MEDICAL CLINIC MAY SEEK COURT HELP IN BATTLE

Controversy Between "Socialized" Medical Treatment And "Rugged Individualism" Near Climax.

LOS ANGELES (UP)—The fight to maintain medical service at low cost for the salaried classes may be taken to the civil courts, Dr. H. Clifford Loos, co-founder of the Ross-Loos Clinic of Los Angeles, has told the United Press.

The controversy between "socialized" medical treatment and "rugged individualism," is being brought to a head here in the controversy between the Ross-Loos Clinic and the Los Angeles County Medical association.

The clinic has been furnishing complete medical care to several thousand patients, including hospitalization, at the rate of $2 a month.

Economic Issues

The issues seem to be largely economic. No question of professional ability within the clinic has been raised.

The medical association recently expelled the clinic's physicians on the ground that the clinic had solicited patients and had sanctioned complimentary articles in house organs published by groups subscribing to the clinic, the latter coming under the professionally unethical head of "advertising." Drs. Ross and Loos deny the charges categorically.

The clinic has at present some 15,000 "contract patients," many of whom also contract for the care of their dependents. The complete roster of patients is estimated at 30,000 to 45,000. It has grown to its present proportions from an experiment launched in 1929. Fifty-five all-time and part-time physicians are employed, and as many more nurses, orderlies and clerical attendants.

The founders are Dr. Loos, a surgeon who retired just prior to 1929, and Dr. Arnold E. Ross of Canada, fellow of the Royal College of Surgeons of London and of Edinburgh and of the American College of Surgeons.

The Plan

The clinic will accept groups of from ten persons up. When a group is signed, all members are entitled to the service, regardless of the physical condition of any one member (exceptions: drug addiction, insanity and alcoholism). The well pay for the sick. The healthy are encouraged to visit the clinic early in illness, so that in a sense they pay the clinic to keep them well.

As an example of service, a woman can get a thorough course of prenatal care, confinement hospitalization and delivery, post-natal care and instruction in the care of the child at the basic rate.

Beginning in a small building, the clinic now occupies a modern four-story building, crowded with laboratories, libraries, operating rooms and offices. Hospitalization—up to three months per patient per year—is offered within the basic rate.

The Clinic's Side

Dr. Loos, who, incidentally, is a brother of Anita Loos, the writer, said in reference to the controversy:

"We are charged with advertising, which we deny. We think, for that matter, that we don't need to advertise. Obviously (I cite our growth) we are filling a great need among modestly-salaried persons. We don't feel that we are encroaching upon the revenues of individual physicians, for the reason that the great majority of our patients are not economically able to contemplate private care, particularly surgery.

"The house organs of several of our patients' groups have printed complimentary articles, which we are accused of inspiring, or sanctioning. This is not true."

The clinic is appealing to the State Medical association from the county association's ruling, and expects to be refused.

"We may then have to go to court to vindicate ourselves," Dr. Loos said. "We feel that an exemplary verdict of one dollar from a jury of laymen would tend to prove our case."

Dr. Philip Stephens, president of the County Medical association, would not discuss the matter for publication.

APRIL GASOLINE SALES INCREASE OVER LAST YEAR

SALEM, Ore., June 6.—(AP)—Total sale of motor vehicle fuels in Oregon for the month of April was well over April, 1933, or 14,615,261 gallons, against 11,948,197 gallons, as shown by a statement released by the secretary of state's office today. Taxes paid on last month's sales amounted to $730,763.08, as compared to $477,776.77 for the corresponding month last year.

A recapitulation of figures for the last 15 years, or since February 15, 1919, shows that over that period 1,736,853,776 gallons of motor fuel have been sold in Oregon, bringing in a total amount of taxes of $87,270,593.97. This total, less $4,817,745.94, in refunds, $136,073.79 for administrative expenses and $649,586.88 not transferred to the state highway fund, left a net amount of tax receipts transferred to the state highway fund of $81,667,187.36 over the 15-year period.

Gasoline sales for last month were greater than any month since September, 1933, when over $15,000,000 gallons were sold.

