modern usage for Old English beef-steak pie. And one of the most interesting features of this particular day will be the explanation and complete demonstration of an entirely new way to mix pastries as worked out in the kitchen of the Homemakers' Bureau.

The second day's program, Miss Calkins stated, while principally devoted to cakes and to party ideas, would include a revelation of the theory and practice of the making of "Goop."

"Goop," she said with a smile, "may be an odd name, but 'Goop' is a very delicious dish. It's really all that the name implies and, when served with a platter of salad and perhaps a few slices of garlic bread, is a meal in itself. I'm not going to tell you anything about 'Goop' now, but just wait until the second day of the cooking school.

"And," she added, "there's another real mystery on the second day of the cooking school program. It's Mystery Cake, and if I were to tell you its two principal ingredients today you'd laugh, no matter how well you may have been reared. "Incidentally," Miss Calkins said, "if anyone thinks she knows an easy and fool-proof way to make sponge and angel food cakes, wait until she sees the Homemakers' Bureau's new way of mixing them."

Complete meals, according to Estelle Calkins, will feature the third exciting day of "Kitcheneering," including every phase of stove usage, both surface and oven and high and low temperatures.

"One of the things that everyone enjoys," she said, "is the Porto Rican pot roast with German potato pancakes, and another is two new breakfast dishes that are grand."

"But really," she continued, "one must be present to begin to understand all of the work that the Safeway Stores Homemakers' Bureau has put into 'Kitcheneering' to make such little work for housewives, and to make their work so interesting and their families and guests so delighted. So once more let me extend Mrs. Julia Lee Wright's personal invitation to everyone to be present, and to remind everyone to bring pencil and paper so that nothing will be missed. We're sure you'll enjoy every minute of 'Kitcheneering.'"

With doors opening promptly at 1 o'clock, and with the course starting promptly at 2 o'clock, it is expected that every available seat in the Rialto theater will be filled by the time Miss Calkins presents the first of each day's recipes.

Free Range Wiring Service Is Popular

The free range wiring service instituted by the California Oregon Power company sometime ago, has proved popular throughout this entire territory and has made it possible for many local housewives to enjoy the many conveniences and benefits of electric cooking. Through the power company's liberal policy it is now possible to purchase and install an electric range without having to make an additional investment in the special range wiring. This unusual offer includes all wiring in connection with the installation of not only the range but the water heater as well and means a substantial saving of $35.00 or more to local purchasers of this modern, labor-saving equipment for the home. The offer is not restricted to equipment purchased from the power company but also includes ranges and water heaters purchased from any furniture, hardware or electric dealer in the territory served.

Many residents of this community have availed themselves of this liberal offer on the part of the California Oregon Power company and are now enjoying the benefits of electric cooking and the low cooking rates offered by the local utility.

KITCHENEERING

EPWORTH LEAGUE VISITS CCC CAMP

Several members of the Epworth League motored to Camp South Fork of the Rogue, CCC last Tuesday, to conduct special services. The leaguers had a picnic supper at the hatchery, and reached the camp about 7 o'clock.

The program included songs by the group, a duet, "The Lord Is My Shepherd" by Betty Dyan and Eleanor Poffenbarger, sentence prayers and scripture read by Olaf Severson, a quartet, "Christ Receiveth Sinful Men," by Janette Trill, Eleanor Poffenbarger, Olaf Severson and Marvin Burk.

Rev. Joseph Knotts gave an interesting talk. Chapones for the evening were Mrs. Poffenbarger, Mr. Burk and Rev. Knotts.

Grunow SUPER-SAFE REFRIGERATOR

Only Grunow uses safe Carrene refrigerant which, instead of being a gas, is a liquid, under all ordinary conditions. This safe liquid refrigerant operates under a vacuum. Carrene is so safe that it can be carried around in open pails, like water. Yet, with all its safety and simplicity, it is one of the most efficient refrigerants known. The distinguished new Grunows are the handiwork of the Master Craftsman, William C. Grunow. They represent the last word in beautiful design, having three coats of baked-on DuLux; rounded corners to facilitate cleaning; broom like legs; a clever device for removing ice cubes.

CIRCUIT COURT OPENS WITH DIVORCE, EQUITY CASES TO TAKE TIME

The May term of the circuit court, Judge H. D. Norton presiding opened today, with the divorce suit of Anna M. Publ against Fred Publ. Hearing of equity cases are slated for the balance of the week.

The suit of James T. Kinkade of Phoenix against the sheriffs of Klamath and Jackson counties for alleged false arrest and imprisonment last February, is placed second on the list.

Kinkade charges that he was detained without due process of law, subjected to "kangaroo court" procedure in both the Jackson and Klamath county jails, fined all his money, and compelled to walk home.

Kinkade was arrested upon information from Klamath county, charging non-support, by local authorities, and turned over to the eastern Oregon officials.

The sheriffs are represented by the district attorneys of their respective counties, and Kinkade by Attorney M. O. Wilkins of this city.

FLUHRER'S Spun Bread

The TEXTURE Assures Freshness

LONG after ordinary breads lose their freshness Spun Bread remains as tasty and airy as the day you buy it. The unique spinning process accounts for the diagonal air cells in Spun Bread . . . preventing free circulation of drying air through the slices. Fluhrer's Spun Bread has a superior flavor, too.
