregon than ever before every county except Harney and Josephine either having an agent of its own or a co-operative agreement with a neighboring county for the service of a joint agent.

Cigarette Ignites Clothing of Baby

SPokane, Wash., May 18.—(UP)—When someone flipped a lighted cigarette stub from an upstairs window to the street, it landed in the baby buggy containing four weeks old Maureen Fearon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Fearon. The parents discovered the buggy blaze just as fire was eating into little Maureen's pillow. The Fearons are considering writing manufacturers to make a fireproof buggy top.

Banwell To Speak To Yreka Chamber

A. H. Banwell, manager of the Jackson County chamber of commerce, today received an invitation to give the main address at the Yreka chamber of commerce's annual meeting May 30. Mr. Banwell plans to accept the invitation.

Hungry Infant Saves Mother

BROOKLYN, May 18.—(UP)—If

Buster Dibblee, 3, hadn't remembered his breakfast time today his mother, Helen, might have been asphyxiated. Buster pounded on the door when he got hungry. A neighbor heard the noise, climbed through a window, found Mrs. Dibblee unconscious in a gas filled room. A coffee pot had boiled over.

Women Don't Agree About Hats ... nor about MEATS

Until They Visit the Peerless

A hat designer, asked to create one hat to suit all women would throw up his hands in despair. So many types of hats! So many tastes in colors and materials. Meat Markets have a job almost as hard—to satisfy tastes that vary in every family. Yet hundreds of women, each with her own idea of what good meats ought to be, are finding exactly what they want at the PEERLESS.
