

GOODMAN, FISCHER LEAD U. S. GOLFERS BRITISH AMATEUR

Both Defeat Opponents by Wide Margin — Fischer Will Meet McLean in Third Round of Tourney

PRESTWICK, Scotland, May 22.—(AP)—America's golfing Johnnies—Goodman and Fischer, today led the invaders parade in the British amateur championship. Goodman, the U. S. open champion, defeated W. M. Robb of Moseley, 5 and 0, while Fischer conquered Gus Moreland, a compatriot, 3 and 2.

Goodman, the betting odds favorite, played sound but not spectacular golf and won much as he pleased against Robb in their first round match, which was postponed from yesterday owing to the size of the field. The Omaha youngster, who negotiated the first nine holes in 37 to establish a three-hole lead, will not play his second round match until tomorrow. If he gains the third round he will be forced to engage in another match in the afternoon in order to catch up with the field.

Fischer, the tall and spare golfer, closed out his second round match with Moreland on the 16th green. The two young members of the 1934 American "Walter" cup team battled on even terms for the first nine holes, Fischer gaining a lead of one hole at the second and Moreland erasing it with a win at the eighth. The Ohioan reestablished his lead at the 12th and thereafter kept steadily adding to it.

Despite the unique experience of having to play with a half ball at the sixth hole, Jesse Gullford of Bostonian won 4 and 3.

McLean Meets Fischer
Jack McLean, 23-year-old Scotch star and the second betting choice, defeated H. M. Crow of Prestwick by 3 and 2 and qualified to meet Fischer in the third round.

After getting off to a shaky start and playing spotty golf for the first nine, Jack Westland, Chicago broker, settled down on the inward holes and defeated Col. A. W. Tait of St. Andrews, 4 and 3.

ELKS PICNIC NOW SLATED MAY 29

The big Elks picnic originally planned for May 30, has been re-scheduled for May 29 at the lodge's picnic ground on Rogue River. It was announced today by J. F. Fiegl, exalted ruler of the local lodge. The picnic will get under way early in the afternoon and will include a band concert, "songfest," games, feed and plenty of beer. As a climax for the evening, Promoter Mack Lillard is arranging a ring card which will feature some of the best mitt talent obtainable in southern Oregon.

The Elks' picnics are annual affairs and always attract a great crowd of lodge members and their invited guests. The grounds on the Rogue are ideal for enjoyment of open-air entertainment.

Leaves for S. F.—Phil Beck of this city left by train last night for San Francisco.

GRAPPLING CARD STIRS INTEREST

Selection of Charlie Hansen, big grapple and grimace man of Seattle, to meet Pete Belcastro in the main event at the Armory here Thursday evening has stirred more interest among local wrestling fans than any match scheduled by Promoter Mack Lillard for a long time. Belcastro, recently returned from a tour of Mexico with a new assortment of unorthodox tricks, roused the ire of the cash customers in last week's show by his methods in throwing Walter Sorlos, Frenchman. Hansen, huge and game and plenty rough himself, is expected to give the belligerent Pete a going-over he will remember.

WEEKLY TOURNEY AT GOLF COURSE

ROGUES ROBBED IN KLAMATH IS PLAYERS' CLAIM

The Medford Rogues lost their second league game Sunday at Klamath Falls when they were downed by the Shaw Bertram-Lumber Co. team 10 to 7.

Up until the eighth inning it was a nip and tuck affair with the Rogues leading 4 to 5 when the mill team put on a rally which netted 11 runs before the third out was registered.

Paul Hoffard continued his hard hitting by connecting for three hits in five trips to the plate. Donaldson, Wakeman and Shipman of the winners also connected for three hits each.

The game was marred by continued wrangling due to alleged partiality shown in decisions by the home umpire, an employee of the Shaw Bertram-Lumber Co. Dozens of perfect strike pitches by McLean and Hughes were called balls making it practically impossible for them to strike out a batter.

The game has been protested by Manager Hal Haight on the grounds of the umpire being incompetent and partial to the home team. He was not only urged to take the steps by his players but by many of the Klamath Falls fans. The protest has been filed with President Nininger and what steps he will take remains to be seen.

The score:
R. H. E.
Shaw Bertram.....10 16 4
Medford.....7 10 3
Batteries: Stanishia and Eubanks; McLean, Hughes and Joy.

The game at Klamath Falls Sunday was the worst case of robbery in any game I've ever participated in my 15 years of playing," stated Hoosier Hoffard, Medford center fielder, when interviewed regarding the matter.

The two teams will clash again on the Jacksonville grounds next Sunday.

BUTTER EXTRAS DOWN HALF CENT POUND

PORTLAND, May 22.—(AP)—Butter extras were down one-half cent a pound today to 20½ cents on the produce exchange.

Market for eggs continued to show a strong tone; in fact increasing strength was suggested generally with decreasing supplies. Cold storage demand continued liberal.

Despite the recent cuts in quotations by the produce exchange, the general price being paid for live chickens at Portland was without change for recent days. All floor arrivals were cleaned daily.

F. R. MASTER, NOT BRAIN TRUSTERS, SAYS GENE HOWE

ambitious, is reasonably close to Roosevelt, but the president keeps every one at a respectful distance.

