A final desperate coup that breaks her own power, in which she tries to murder the girl, furnishes the material for the many tense and gripping dramatic situations with which the picture is filled.

And this time the bookkeeping calls for the strangest cargo of all—more than one hundred specimens that smart and hiss and strike out to save themselves if cornered.

Ranging from a bullfinch to a bull elephant and a tiny mouse, deer weighing less than four pounds, to the rhinoceros, armored tank of the tropical wilds Buck's catch stirs memories of circus days and the throngs that crowd the zoos to watch the
