

OREGON NORMAL ATHLETES GIVEN BREAK IS CLAIM

State Board Implics Criticism In Official Audit—Student Body Fees Not Collected From Many.

SALEM, Ore.—(UP)—Criticisms of "scholarships" granted certain athletes at Oregon Normal school, Monday, was implied today in the official audit of state board of higher education affairs.

The audit, prepared by the state department, reported that "Student body fees were not collected from all of the students at the Oregon Normal school. Thirteen students during the fall term, 14 during the winter term, 21 during the spring term and four during the summer term were not required to pay student body fees."

President Explains "This concession was granted, according to the president and manager of the Oregon Normal school, for the reason that some of the students were taking part-time work, and others were members of the faculty, but largely because many of the students were athletes."

Student fees paid during the 1932-1933 school year, covered by the audit, were found to total $904,347.28. This included $215,397.58 at Oregon State college; $270,540.18 at University of Oregon; $75,624.22 at the university medical school, Portland; $21,439.19 at Oregon Normal school, Monmouth; $12,592 at Southern Oregon Normal, Ashland; $8,754.15 at Eastern Oregon Normal, La Grande.

Two counties owe board The audit revealed that the board of higher education had advanced $1,000 for extension work in agriculture in Crook county and $400 in Malheur county for which reimbursements had not been made. The counties were unable to pay their share, required by law, for supporting the work.

The board held $16,648 in county warrants for money advanced to keep agricultural agents at work in four counties over a period of three years. Crook county owed the board $5,080, Deschutes $2,305, Klamath $1,145, Washington $1,240.

GINGER ROGERS SHIES AT PARTIES; REMAINS HOME AND SAVES COIN

By ALANSON EDWARDS United Press Staff Correspondent HOLLYWOOD.—(UP) If there ever was a mystery about what a young movie actress does evenings, Ginger Rogers will be glad to tear aside the veil. Ginger quite frankly is not a "party girl," and seldom is seen in the night haunts where so many of the ultra ultra and the bon ton gather in assorted groups to pose for those little "hand camera" snapshots one sees about—always laughing hilariously at something. She doesn't like parties, and now that repeal is here she can be frank about her reasons. "There's always somebody falling flat on his face, and that bores me to tears," she told me. "If restraint were possible I think everyone could have just as much fun. But it seems that at every party I have been on somebody has to get wild and that spoils the evening for me."

"The last time I came home from a party I told my brother, who always waits up for me, that if I ever went on another party to please kick me." This of course only explains what Ginger does not do. What she really does, aside from studying her lines, is to play ping-pong. Yes, really! She likes to, and she can make a lot of folks look bad at it, especially those folks who condescendingly admit they are pretty good.

Ginger also saves her money. She has plans to become a millionaire some day and, although admitting she never heard of anyone becoming one just by saving dough, she is willing to try. Anyway, she points out with some truth, that one can't become a millionaire by riding in chauffeur-driven town cars, and in result she drives a two-year-old coupe of the type described by police reporters as "a small car of popular make."

A very canny girl.

PATRIOTIC BODIES GOING TO CHURCH

Patriotic organizations of the city will attend the Memorial day services at the First Christian church Sunday morning, and all members are requested to meet at the church at 10:30 so that all might attend in a body. Rev. W. R. Baird, pastor of the church, will deliver the sermon. Organizations to attend include the G. A. R.'s, W. R. O.'s, Daughters of Veterans, Spanish War Veterans and auxiliary, the American Legion and auxiliary and the D. A. R.'s.

CLOUDY WEATHER WILL HOLD SWAY

Rainfall, within a 24-hour period preceding 5 a. m. today, totaled .37 of an inch in the valley, according to the federal weather bureau report. However, this leaves a deficiency for the month of .29 of an inch of moisture, and a seasonal shortage of 5.75 inches, the records show. Since September 1, 1933, there has been a total precipitation of 9.75 inches, far below the normal rainfall. Between 3 a. m. and 5 p. m. Thursday there was .31 of an inch of rainfall, and from 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon until 5 this morning there was .16 of an inch. The weather man forecast cloudy weather for tonight and Saturday, with a continued mild temperature.

FAT PRIZES WAIT DIAMOND JUBILEE ROUNDUP WINNERS

Prize lists and general rules of Oregon's Diamond Jubilee roundup in Medford during celebration week, June 3 to 9, were announced this week by Norman Cowan, arena director. Bronze riding carries a purse of $400, divided into day monies of $100, each split into $40, $30, $20 and $10. There will be an entrance fee of $10. The grand finale of the riding contest occurs Saturday night following competition on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday afternoons. Calf roping and bulldogging carries similar purses, divided the same way. A purse of $250 has been set aside for Brahma steer riding, divided into $62.50 per day, split into $25, $17.50, $12.50 and $7.50. There will be an entrance fee of $5. A similar purse and division has been announced for barbecue bronc riding.

The roundup will be governed by rules of the Rodeo association of America. All contestants will be asked to participate in all parades and in general fully cooperate to assure the success of the presentation. Competent judges will be selected to return fair and impartial verdicts. One of the interesting features of the roundup will be the presence of a $10,000 Brahma bull, having horns measuring eight feet from tip to tip. It has appeared in numerous moving pictures and will perform daily during the four-day show. One of its favorite stunts is to jump over big sedans, clearing them by several feet. Just before arriving in Medford a few days ago, Mr. Cowan, arena director, returned from Old Mexico, where he purchased a herd of 15 or 20 Mexican steers which will be used in the bulldogging contests. These animals have never been in roundups before and promise to offer vivid action during daily performances.

MAD DOGS AND CATS TERRORIZE ESTONIA

HELSINGFORS, Finland, May 25.—(UP)—An epidemic of hydrophobia, believed to have originated in Soviet Russia, was reported sweeping southern Estonia tonight. Already 300 persons have been bitten by mad dogs and cats. They are being rushed to the Pasteur Institute at Dorpat. The population is horror-stricken. Authorities ordered mad animals shot. So far, 7,000 dogs and cats have been killed in a futile effort to check the disease. About 120,000,000 pounds of tung oil was marketed in the United States last year at a total value of $9,000,000.

The Percodripit makes either Drip Coffee or Percolator Coffee. Nonsense? Of course it is! You can't use the same kind of maker for both. Nor should you use the same kind of coffee for both. In a Drip Coffee Maker, boiling water drips only once through a coffee specially prepared to yield its flavor quickly. While in a Percolator, the water continues to pass many times through a coffee prepared to yield its flavor slowly. The same coffee can be used for both methods, but like a "Jack-of-all-trades" it is "master of none"—neither drip nor percolator. In one or the other, little things happen. It's a little weak, or a little strong, or a little cloudy, or it has a little less flavor. It's these little things that make or mar good coffee. Be sure to use the correct coffee for each method. Your grocer has two Schilling Coffees, identical in flavor, but each is specially prepared for its purpose—each one different in blend, roast and grind. Two Schilling Coffees. Percolator Coffee. Drip Coffee.