Garner Loyal, Silent.
"Louis McHenry Howe is his intellectual valet; Jim Farley his political strategist, whose advice is seldom taken, except regarding party organization. Vice-President Garner doesn't speak or understand the language of most of those who surround the president, but is loyal.

"Hugh Johnson is a bogey man who over did it. He takes orders from the president. The thunder is his own, the lightning Roosevelt's."
"Rex Tugwell is a socialist, a brilliant conversationalist, a dull thinker. He has become publicity goat of the administration, and likes it. Salvo hurled at him are intended for the president. He is headed out."

Howe said he found the "brain trust" not very "brainy" and Roosevelt's cabinet "mediocre."

Hull, Ickes, Wallace Lead.
"One or two of the cabinet members simply answer roll call," he said. "They don't know what it is all about. Cordell Hull, Henry Wallace, and Harold Ickes stand out in the cabinet. They have a deeper and more profound understanding of the economic status of this country than any three men in the inner circle.

"If Frances Perkins were a man she might be a president herself."
Howe places her fourth on the list of advisers.

"Never in the history of the United States, not excepting the administrations of George Washington and Woodrow Wilson, has one individual so completely dominated this country as does Roosevelt," Howe continued. "He stands next to Mussolini and Lenin, and above Stalin and Hitler in having complete mastery of a nation."

"He seeks to travel, not to the left nor to the right, but straight to the hearts of the people. If he had been the war president, he likely would have out-wisdomed Wilson."

Must Prove Can Take It.
"Roosevelt's outstanding bid for lasting greatness is his willingness to change his mind. He has absorbed much and learned much in the year he has been president. But he must bear the scars of an ungrateful and un-understanding mob, and stand hunched, to prove that he has the iron in his soul that most of the American people think he has."

The first 25 names in Howe's list in the order of their importance follow:
1—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt.
2—Louis McHenry Howe, secretary to the president.
3—Henry F. Wallace, secretary of agriculture.
4—Frances L. Perkins, secretary of labor.
5—Cordell Hull, secretary of state.
6—Harold F. Ickes, secretary of interior.
7—Dr. Felix Frankfurter, Harvard brain truster, labor expert.
8—Jesse H. Jones of Texas, chairman of the RFC.
9—Senator Robert Wagner of New York.

10—Dr. Leo Wolman, of the labor advisory board.
11—Harry L. Hopkins, administrator of federal relief.
12—Lewis W. Douglas, director of the budget.
13—Bernard M. Baruch, financier.
14—Professor Frank W. Taussig, Harvard brain truster, tariff expert.
15—Donald Richberg, counsel for the NRA.
16—Senator James F. Byrnes of South Carolina.
17—Henry Morgenthau, Jr., Secretary of Treasury.
18—General Hugh S. Johnson, NRA administrator.
19—James M. Farley, postmaster general.
20—Senator Joseph Robinson of Arkansas, floor leader.
21—Vice-President John Garner.
22—Louis Brandeis, supreme court justice.
23—Benjamin Cardozo, supreme court justice.
24—Ferdinand Pecora, special counsel for the senate banking committee.
25—Representative Henry T. Rainey of Illinois, speaker of the house.

type tire—The tire so necessary for today's high speed automobiles--AT NO EXTRA COST

It takes months to develop a really new tire—So with laboratory research and mountain testing, on its own fleet of cars and trucks, Kelly was ready with this tire as soon as the cars were here to use it. This tire was strengthened at every point of strain—The tread was made 33% deeper and 20% wider, giving this tire an average of over 95% more effective non-skid—The tire carcass was made from a tougher, kinkier cotton fiber and they called it "Oorkscrew" Cotton—and the plies of cord were insulated with rubber in such a way as to increase resistance to heat and carcass separation by over 40%—And a new tread compound was developed that gave 40% more non-skid mileage. This was called Vitilized Rubber. A tire built to stand punishment—And after 16 months of usage by an exacting public, it grows in favor—

FABLES of 1934!

Once upon a time there was a little red hen. This little hen grew up in a yard with other little hens but somehow she grew larger than some of the other little hens and it made her feel very proud.

She developed and laid eggs, just like the other little hens, but there was nothing exciting about all this, until one day she laid an egg a little different, in color or size or shape, than her other little eggs and it made her very happy.

She admired her work and let out a cackle of joy... excitement... and she was very happy and excited, and the more she cackled the more excited she got and the more she admired her egg. "Certainly", said she, "it is the prettiest little egg that has ever been laid" and she cackled her excitement to the world. Thought she, "if I can just cackle long enough and loud enough, who knows, the world may think this is the only little egg that has ever been laid." And she was very proud and excited.

A few days later, said she "Gee! Three little eggs all alike and all so pretty. My, Oh My, I want all the world to know about them, I'm so excited." And then she paled in horror... "Just think, if other little hens should try to copy my egg! Oh, it just can't be. I won't let them. I'll warn the world" and she cackled: "Beware! Beware! Other little hens may try to copy my egg"... and she was so excited.

And all the time she forgot that maybe the other little hens had laid their pretty little eggs a year ago, and that they were just as proud of their little egg as she was of her own... she was so excited.
