Gay Musical Now at Studio

A gay and hilariously insane saga of two slap-stickian heroes who let the world laugh with, and for them while they peddle flavored lipsticks, participate in a cross-country automobile race, make love to beautiful girls and wise-crack gaily, is "Hips, Hips, Hooray," musical extravaganza at the Studio theater, starring Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey, with Ruth Etting, Dorothy Lee and Thelma Todd featured.

"Hips, Hips, Hooray" features an aggregation of beautiful blondes, brunettes and redheads selected for their beauty and face and figure, which are shown in the spectacularly glittering dance sequences.

Harrington, Medford headquarters detachment of the CCC. The truck he was driving was hit by a Packard driven by Egbert J. Martin, Berkeley, Cal., who was driving on the wrong side of the highway.

'LADIES MUST LOVE' HAS CLASSIC FIGHT

Quite the gayest musical picture that has been seen on a local screen in many a day is "Ladies Must Love," wise-cracking comedy which opened this afternoon at the Roxy theater.

The picture is filled with luring songs, most of which are sung by June Knight, who can sing and dance in a manner which is very pleasing to the eye and ear, and who introduces the melodies with a zest which has made her a favorite. Opposite her in the principal male role is Neil Hamilton, who is pleasing, as always, as well as being one of the screen's most handsome actors. Dorothy Burgess, Mary Carlisle and Sally O'Neil, as the gold-digging companions of the blonde Miss Knight, bring a wealth of pulchritude to the picture, and engage in a knock-down and drag-out fight which is a classic.
