DR. SIEG ACCEPTS W. U. PRESIDENCY SEATTLE, Wash., June 1.—(AP)—Hailing a call to the presidency of the University of Washington, the "University of a thousand years," as "too great an honor to turn down," Dr. Leo Paul Sieg, eastern scientist-educator, assumes the leadership of the university this summer.

The dean of three schools of the University of Pittsburgh, the graduate school, the college of arts and sciences and the school of journalism, and his wife and their two children expect to be in Seattle before August 1, the date of the appointment.

The post was offered to him 10 days ago, on his first visit to Seattle. Chairman Lewis B. Schwellenbach of the board of regents pointed out today. Returning east, he decided to accept, and the appointment was announced here last night.

SAFeway SCHOOL ENDS SUCCESSFUL SESSION IN CITY

"It's a hit!" Those words, music to the ears of playwrights and composers, were, in effect, the words that an audience of 700 housewives was thinking this afternoon, when the course in "Kitchening" sponsored by the Safeway Stores Homemakers' Bureau came to its local close at the Rialto.

"No more successful cooking school has ever been held here." Those were the actual words spoken by local home economics experts who attended all three days of the program, and who were unanimously in agreement that the course marked not only a credit to the Homemakers' Bureau but represented a personal triumph for Mrs. Julia Lee Wright, national director of the bureau, who, as Kitchening-in-chief, was responsible more than any other person for the organization and planning of the cooking school.

Great credit was extended, too, to Miss Calkins, who conducted "Kitchening" locally, and whose youthful enthusiasm was so tempered by experience, training and skill as to make her outstanding among cooking school instructors who have appeared here.

The last day's session was devoted principally to recipes important to the complete meal, meat courses being especially featured and inexpensive cuts of meat being given prominence.

As an example, a fruited pork roast, deliciously made from a shoulder cut, was roasted in an open pan, a method long advocated by the Homemakers' Bureau to avoid the necessity of basting, except that in this instance basting was done with pineapple juice to add a tasty zest new to everyone.

Surface cookery of meats was capably demonstrated with a Porto roast, a method long advocated by the Homemakers' Bureau to avoid the necessity of basting, except that in this instance basting was done with pineapple juice to add a tasty zest new to everyone.

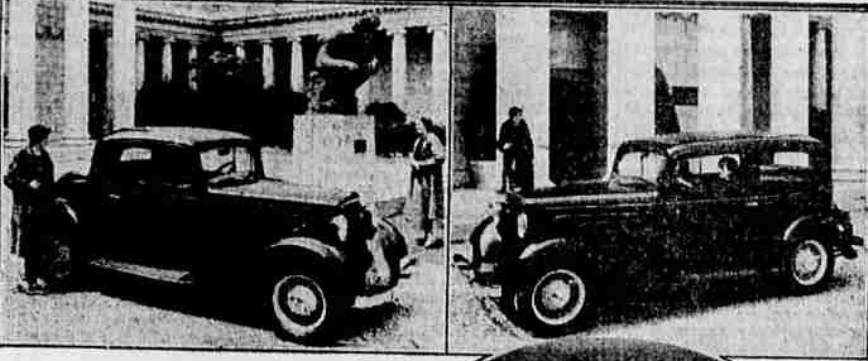

Two distinct innovations in breakfast dishes were eagerly welcomed by an audience familiar with the reputation so commonplace in modern breakfasts. One recipe provided a fluffy French toast, fried in deep fat, and the other, appropriately termed baked humpy dumplings, produced baked eggs served with bacon in novel style.

Perhaps you don't know what Harlequin Velvet is. If you don't, it's because you weren't present to discover that it's dessert, a frozen desert, quite the most surprising frozen desert local women have seen demonstrated in a good, long time, for it is made from a mixture of coffee, maple and prunes, with the aid of whipped evaporated milk.

In this connection, it was a revelation to most of those present to learn that evaporated milk can be whipped, often more satisfactorily and always at less expense than whipping cream, simply by chilling it and adding two tablespoonsful of lemon juice to each cup.

Another joyous discovery to many was the introduction of souffled crackers, magically but simply made by soaking ordinary crackers in ice water and baking in a hot oven for 45 minutes, while sandwiches were called to the fore in the shape of broiled bean snacks made with canned baked beans and cheese. And speaking of cheese, it was very much among those recipes present for it appeared prominently, playing the leading role in cheese lettuce, made with cream cheese, lettuce and French dressing, and in pinwheels of bacon and cream cheese.

PROCLAIMED THE WORLD'S LOWEST PRICED SIX

Above are pictured two of the four brilliant new Chevrolet models announced this week as the lowest priced six-cylinder automobiles in the world—the coupe and the two-door sedan. At top, left and right, Alice Land and Maureen Dennis, the first fair testers, pronounce the new models as worthy of the art palace setting to which they drove them. Lower right—Chevrolet's quality upholstery in the two-door sedan comes in for close inspection and high praise from discerning young ladies. New models are now on display at the local Chevrolet dealer's.

So complete was the program, in fact, that even the lovely cookfish was elevated to a place of honor, and given a tempting new dress which it said to do wonders for his flavor, just as his economy and year-round availability do wonders for the purse and patience.

Following the conclusion of the program, a great percentage of those present took advantage of the opportunity to pass by the reviewing stand, but to review rather than be reviewed, for the stand consisted of tables bearing the completed dishes produced during the afternoon's demonstrations.

