CHARRED BODY FOUND IN GARAGE FARM PROSPERITY SAID TO HINGE ON RETURN OF HORSE Profits in Breeding in Next Few Years Seen by Dr. Lytle, Head of State Animal Industry Division

Sacramento, Cal., police were uncertain whether Virginia Johnson, daughter of the state treasurer and candidate for the republican nomination for governor, was murdered or committed suicide. Her burned body was found in a capital city garage. Miss Johnson and her father, Charles G. Johnson, are shown while on a sea cruise. (Associated Press Photo)

SALEM, Ore. (UP)—The success way back to prosperity for American agriculture is a return to a "horse back," Dr. W. H. Lytle, head of the animal industry division of the state department of agriculture, declared today. He said the day of the horse on farms of the nation was returning, predicting profits in horse breeding during the next few years. The disappearance of 10,000,000 horses, as mulled in rural America between 1920 and 1933, was responsible for a large measure of the economic ills which have beset agriculture, Dr. Lytle believes. Two-Fold Reason The reason, he said, was two-fold. "We have but two ultimate consumers in America—man and the horse. Other farm animals—cattle, sheep, hogs and poultry—may be likened to food and textile factories, converting grass, hay, forage, cereals and grains into more concentrated and more palatable meat products, and also into raw textile materials, wool and leather." The horses which vanished removed the market for products of at least 40,000,000 acres of American farm land, Lytle said. As a result there was a shifting of production. "Dairy cows were added to eat up the oats and hay. Sheep were added to utilize the pasture formerly used by horses. More hogs were raised to eat up the excess corn. More poultry was raised to convert the cheapened farm grains into eggs. In the end we find ourselves confronted with a farm surplus." Owe for Machinery The second depressing factor was the purchase of two billion dollars worth of tractors and tractor equipment by farmers during the period, Lytle said. Because of continued decline in prices, farmers are still in debt, probably the larger part of the purchases. Fuel for tractors must be purchased for cash, at prices which have declined but little compared to those of farm produce, Lytle said. He believed there was still a place for power machinery on some farms, such as orchards. Horses Worth More The third back, Lytle said, is indicated by the fact that horse prices today are higher than in 1929, against greatly reduced prices for all other animals. The United States horse population was 12,148,000 in 1933. Many of the animals were old, 12 years of age and more. Mules numbered 4,981,000. It would take ten years to build up the horse population to 20,000,000, considered the ideal number for the United States, Lytle estimated. The state department of agriculture is encouraging the purchase of young stallions of good breeding by Oregon farmers. Those found free from defects that would be hereditary are licensed by the department. DODGERS IN MAIL BOX WILL DRAW PENALTY Filing matter in any box erected for the reception of mail, with the purpose of avoiding payment of postage, has been subjected to a fine not exceeding $300, it was announced in a bulletin received by the local post office yesterday. Postmaster General James A. Farley. Heretofore there has been no penalty for the violation, which has been occurring frequently in Medford and the surrounding rural routes. Oregon Weather Generally fair tonight and Saturday; local cloudiness; slightly cooler east portion tonight; moderate northerly winds offshore. SALEM, June 8.—(AP)—What was thought to be the first estimate in recent years of the monthly payroll for the state of Oregon was announced here today by P. J. Stadelman, secretary of state. Stadelman's report estimated a state payroll for the month of May at $538,000, of which amount $178,000 went for highway, $140,000 for education and $52,000 for state institutions. Salaries for state police, state liquor commission, industrial accident commission, department of agriculture, tax commission, game commission and secretary of state's office, including the motor vehicle division and other state administrative departments, totaled $171,077, Stadelman estimated. The latter sum included salaries paid to 1424 state employes in all parts of the state. On Your Car LOANS Commercial Finance Corp. First Nat'l Bank Bldg. Medford, Oregon.