Garden Club Opens Three Day Show

The Flower Show sponsored by the Medford Garden club was formally opened this afternoon by Anne Whiteaker, Queen Mother of the jubilee. Escorted by Mayor Wilson, she was the first to enter the high school gymnasium and after viewing the show she was greeted by the president, Mrs. Ralph Woodford, Mrs. T. W. Miles, the retiring president and other past presidents and officers.

Mrs. Miles presented the queen with a bouquet of garden flowers after which in a short address the queen declared the eighth annual flower show open.

Mrs. B. E. Harder, Mrs. T. W. Miles and Mrs. E. M. Wilson were hostesses for the afternoon. Mrs. Bessie Lumsden and Mrs. W. E. Crews are hostesses for this evening. Thursday afternoon the hostesses will be Mrs. A. E. Reames, Mrs. J. R. Woodford and Mrs. Geo. B. Canode.

In spite of discouraging weather conditions the flower show is really beautiful and attractively arranged. The exhibit of bird houses and feeding devices arranged by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Driver is one of the outstanding attractions of the show. The Wurts Gift Shop has a beautiful exhibit of flower containers which would merit recognition in a much larger show. The Burk Awning Shop has a colorful and attractive display near the west entrance while on the north side the Groceteria has put in a modern and interesting fruit and vegetable stand.

The county library has a table of delightful garden books and magazines which is attracting a great deal of attention. In the center of the east wall the Grants Pass Garden club has an attractive exhibit.

Karl Janouch of the forestry dept., will give a talk Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, illustrated with pictures which have been sent from Portland for this occasion.

Juveniles' Club Hears Band Concert.

Degree of Honor Juvenile club met Saturday afternoon in the club rooms at the city hall, with Helen Haas as president and Ciata Gill, secretary, the two regular officers being absent. Guests at the meeting included Mrs. Ruth Goddard, and Little Miss Doris Southwick.

Marjorie Goddard, a member of the club, received her corporal sunshine strip, the first in the local organization to receive the lavender strip for her cap. Two new deputies, Helen Haas and Ciata Gill, were appointed, and are expected to get many new members.

After the business session, the club members, wearing their uniform caps, were taken to the city park to hear the band concert presented by the Ben Ali Shriners from Sacramento. Juvenile Director Ida M. Wilson accompanied the children. They returned to the club rooms at the close of the concert, where refreshments were served. Helen Haas had baked the cake.

The next meeting will be July 7, and will probably be in the form of a picnic. All juveniles are expected to be present, so they might practice the new yell, received from the head office in St. Paul, Minn.

Mrs. Brown Entertains Group at Luncheon.

Mrs. Walter Frazer Brown entertained Tuesday with a one o'clock luncheon, for Mrs. Thomas Stot, president of the Southwest Oregon Presbyterian, Mrs. Gaston, Mrs. Mash and Mrs. Bostel, all of Grants Pass, who are members of the Presbyterial executive committee, and Mrs. A. R. Clement, acting president of the local Missionary society of the Presbyterian church.

In the afternoon, members of the executive board of the local society met with them and plans for the work of the coming year were discussed. Three members of the local society are also members of the Presbyterial board.

The local society is one of the largest in the Southern Oregon division, and the members are active in all branches of the local church work.

Farewell Party for Mr. and Mrs. Barker.

BROWNSBORO—A farewell party was given at the teacherage for Mr. and Mrs. Barker Saturday evening. Dancing and visiting was enjoyed during the evening and later refreshments were served.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Louie Blass and children, Rolf Bieberatedt, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Wright and children, Frances Myers, Joe Maxfield, Bill Swain, Mr. and Mrs. George Brown, Mrs. Anna Walsh and mother, Mrs. Nygren, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Tucker and children.

Mr. and Mrs. Barker will leave soon for their new home at Merrill, where Mr. Barker has a contract carrying mail.

Orchestral Ensemble Recital Is Postponed.

The violin ensemble scheduled for tomorrow evening at the Baldwin recital hall, has been postponed until next Thursday, June 14, it was announced today.

Due to the many other events scheduled in connection with the jubilee, and the inability to have a satisfactory seating arrangement, the recital has been postponed. Piano students of Sebastian Opollo, local instructor, will be guest artists at the presentation.