Commenting upon the obvious success of the program, Miss Calkins said, "I am surely personally delighted with the hearty reception given me and the message I brought. I want everyone to know that it is always a real pleasure for the Safeway Stores Homemakers' Bureau to be of any possible service, and that the same sort of recipes it was my privilege to demonstrate here may be found in Julia Lee Wright's wonderful cook-book, 'Recipes You'll Enjoy' and in Mrs. Wright's weekly radio programs. I do hope that every local housewife will feel perfectly free to utilize the services of the Homemakers' Bureau, which can always be reached by mail in care of Safeway Stores, Oakland, Calif. Any questions on homemaking will be gladly answered, and recipe problems solved for anyone at no obligation or expense. Once more, I want to thank everyone enthusiastically for the wonderful time I have had here, and to express the hope that the Homemakers' Bureau has been and will continue to be of genuine service because, after all, that is our purpose."

QUINTUPLET GIRLS CONTINUE TO GAIN IN NEEDED WEIGHT

CORBELL, Ont., June 1.—(AP)—While aid was hurried from the outside world, a country doctor continued an unceasing fight today for the lives of five tiny patients—quintuplets born in a humble farm home. Now three days old, the infant girls were gaining strength—but the heaviest weighed only three pounds and four ounces at birth. Quintuplets are rare in medical annals and it is even rarer for all to survive.

Every possible aid was being sent Dr. A. R. DeFoe for use in the case. An old-fashioned incubator arrived last night from a Chicago newspaper. There is no electricity in the home for a modern incubator.

Premier George S. Henry of Ontario instructed the welfare department to provide all necessary care for Mrs. Ovilla Dionne, the 24-year-old mother, and her babies, who have five older brothers and sisters.

The babies have been baptized by the Irish priest and named—Ceclie, Yvonne, Marie, Emily and Annette. They wear tags so they can be told apart.

An eye-dropper is used to feed them milk, corn syrup and water. The procedure takes so long that by the time the fifth has been fed the first is hungry again.

K. F. DRUM CORPS HERE WEDNESDAY

The crack drum corps of the Klamath Falls American Legion post will appear in Medford on Trail day, Wednesday, June 6, according to word received today by H. L. Bromley from Rowell Warren, manager of the Klamath Falls group.

It is impossible for the men to get away on Friday to participate in the industrial parade it was decided at the last minute to accompany the Klamath caravan on Trail day rather than not come at all.

The Klamath group, although one of the newest Legion corps in the state, has been practicing diligently for the 1934 state convention in Astoria and will make a creditable showing in this city next Wednesday. A series of street exhibitions will be given under the direction of their snappy drum major who won the state title of champion drum major while affiliated with the Legion drum corps of Bend.

GUARD OFFICERS PLAN ANNUAL ENCAMPMENT

SALEM, June 1.—(AP)—Preparations for the annual encampment of the Oregon National Guard which will be attended by more than 3,000 men and officers, were going forward today at the headquarters here. The encampment will open June 11 at Camp Clatsop and continue for 15 days.

Major-General George A. White announced that new buildings and improvements at the camp during the past year amounted to about $50,000, paid for out of federal funds. Additional improvements were being considered by the government, he stated.

AGED OFFERED SEATS FOR JUBILEE PARADE

NAVY RECRUITER HAS INTERESTING SERVICE CAREER

Chief Petty Officer A. P. Walker, C.M.M., U.S.N., who is officer in charge of the newly opened Medford navy recruiting station in the federal building, has had a very interesting career in his almost 20 years of service with the armed forces of the United States.

He first enlisted early in 1916 in the army and was a member of the punitive expedition into Mexico, where he met his baptism of fire at Parrell, Chihuahua, in the pursuit of the bandit, Villa, under "Black Jack" Pershing. Upon the expedition's return to the United States, he was in charge of a border patrol near El Paso, Texas. When the United States declared war with Germany, he transferred to the 16th Infantry and was in one of the first groups of combatants sent to France. Walker was slightly wounded at the battle of Cantigny and upon his return from the base hospital at Toul was transferred to the First Division intelligence detachment and assigned to instruction in front line work, in ambushing, night patrolling and raiding. Completing this course of instruction, he returned to the A. E. F. and continued his work there until the armistice.

He participated in the second Marne offensive at Chateau Thierry, St. Mihiel, and the Meuse-Argonne, and was three times wounded by machine gun fire, H. E. and bayonet.

Walker was discharged early in 1919 and decided to try the navy. After two years of battleship duty, he was transferred to the submarine service, and served on the N-2, K-8, O-6, S-4, S-6 and S-8 submarines for some ten years, during which time he visited practically all the ports of the east and west coasts of the United States, the West Indies, Panama, South America, Hawaii, the Philippine Islands and China.

In 1929 he qualified as an instructor in the Mosen submarine escape lung, and took a course in deep sea diving and salvage work. His last sea duty was on the submarine "Rescue" and salvage vessel "U. S. S. Mallard," stationed at the stationer base, Coco Solo, Panama.

In 1932 he was ordered to recruiting duty and after completing a course of instruction at the school for recruiting officers at Norfolk, Va., was transferred to Indianapolis, Ind., and later as recruiter in charge at the Turin, Haute, Ind., and Tacoma, Wash., stations.

He has been cited twice for bravery, several times for excellence in performance of duty, and has been awarded a good conduct and a life saving medal of honor.

Chief Walker is well pleased with his present assignment to Medford and says that he is sure he will be able to make this station one of the most successful in the Oregon district, and is glad that he can give to Medford's young men the opportunity to embark upon an interesting, instructive and well-paid career in the naval service.