PATRICK'S CREEK INN WILL HAVE POOL FOR SWIMMING AND FISH

During the past several months, the Raymond brothers at Patrick's Creek Tavern have constructed a lake that is to serve as a bathing pool and trout fish pond, for the benefit of their guests at the resort.

The lake will be about a half an acre in size, and will be ready to have the water turned into it within a few days, according to word received here from Austin S. Raymond. The swimming pool is expected to be ready for bathers some time this month.

Fishing in the lake at Patrick's Creek Tavern will not be ready for about two years, he said, due to the fact that the fish must be raised from eggs. A shipment of 10,000 rainbow trout eggs were delivered to the Raymond brothers, from Troy, Mont., on May 26, in splendid condition.

"In about three weeks the little rainbows will begin to hatch, and at the end of two years, dinner guests at the tavern will see rainbow trout listed on the menu," Mr. Raymond stated.

Fishing in Patrick's creek and Smith river has been good this spring, and many guests have been able to make fine catches, according to reports. All kinds of legal blanks for sale for rent, no hunting, no trespassing and other cards for sale at Commercial Printing Dept. of Mail Tribune.

News Behind The News

Sir Ronald Lindsay, apparently London did not want the note made public until the afternoon of June 8, after the opening of the house of commons. Sir Ronald authorized the state department here to give it out almost 24 hours earlier. It was called back to London and the British foreign office was amazed to read it in British newspapers.

Such things cause an awful flutter in diplomatic circles. The government may have to explain informally to the British foreign office.

One republican senator has long had his reservations to go home tomorrow and says he is going to adjourn whether congress does or not.

The administration is having much trouble dealing out to the steel people the same agreement which was given to automobiles, but that will be the basis of the final steel labor arrangement.

Mr. Roosevelt's timing of drought relief steps shows how he works. His swing into action before demands for relief were made. The agriculture department gave him advance information.

The best story written about Mr. Roosevelt's efforts to put the labor and housing bills through congress by vague indirection was written by W. H. Grimes of the Wall Street Journal. He wired his newspaper: "President Roosevelt, quarterback of the new deal, today called the signal for the hidden ball play."

BRITISH READY TO CLOSE NET ON DRUG RING

LONDON.—(UP)—British customs authorities are closing the net about one of the most dangerous gangs of international drug traffickers, it is learned. The gang is said to have widespread ramifications and agencies.

It has been known for some time that large quantities of drugs are being brought by air into Britain from the continent. The difficulty has been to catch the smugglers red handed.

The smugglers' planes rarely use the same landing ground twice and, while customs preventive officers kept watch on the south coast, the drugs often were landed on the east coast. While the vigilance on the south coast was not relaxed, new officers were drafted into South Lincolnshire.

It is known that at least three planes have landed some miles inland from the Lincolnshire coast, and that the leaders of the traffickers in this country set up their headquarters not far from Grantham.

Recently, the commander of an Atlantic liner, homeward bound from New York, radioed the French and British customs authorities that he suspected that one of his passengers was carrying drugs for disposal in Europe.

The French authorities refused him permission to land. He had a similar reception at Hamburg, and he was forced to return in the same ship. He made the mistake, however, of landing at Southampton, where the customs officers were ready for him. Today, he is in a British prison. The drugs were confiscated.

GRANTS PASS LAD NEAR FIRE DEATH

GRANTS PASS, June 8.—(AP)—Surrounded by fire which swept through his wooded sleeping quarters here the young son of W. R. Burner escaped without burns in an early morning blaze today.

The boy, about 10, was sleeping in the woodshed when he awoke to find flames swirling around him and the mattress of the bed on which he slept smoldering and smoking.

The fire department quickly checked the blaze. Damage was limited.

Sets Flight Mark

Jean Batten, 24-year-old New Zealand girl flier, set a new women's record on a solo flight from England to Port Darwin, North Australia. She made the long hazardous trip in 15 days, 23 hours and 25 minutes. (Associated Press Photo)