Tea at Fabrick Home Honors Queen Mother.

At a lovely tea yesterday from 2 to 5 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. Glen Fabrick, 106 Crater Lake avenue, about 90 pioneer women, or their representatives called to congratulate Anne Whiteaker of Eugene, who the preceding evening had been crowned Queen Mother of Oregon's Diamond Jubilee celebration.

One of the interesting events of the afternoon, was the arrival of Miss Issie McCully, Ella Hanley Bush and Mrs. E. B. Watson from Jacksonville, riding in the old stage coach driven by Fred Tice. Queen Anne greeted the pioneers upon their alighting from the old coach.

During the afternoon the beautiful white satin and lace dress, which Queen Whiteaker had worn at the coronation, was modeled by Miss Jeanne Fabrick, in order that the guests might view the beautiful gown.

At the tea, the queen was attired in black lace and carried an old-fashioned nosegay.

A musical program was presented, with LaMurle Beck singing "The Second Minuet," and "A Lesson With the Fan." She was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Royal Bebb. Two piano numbers, "Valse Clare" and "Important Event," were given by Mary Louise McElhose, who called, wearing an old-fashioned red satin dress, in which she greeted the queen.

Throughout the afternoon, Miss Dorothy Sly of Vancouver, Wash., house guest of Mrs. Fabrick, was at the piano, and her several presentations were greatly enjoyed by those calling.

Pioneer women from all parts of the state, and especially southern Oregon, were present and many acquaintances were renewed. One of the pioneer women recognized Rena Knowles at the tea table, and upon inquiry, found that the young lady she had known in Jacksonville by that name, was now Mrs. A. C. Hubbard, whose husband is a member of the executive committee for the Jubilee celebration.

An interesting gift sent to the tea, through the courtesy of William A. Gates, was a burnt leather cake, made from the recipe by Mrs. Lorra Applegate of Yoncalla, Ore.

Assisting Mrs. Fabrick as hostess were Mrs. E. C. Jerome, Mrs. A. H. Banwell, Mrs. T. E. Daniels, Mrs. A. C. Hubbard, Mrs. W. S. Bolger and Mrs. O. O. Alenderfer.

FIRST WHITE BOY BORN IN AREA IS HERE FOR JUBILEE

David S. Stearns of Portland, who with his twin brother, was born on the donation land claim at the head of West Jackson street in this city, the first white boys born in southern Oregon, was a member of the Portland chamber of commerce delegation that arrived this morning. He was accompanied by his wife.

Mr. Stearns met here his old friend and boyhood chum, Will G. Steel, commissioner of Crater Lake national park. They went to school together in 1872 in Portland, where now stands the Hotel Portland. There was a reunion between the two old-timers.

The Stearns twins were born on the day, 77 years ago, that the Oregon constitution was signed.

The Searns' donation land claim, taken up by S. D. Stearns, the father, lies at the head of West Jackson street. Mr. Stearns rode horseback as a boy over what is now the business district of this city.

He brought with him a notice published in the Jacksonville Times, advertising a cow "with a swollen jaw." The item was unearthed by George H. Himes of the Oregon Historical society.

The Stearns family is well remembered by the older pioneers of Jackson county.

"I just couldn't resist the temptation to come to the jubilee, because it holds many pleasant memories for me," said Mr. Stearns. He is a retired real estate dealer of Portland.

Among other Portland residents arriving by train this morning were: Pat Bacon, Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co.; R. B. Bain Jr., Closet & Devers; Geo. L. Baker, Oregon Mfgrs. Assn.; O. B. Down where they grow tobacco.. in most places Chesterfield is the largest-selling cigarette —what does that mean?

—it takes good things to make good things.

—the mild ripe tobaccos we buy for Chesterfield mean milder better taste.

—the way they are made means Chesterfields burn right and smoke cool.

—it means that down where they grow tobacco folks know that mild ripe tobaccos are bought for Chesterfield.

And because Chesterfields are made of the right kinds of tobacco, it is a milder cigarette, a cigarette that tastes better.

There is no substitute for mild, ripe tobacco.
